1431 C66 THE 1735 SCHARE PREFACE.

Cockionn, g:

HERE needs no Apology in Behalf of Books of this Nature; they have, at all times, been favourably received, and never rejected, but upon plain and undeniable Conviction of Infincerity. They agreeably amuse, and usefully infruct; and are confequently relished by Readers of every fort. They are pleafing to those, who, at every turn, would be surprised with extraordinary Events. unexpected Accidents, and miraculous Deliverances; and acceptable to those, who, moving in a loftier Sphere, are desirous of converting all they know to public A 2

public Use; and these, regardless of what the former most admire, are particularly sollicitous after Descriptions and Accounts of Persons, Places and Things.

THAT the following Relations may afford some Measure of Satisfaction to thefe two general Classes of Readers, is what we would almost venture to promile. They are of two very different Kinds; the Scene of the former is in the West, of the latter in the East; the one is a late Transaction, the other, what we may call, ancient: As to the former, in particular, nothing can more nearly concern us, of Things abroad, than to be well acquainted with the Weft-Indies in general, and particularly that vast Part of both North and South America, which is so very industriously concealed from us; towards which, if Cockburn, can afford us any Light, we cannot but approve of his Performance. It is needlefs to fay, that the Spaniards have from

from the Beginning, used all the Means possible to exclude all other Nations, not only from the least Possible of that Posfrom the least Knowledge of that Portion of the Western Hemisphere that groans under the Pressure of their Toke; nor are they out in their Politics.

FOR did Foreigners exactly know how much the Spanish Strength in America is divided by Distance of Place, how weak they almost every where are, how effeminate and unmanly they are grown, how completely they have exhausted their immense Tracks of the native Inhabitants, and how cruelly they tyrannize over the poor spiritless Remainder of the unhappy Indians, whofe hard Lot it is to ferve under thefe Task-Makers; and withal, how much, how very confiderably, the several Parts of the Spanist Dominions are improvable for the general Advantage even of the whole World: Were Foreigners reigners but thoroughly let into the Secret of these Things, they might, upon Occasion, come to Resolutions of more pernicious Consequence to the Spaniard, than they either imagine, or he, perhaps, apprehends.

BUT we are, for the most part, hurried away with Notions, which have been chiefly propagated from Spain, and are apt to believe, the three Kingdoms of Mexico, Peru and Chili, are fo many Empires of endless Riches, and infinite People, and consequently, out of all Danger if any material Disturbance from without. Thus is it, we have, for the most part, brought ourselves to think, tho we have often and often been told, by Men of indisputable Veracity, and very sufficient Experience, that the Thing is nothing less than fo.

AND among these we are now to number our present Traveller, who informs us, of his own Knowledge, that a very confiderable and remarkable Part of what is commonly called the Kingdom of Mexico, is a mere Wildernefs, uncultivated and uninhabited. Informations of this kind we certainly ought to prize, as they are convertible to fuch important Ufe in Cafes of Rupture. And it is even fit the Spaniards should be fensible we know these Things; it might make them more cautious of being ill with us, and contribute to the Duration of Peace between us.

BUT to have done with this Speculation, we would now particularly recommend our Traveller to the Candor and Generofity of the Reader: His Account, it is likely, may appear very extraordinary; and especially to that worthy Set of Men, who can believe nothing they have not either seen or heard themselves; but it may be apprehended, that the more Unfuspicious will distinguish such a Simplicity and Coherence throughout the Whole, as may tempt

tempt them to give him Credit, even in fome of the most extraordinary Things he relates; and particularly as he does not deal in Impoffibilities.

SO much for Mr. COCKBURN; as for Mr. WITHINGTON, who has been long fince in his Grave, it would be but kind to fay a Word or two in his Behalf; but as it cannot be done without giving fome Offence to fuch as we have no mind to be at Variance with, we chufe to be filent, and give the Reader no farther Trouble.

JOURNEY over LAND,

FROM THE

TOTHE

Great South Sea, &c.

N the 18th of January, in the Year 1730, we embarked on board the John and Jane, Edward Burt Master, bound from London to Jamaica, and elfewhere. In about 49 Days after our Departure from London, we arrived at Blue-field in Jamaica, where we wooded and watered our Ship, and on 19th of March following, fet Sail from thence to the Southward. March 23d, being in the Latitude of 16 North, and near an Island called Swan I/land, about 4 o'Clock in the Afternoon, we difcovered two Sloops making Sail after us. The next Morning one of them, called the Two Brothers, came up with us. The Veffel was Rhode-Island built, with eighteen Guns, and about ninety Men, moftly Spaniards, and commanded by Captain Johnson the Pirate, an Englishman, and Pedro Poleas a Spaniard. We had not above 25 Men on board of us, and only 8 Carriage, and 10 Swivel Guns, befides fome fmall Arms. At first they shew'd us no Colours, but at length hoifed a Spanifb Flag, and fired at us. As we had all along been apprehensive we were going to be attacked, fo we had cleared our Ship, and put ourfelves into a Condition to make the beft Defence we could, and therefore returned the Affault, by giving them a Broadfide, and feveral Vollies of fmall Shot; whereupon we came to an Engagement, fighting Board and Board near the Space of five Hours, till being boarded on the starboard Quarter, we were obliged to quit the Deck, and fly to close Quarters; but as most of our Men were already wounded, we were in no way to make any long Refiftance in this Pofture; but we were refolved to keep the Enemy off as long as poffible, and not yield while we were able to hold a Weapon in our Hands; and thus we defended ourfelves for fome time. At last our Captain feeing us much overpowered, and that it was in vain for Men in our Condition to attempt any thing farther, thought it most expedient to call for Quarter, which, they faid, they were willing to give, if we would ftrike. Upon which we laid down our Arms, and they immediately boarded us, which they had no fooner done, than, with Sword in Hand, they laid about them on all Sides, cutting and flafhing us in a most barbarous Manner; and not fatisfied with that, fwore bitterly they would hang every Soul of us. We were then ftript ftark-naked, and two of them running up to our Main-yard, brought down the Studding-fail Tacks for that Purpofe. Then they commanded us up to the Quarter-Deck, and ordered two Negro Men to hang us up by two and two at a Time.

2 The Distresses and Adventures

4 The Distresses and Adventures

Now the first Man they defigned to facrifice to their Cruelty, was Mr. Ball, who feemed very uneafy at his approaching Fate, and could not help intimating, that he thought our present Calamities were, in a great meafure, owing to Captain Burt, by his having been too ready to deliver up the Ship; for (fays he) had we continued the Engagement but a few Minutes longer, which we might have done, and was what I fo much defired, we, in all Probability, should never have come to this End. He spoke after this Manner, becaufe we found, after we were taken, that, had we done as he faid, the Spaniards must have yielded to us, they having no more than eight Shot left.

But this was no Time for Difputes; for we were now, (according to all human Probability) about to refign our laft Breath, and thought of nothing lefs than a Reverfing of the rigorous Sentence pronounced againft us. Juft then going to be executed, Captain Johnfon, and one Echlin, another Englishman, who bore a great Sway over their Companions, ftrenuoufly and at once interpofed. When thefe two came to our Relief, they found found Ball with a Halter about his Neck, ready to be hoifed up to the Yard Arm, and the reft furrounded by feveral Men. who were to fee us ferved in the fame Manner. To these they rushed up, and in a violent Rage demanded what they intended to do with us, faying withal, they thought we had been used cruelly enough already, and rather than they would fuffer any farther Violence to be done us, they would lofe every Drop of Blood in their Bodies. The others feeing how refolutely bent they were to fave us, and knowing them to be Men of defperate Difpolitions, and that whatever they took in hand, they would perform to the utmost of their Power, thought fit to defift from their Enterprize, left they fhould raife fuch a Difturbance, as might not be eafily appeafed; and thus were we fuddenly, and as it were miraculoufly delivered from Death, when all Hope or Expectation of Life was vanished.

But foon after this they came to a ferious Debate among themfelves how to difpofe of us without taking away our Lives, concluding it was not fafe to let fomany Men remain B 3 among

among them, who poffibly, upon fome Turn of Fortune, might have it in their Power to be revenged. It was therefore refolved, that the beft Way to get rid of us, would be to maroon us, that is, fet us afhore on fome defolate Country, and there let us fhift as we could.

HERE it may not be improper to give fome Account of a poor unhappy Lady, whofe ill Chance it was to accompany her Husband in this unfortunate Voyage. She was the Wife of our Merchant Mr. Groves, who, and the Surgeon of the Ship, were the only Perfons belonging to us, that immediately loft their Lives in the Engagement. This Lady was young, handfom, and of a very courteous and affable Carriage, and being now big with Child, all the Ship's Company was under a more than ordinary Concern on her Account. She had been down in the Hold all the Time of our Engagement, and as yet knew nothing of her Husband's Death, or our common Difaster; but as there was a Neceffity for her being let into her present Condition, and our Time and Circumstances not admitting of Ceremony, I went and told her her of Mr. Groves's Death, the taking of the Ship, and the ill Ufage we had all met with. Upon this News fhe immediately dropt down in a Swoon, and was a long Time ere fhe recovered her Senfes, which fhe had no fooner done, but feveral Spaniards came down with Cutlaffes in their Hands, and drove her up before them upon Deck, and then, in a moft brutal Manner, fell to tearing the Cloaths off her Back, even till they had ftript her in a Manner naked, and in that Condition carried her into their Sloop, where Pedro Polis their Captain received her, and immediately carried her into the great Cabbin, and there with horrible Oaths and Curfes infolently affaulted her Chastity. The Grief which had already feized her, who but some Hours before believed herself in a happy and flourishing Condition, together with this Infult on her prefent deplorable State, drove her beyond all Patience; and her loud Exclamations brought Johnson into the Cabbin. He feeing her in fuch Agonies and Nakednefs, it wrought on his rough Difpofition, infomuch, that he ran flamping about with a Piftol in his Hand, and fwearing, that if any one should dare to treat her B 4

her in fuch an inhuman Manner, or ever attempt the least Violence upon her, he would fhoot him thro' the Head. Then he commanded every Man in the Veffel to reftore what they had taken from her, which they inftantly did, not only what they had violently torn from off her, but all the wearing Apparel she had on Board; after which, he endeavoured to give her all the Confolation in his Power, promifing to protect her as long as fhe continued with him, but how long that was I know not, or where they carried her, or how they difpofed of her afterward, I never heard. --- Johnson is reckoned a Man of great Courage and Bravery, and for those Qualifications is famous in many Parts of America, where he is known by the Name of Henriques the Englifb Man, tho' he was born in the North of Ireland. Tho' he has but one Hand, he fires a Piece with great Dexterity, laying the Barrel upon his Stump, and drawing the Tricker with his Right Hand. In most of our American Plantations there are Rewards bid for the taking of him, but I am apt to think that will never be whilft he is alive; for, I remember, he faid soon after he boarded us (fpeaking of the great Straits they were driven to for Want of Ammunition) that had we held out five Minutes longer, he would have fhot himfelf thro' the Head, being refolved that no Man fhould ever take him alive; it feems, he always carries two Piftols about him ready charged in Cafe of a Surprizal.

BUT to return to our own particular Affairs; after we were releafed from Death in the Manner before related, John/on fent Orders for me and two more of my Ship Mates to go on Board their Sloop, to mend their Sails and knot their Rigging, but we were not fuffered to continue long in that Employment, for the next Day came three Men with a Piragua, who (when they had taken us out of the Sloop) rowed along fide our Ship, and took in ten more of our Company, whofe Names were Richard Banifter, Thomas Rounce, John Holland, Thomas Robinson, John Ballmain, John Allen, Thomas Whitebead, William Dennis, John Mingo, and Lawrence Lomber. Their Orders ran to carry us to a little defolate Ifland at fome Distance off, where putting us on Shore, they left left us. After we had been upon this Island about two Hours, where we could perceive no Poffibility of Subfiftance, all of us imagining we must inevitably perish there, and inwardly lamenting our hard Fate, tho' we forbore to difcourage one another by fruitlefs Moans, on a fudden (to our great Surprize) we faw the Boat making towards us which had brought us thither : The Sight of which raifed different Conjectures in our Minds, fuppofing they had either relented, and were fending to fetch us back to the Ship, or elfe that they had refolved to difpatch us immediately on the Spot; but upon their Approach, we found ourfelves both ways miftaken, for prefenting a naked Man to us, whom they had brought under a ftrong Guard, they told us their Bufinefs was only to add one more to our Number, and then throwing us four fmall Pieces of Beef and fome Bisket, in a difdainful Manner, which they faid was more then we deferved, they put off to Sea again,

THE Perfon whom they brought to us proved to be the Gunner of their own Sloop, and who (after they had boarded us) was one

one of those the most hotly bent against us. This put us into a fresh Consternation. I asked him, if he could fpeak English, he answer'd no; but could talk both Spanish and Italian very well, being a Neapolitan by Birth. Then he proceeded to inform us, that upon a grand Quarrel arifing between his two Commanders and himfelf, about the Sharing of their Plunder (altho' he was a very daring Fellow, and very useful to them) they had both determined to maroon him in the fame Manner they had done us; he then fell to exclaiming grievioufly against their Ingratitude for his paft Services, and uttered a thousand bitter Curses on himself, if he did not fpeedily find out the Means to be revenged, which feemed to us to be idle Talk and vain Threats, there being no Profpect we should be ever able to reach the Continent, tho' but a little diftant from us, and without which there was no Hope. He faid, be believed he was much better acquainted with the Island than we, and asked, if there were any among us that could fwim well; I told him I could, and was ready to attempt any Thing practicable towards the Pre-

12 The Diffress and Adventures

Prefervation of us all; but as to the reft. they were most of them wounded, and all incapacitated for defperate Undertakings, nor thought of any Thing but that they should die there. Then he and I agreed to go to the Northern Part of the Island, and after a Walk of about fix Hours, we came to a Point of Land, which ran pretty far into the Sea; the Water between this Place and the Continent is very full of Alligators, and about a Spanish Mile over. He faid, if it was poffible for us to fwim to the main Land, he knew feveral Gentlemen of Fortune there (meaning Pirates who commonly make that Place their general Rendezvous) and that it was most likely we might get a Canoe of them, to transport the reft of my Ship Mates over. We were not long before we came to a Refolution; and fo taking each other by the Hand we leapt into the Water, and fwam away floutly. We had not gone far before I very narrowly efcaped having my Leg bit off by an Alligator, but by the Affiftance of divine Providence, we got fafe on the other Shore. Being thus landed at a Place called Porto Cavello in the Latitude of about 16 Nº he led me about about three Miles through a large Wood, till we came to a great Lagoon, which is a Flow of Water from the Sea, paffing between the Mountains. As we waded up this Lagoon, we faw two Men (newly murthered) lying on the Shore, whom by their Faces and Garb I knew to be Englifb Men. This tragical Spectacle threw me into greater Surprize and Horrour, then I had ever yet been in; but he perceiving the Confternation I was in, bid me not to fear, and fwore by all that's facred, no Man fhould hurt me; faying, that those my Countrymen were only hid, which is a Term made ufe of among Pirates on the like Occafions.

HERE we paffed by great Numbers of Mangroves, which are Bodies of Trees with their Branches, but without Leaves; there are Oifters in Abundance flicking upon them, as well tafted as any we have in England; they feem to grow in Clufters on the Branches; the Reafon is, the Sea fometimes flows almost as high as the Tops of these Trees, and leaves the Spawn of that Fish behind it. We found several long Boats funk in this Place; and on the Shore, at a Diftance,

14 The Distresses and Adventures

Distance, we faw a large Tent, and a great many Men with Guns planted thick round them. When we came within hearing, my Friend, as I may now ftile him, called out, defiring them not to fhoot at us, telling his Name, which I perceived was well known to them. Upon their Promife of not firing, we marched up Arm in Arm naked as we were; they inquired how he came there in that Manner, and what Dog he had brought with him. Upon his answering I was an Englishman lately taken with our Ship and Crew by Henricus Johnson, and Pedro Polias, and that they had marooned me with twelve more, which we had just left upon the Island; and adding an Account of their ill Ufage of himfelf, they immediately fell to curfing, fwearing, and demeaning themfelves in all Refpects (as I thought) like fo many Furies of Hell, offering to fhoot me. With that turning fwiftly about, he fnatcht a Pair of Piftols from a Negroe who ftood near him, and then fwore as vehemently as they, that the first Man that offer'd the least Injury to me, he wou'd that Moment fhoot through the Head, and continued his Rant till he had bullied 'em into a feeming good Temper ;

Temper; faying, I was one of those who had behaved bravely in defending our Ship five Hours against them, at great Odds; and that he was resolutely bent not to see me die now like a Scoundrel, whilst he looked tamely on. After this he called for Rum, and drank of it very plentifully, and then threw himself on his Face and fell fast afleep; but, however, had the Precaution to keep his new acquired Arms under him, that he might be prepared in Case of an Affault.

WHILST he flept, which was about half an Hour, I fat on the Trunk of a Tree, at a little Diftance off, dreading what this devilifh Crew (which was composed of almost all Nations) might determine to do with me; but nothing being attempted, I had leifure to observe abundance of Goods of all Sorts lying in confused Heaps on the Ground, with broken Mass, tattered Sails, and all Sorts of Tackling, with many other apparent Signs of great Rapine and Violence.

16 The Distresses and Adventures

No fooner did my Friend the Gunner awake, but he began to fwear luftily, that fome of them should take a Canoe, and go with him to fetch over the reft of my Company from the Ifland. At first they protested, that if any of the People he mentioned fhould dare to fet Foot where they were, it fhould coft them their Lives; but after debating the Matter awhile, they began to alter their Minds, and at last agreed that fome of them fhould go with him. But my Misfortune was to be left behind with the reft of the Society till their Return, who as foon as my Friend was gone, ordered me to fit down at a Diftance, and threatned, that if I ftirr'd Hand or Foot, I was a dead Man: This was indeed as great a Punishment as could well have been inflicted ; becaufe, under fuch a Reftraint, I was no ways able to keep off the Vermine, fuch as Muskitoes. and great yellow Ants, as large as our Bees, which flung to that Degree as foon made me all of a gore Blood; but this was what my Tormentors (for fo I think I may call them) were not fo much exposed to, being cloathed, and having other Conveniencies to keep keep off fuch Filth. After fome Time, they ordered me to go in a Canoe, with two of their own Pcople, up the Lagoon, to fitch Water out of a large Piragua that mounted ten Pedteroes, and would carry forty Men. with which I fuppofed they might fometimes take Ships. It lay at Anchor concealed amongst Mangroves, which grew for thick about it, that it had been impossible for Strangers to have found it out. After we returned with our Lading, I took my Station as before, not daring to ftir without a Command fo to do; and I believe had the bravest Man living been in my Circumstances. he would have yielded as implicitly to what had been imposed on him.

BEFORE this Recruit of Water, I fuppofe, it was very fearce with 'em; for on my offering to drink out of a Calabafh, a Negroe did actually fhoot at me. Another Negroe there was who could fpeak Engli/b, and faid, he was born in Jamaica, and therefore challenged me as his Countryman. This Man advifed me as a Friend to go hide my felf in the Woods, faying, they would all get drunk, and knock me on the Head, and C that that he, having been taken by them three Years before, was often forced to do fo; but I thought it more advifeable to run the Hazard of dying by their Hands, than, by endeavouring to prolong a miferable Life, perifh in the Woods, or be torn in Pieces by wild Beafts.

ABOUT two of the Clock the next Morning arrived all our Men, who had been left on Tiger Island, fo called from the great Number of those Creatures in the Woods there; from the Time I left them they defpaired of ever feeing me, or the Face of Mankind any more; nor were we a little rejoiced at this Meeting, forlorn as we were, not a Man of us having a Rag to cover him, but Mr. Rounce, whofe Shirt was fo bloody, by reason of his many Wounds, that it could not be got off; and it is remarkable, that most of his Wounds had been given him by the very Man, whom Providence had ordained to be the Means of our Deliverance.

But as pleafed as we were at the Sight of each other, there was one Thing which troubled troubled us exceedingly; our Protector was miffing, and without his Aid, it feemed impoffible for us to wade through the many Difficulties which we knew must needs occur to us. It feems, after he had been with the Canoe, and taken our People off the Island, he made the Men row him about in Search of the Veffel from whence he had been difcarded, and happening to meet with her, he prevailed with the two Captains to receive him again; and then ordered the Men to return to the Place where they left me, defiring them to direct us to any Part of the Country we fhould be minded to go to; and this was the laft kind Office we received from this generous Man. And here I could not help reflecting on the wonderful Conversion which had been wrought on the Heart of this Man, who, tho' but a Moment before our mortal Enemy, and going to be our Executioner, was now follicitous and industriously officious to preferve us! however harsh or morose he before appeared to us, we now deemed him a Man of fingular good Nature and Humanity.

ABOUT

ABOUT Noon that Day, we dreffed the four Pieces of Beef before fpoken of, which our People brought along with them, and thereof made an equal Division, the People we were among not having the Bowels to give us any Thing to eat, or ought that might comfort us, tho' they themfelves wallowed in Plenty. Indeed, the next Day. they granted us Liberty to depart in order (as they faid) to get a Veffel bound for the Havanna, which wonderfully revived our drooping Spirits; but we found afterwards, by fad Experience, it was mere Delufion all, for no fuch Veffel could we find. They appointed two Indians to be our Guides to a Town called Gandiliero, who led us over feveral high and craggy Mountains, extreamly difficult to afcend, which went very hard with wounded Men.

THIS Was the first fetting out of a Journey, as we computed, of two Thousand three Hundred Miles, which we were to travel bare-footed, through an unknown Tract of Land, (at least to us) which took us up ten Months, and I may fay fome times proved infupportable; for we were all the while while exposed to many Dangers, and underwent as many Hardships, as was possible for human Nature to fustain. I fadl now proceed to give as faithful an Account of every Particular as may be, without Augmentation.

In the firft Day's Journey to Candiliero, as we were going through fome large Woods, we faw great Numbers of Baboons, which made an unufual Noife, and had Faces like old Men, with Beards of a fandy Colour, but their Pofteriors were as red as a Cherry. In the Evening of the fame Day, we came to a clear Spot of Ground fomething like one of our Fields: Here our Guides told us we muft reft that Night; but we were difappointed, the Place being fo infefted with Variety of Vermine, that it was impoffible to have a Moment's Sleep, or fo much as fit down the whole Night, tho' we had Fires in order to prevent Annoyances.

SOON as the Day broke we began to afcend a high Mountain, from whence we faw a great Gulf, called the Gulf Dulce in the North Sea. Here we met with an In-. C 3'

dian Man and Boy, which they call Lookouts, their Bufinefs being to fpy the Motions of other Indians, whom their own People are at War with. Shortly after, we met with another Indian Man and Boy running with great Swiftnefs, thefe belonged to Henricus Johnson, and Pedro Polias, who keep them to run on Errands to the Spanifb Governors, with whom they hold Intelligence. They told us, they had been with a Prefent to the Governor of Comayagna, and were returning to their Mafters. This Evening we came to Candiliero, where the Inhabitants of the Place (being all indins) flocked about us, as in Amazement, and brought us before their King, who was fitting on a Carpet, fpread on the Ground, in great State after his Manner. He was furrounded by his Guards, holding Spears in their Hands, a great many. He demanded of us, with great Civility and affable Behaviour (in broken Spanish) from whence we came, and where we were going; to the first I answer'd, but to the last Part of the Queftion faid, I could not tell, but that we were in Hopes to have found a Ship here bound for the Havanna; upon which he gave gave us to underftand, there was no Profpect of meeting with any fhipping here, nor could he (he faid) fupport fuch a Company as we, but that he would order a Perfon in the Morning to put us on our Way to a Town called St. Peter's Solia, and for our prefent Refreshment, commanded that two roafted Plantains should be given to each of us, with Skins to reft on that Night, which we thankfully received.

THESE Indians only cover their private Parts, the King himfelf having nothing on but a Pair of Drawers; but when they go to reft they have a Covering made of Cotton, which they fometimes wrap themfelves in, lying on a Hide fpread on the Ground before a Fire; they rife often in the Night to fmoak and eat; for they are not able to reft long becaufe of the Vermine, which are intolerable, tho' they use all the Means poffible to keep them off, by fuffering nothing to grow near their Houfes, which are made of Cane covered with Leaves.

THIS Town of Candiliero is pleafantly fituated, being furrounded with fine Coco C 4 Nut 24 The Diffress and Adventures

Nut and Plantain Trees, which are beautiful to the Eye; the Fruit of which are what the Inhabitants chiefly live on. Plantains are always feen on level Ground, growing in Thickets or rather Groves, but are commonly called by the Natives Plantain Walks; their Bodies are of a clear green, and fmooth as Glass, being very ftrait, and about twenty Foot high. The Fruit grows at the Top, and is covered with great Leaves, which are eight or ten Foot long, and four Foot broad, and are also very useful to the Indians. The Trunk is about three Foot in Circumference, but fo tender that a Man may cut it down with one Stroke of a Knife; and this is the Way commonly made use of by the I. dians when they want the Fruit, they having no other Way to come at it; and after a Tree is cut down in this Manner, another will arife from the fame Root, and in a twelve Month's Time come to full Perfection, bearing Fruit as the former.

EARLY in the Morning (according to the King's Infruction) we fat out from Candiliero, with our new Guide, the others having having left us as foon as we first entered that Town. But, however, to make themfelves fome fmall amends for their Trouble, they thought fit to ftrip Mr. Rounce of his bloody Shirt at parting. The fame Evening we came to St. Peter's, a Spanish Town. and were carried before the Deputy-Governor, who, after asking us fome Questions, faid he fhould be obliged to commit us to Prifon till he could fend to the Governor of Comayagua, to know what he fhould do with us. The only Favour we entreated of him. was, that he would give us fomething to cat; upon which, he faid, he would fuffer one of us to go about the Town to collect Charity for the reft. This Office I was obliged to take upon me, becaufe there was none of our Company befides, that could fpeak a Word of Spani/h. The first Expedition I made this Way, I got fome Plantains and the Head of a Buffaloe, with which I hafted to my Fellow-Sufferers, whom I found in Prifon, lying on the Ground among ftrange Sorts of Vermine, and making bitter Complaints of their Wounds. Thomas Whitehead died the next Day.

26 The Diftreffes and Adventures

IT happened, that a Negroe Man coming to difcourfe with us here out of Curiofity, was greatly moved with our Sufferings, and acquainted us, that the Governor of Comayagua, who was to determine our Fate, was a cruel Man to the English, and that he would certainly condemn us all to the Mines, as he conftantly ferved those of our Nation, who were fo unhappy as to fall into his Hands. This Information terrified us to that degree, that Thomas Rounce, Banifter, and myfelf, refolved if poffible to make our Escape out of Prison, and try if we could get to fome Part of the South-Seas. We were much troubled however, to think of leaving our Countrymen behind, but hoping the Governor would not deal fo hardly by them who were all difabled Men, and confidering, that if he did, our being Partakers with them would be of no Manner of Service to them, we put our Project in Exetion unknown to them, and ftole out of the Town about ten of the Clock at Night ; fo far the Law of Self-prefervation will prevail.

By

By Direction of the Negroe, we took a Path which led us through Mountains, that were all on Fire, that is, there was nothing growing on them but what was of one continued Blaze, which made a dreadful Roaring. We travell'd thus eight Leagues almost fcorched to Death, and feemingly as tho' we wander'd thro' the fiery Regions of Hell. This Fire was occafioned (as we fuppofed) with Defign to clear the Road of Vermine, and Beafts of Prey. The next Day after this terrible Journey, we came to a large Savannah or Plain, where we faw great Numbers of wild Cattle. Towards Evening we came to a Run of Water, near the Side of an high Mountain, of which we drank plentifully, but could find nothing to allay our Hunger; here we took up our Night's Lodging, but having no. Conveniency to make a Fire, we were in Danger of being torn in Pieces by the Beafts. which made a continual Roaring in our Ears all the Night. Mr. Rounce continuing very bad of his Wounds, faid he could get no farther; however, the next Day we made shift to reach an Indian Range or Whigwam,

28 The Diffress and Adventures

wam, where we found two Indian Women. On pleading our Neceflity, they gave us three Plantains, and fome jerked Beef (as they call it) which is dried by the Sun, they having no Salt to cure it. With thefe good Women we flaid till Night; and then came an Indian Man, of whom we enquired the Way to fome Town. He, by counting his Fingers, and pointing to the Moon, made us underfland, it was two Months Journey to Wattemall, or Guatimala; but there was a Town (he faid) called Sinta Cruz, which we might reach in five Days.

So the next Morning we fat out for it; and after travelling most of the Day thro' a Wood, we came to a great Savanna, full of small Paths croffing each other every Way; and not knowing which to take, we wandred about till Night, and then laid us down under a Tree, trusting in God to be our Protector.

IN the Morning, we concluded to go Northwards of this Place, and faw great Numbers of wild Horfes, Cows, and Buffaloes, which had occafioned fo many Paths. We

We were, at this Time, in extream Want of Water; fo that we were forced to chew the Grafs for Moifture, and began to grow very difconfolate, fearing we should never be able to get out of fo intricate a Place. But coming to a very high Tree, it came into my Head, that if I got up, I might perhaps fee fome Houfe or Whigwam; fo up I got to the very Top, but no fuch Thing could I difcern; however (as Providence had order'd it) I espied, at a great Diftance, fome thing like a Man on Horfeback, towards which we made all the Hafte we could, and (to our great Joy) found it to be a Negree on a Mule. We prefently acquainted him with our Diffrefs; and when he knew we were Englishmen, he professed great Satisfaction in that he could be ferviceable to us, for he was himfelf (he faid) born in Jamaica, which is a Thing those People reckon as much of, as if they were Natives of England. Accordingly he took us with him to his Range, and, in a friendly Manner, brought us Milk and Plantains fufficient, with Cow-Hides to fleep on that Night, all which were very acaceptable to us.

Now

30 The Diftreffes and Adventures

Now it happen'd, that this Man's Wife, an Indian Woman, was very ill and lame of both her Legs, upon which Account her Husband was in great Affliction, and asked, if e'er a one of us had any Skill in Surgery; we faid yes, and tho' we could not boaft of much Knowledge that way, yet we judged that the taking away fome Blood might be of Service to her; but then we were at a great Lofs for want of a Lancet; but the Man got us a fharp Knife, with which Mr. Banifter let her Blood in both her Legs, and it pleafed God to crown this Undertaking with fuch Succefs, that the next Day the Woman could make fome Ufe of her Legs. This fo much rejoiced her Husband, that he killed a Cow for our better Entertainment whilft we flaid with him, and that we might have Provision when we departed, the better to enable us to perform some Part of our Journey. We staid here four Days, helping him to build a new Range. He told us, we had four or five hundred Leagues to travel before we could come to any Part of the South-Seas, and that there were but few Inhabitants by the Way; he gave us likewife likewife to underftand, we fhould meet with many and great Dangers, which he feared would prove unconquerable, and that it would be impoffible for us to efcape wild Beafts, without having great Fires every Night where we refted, in order to which he gave us a Steel, a Flint, and fome Matches made of wild Cotton, with a Horn to keep them dry in, and a Piece of Net for the Conveniency of Carriage. This Prefent was of great Service to us throughout our Journey, and is Part of what I have brought home with me to England.

HAVING thus afforded us the beft Help and Inftructions he was able, we took our Leaves, but not without his fending his Brother to conduct us out of the Savanna, which was (as they faid) twenty Leagues in Length, and ten in Breadth, and as level as a Bowling-Green. In the Evening, we came to a Grove of Trees by the Side of a Pond, where was plenty of old Wood lying on the Ground, out of which we made a Fire, and roafted our Beef and Plantains; but in the Night came fuch Swarms of Frogs, Toads, and Snakes out of the Pond, that we

we were forced to take Brands out of the Fire, and lay about us to keep them off. In the Morning, we took our Way towards the Mountains, and at Noon we came to a Run of Water, where we faw feveral Indian Women, who were come with Calabashes hanging in Nets over their Heads, to fetch Water. We followed 'em at fome Diftance up a Hill, where were a great many Whigwams; and as foon as they faw us, both Women and Children fell to fcreaming, and fhouting like diffracted Creatures, and the Noife foon brought the Men about us, with their Bows and Arrows in their Hands; but upon our telling them (in Spanilb) that we were Englishmen, and Strangers to the Country, and that we only wanted their Directions in our Way over the Mountains, they were pacified, and agreed we fhould flay with them that Night. We endeavoured all we could to difpel the Fears the Women and Children had conceived of us, occafioned only by the Whiteness of our Skins, and the Difference between our Features and theirs, which to them was very terrifying, having never before (as they faid) feen fuch ftrange People as we.

THIS

THIS Place was very pleafant, and furrounded with fine Trees; they told us, it was a two Days Journey from thence to the Entrance of the Mountains, whither we wanted to go; towards which, in the Morning, we fet out, and by the Way faw great Numbers of large Monkeys hanging by their Tails on Trees, with Flocks of Birds as big as our Swans, the Cocks with Combs shaped like Coronets, and all over beautified with Plumage of various Colours. About Sunfet, we came to a Thicket of fine tall Trees bearing Fruit as big as an Apricock, and yellow as Gold; we found abundance of it lying on the Ground pick'd by Brids, on which we ventured, and regaled ourfelves very delightfully. This feeming a proper Place to take up our Night's Lodging at. we made our Fire accordingly, and refted pretty well that Night; in the Morning, the Trees were covered over with those large Birds, and little Creatures, no bigger than a Man's Hand, with Faces perfectly like human Kind, which to us appeared very wonderful, nor could we ever learn of what Species they were.

34 The Distresses and Adventures

ALL this Day we steered our Course to the Southward, as near as we could guess by the Sun, till we came to fome very high Mountains, one of which we afcended ; from whence we faw a fmall Plain, and beyond that, Mountains of fuch prodigious Heighth, that we could not fee their Tops. We defcended to the Plain, when my Fellow-Travellers asked me, if we were going right? I could only answer we must trust to Providence, which had hitherto wonderfully protected us; Mr. Banifter faid, he was refolved to go back, for that the Indians had directed us into the Mountains, only with Intent that we should never come out of them, and that, if we proceeded, we muft inevitably perish there. As we stood debating, I faw three little Things running thro' the Grafs (which was pretty high) with the Swiftness of Deer, but could not perceive what they were; however we followed, and observed them to take into a Whigwam, towards which we made all the Hafte we could, and found them to be three Indian Boys. In this Whigwam fat an old Man who was ftone blind, on whom the

35

the Boys had got fast hold, fearing we were come to do them fome Mifchief; and indeed when we first entered, the poor Children were ftruck with fuch Fear and Aftonishment, that they trembled, and look'd as if we were going to devour them alive. We asked the old Man, if we had taken the right Way to pass the Mountains: he faid no; and that, if we had attempted to go farther, we should certainly have been torn in Pieces. He defired us to fit down, faying, that when his Family came home he fhould have fomething to refresh us with, which was what we very much wanted, and had almost defpaired of. After a while came three Men and three Women, who brought with them a great Quantity of Honeycomb and Plantains; they feemed ftrangely furprized at us, and asked the old Man what we were? He anfwer'd, we were Spaniards; but, on my telling him we were Englishmen, he faid, he had formerly heard of fuch Men, but had never feen any, and was forry, that now fo fair an Opportunity offered, he could not gratify his Curiofity that way. I defired to know how long he had been blind; upon which he called for a String

a String of Berries, bidding me count them. I did fo, till I came to two hundred and four; then he faid, fo many Moons had he been blind, that is, fifteen Years nine Months. One of his Sons being fick, Richard Banister let him blood at the Father's Request, which fo much obliged the old Man, that he did not fend us away empty of fuch Provisions as he had; and at our parting, which was the next Morning, he ordered a Boy to bring us on our Way, with a ftrict Charge not to leave us till the Sun was in the Meridian, which the Boy punctually obeyed; and then took his Leave of us with one Knee on the Ground, and clapping his Hands, which is the Indian Manner of bidding farewel.

AFTER this, we made what hafte we could towards the next Mountains we were to pafs over, and had not gone far before we faw two or three Ranges, and therein feveral Indians, Men, and Women, of whom we defired Leave to ftay there that Night, to which they readily confented, bringing us a Matt to lye on. One of the Men fhewed me a Lump of Gold, asking, if I knew of John Cockburn, Oc. 37 knew what it was? and faying, we mult ftay and help them to get fome more fuch, for that the Rains were coming on, which wash it from the Mountains. They have Dam's to ftop the Water, and Utenfils made of Cane to fift the Gold from the Sand, and then running it into little Lumps, therewith pay their Tribute to the King of Spain; and if any remains it goes most commonly amongst the Holy Fathers, (if they are Chriftians) leaving themfelves but little to apply to their own Ufes. This Propofal, tho' a golden one, was not acceptable to us; but our Fellow-Traveller, Mr. Banister, began again to lament bitterly, faying, we were got among Heathens who would keep us ftarving in these Mountains all the Days of our Lives; however, in the Morning, we eafily excufed ourfelves to them, faying, we were obliged to go forward with all Speed to Gracias de Dios, and fo left 'em without any Attempt made on their Part to flop us.

ABOUT Sun-fet we came to a fine Spring of Water, by which we fat down to drink, D3 and 38 The Diftreffes and Adventures and lik'd it fo well, that I believe four Quarts apiece did not excufe us.

MR. Rounce still continuing bad of his Wounds, began to defpair of being able to travel farther; I made a Fire in order to ftay here this Night, and dreft his Wounds. He being much better in the Morning, we fet out again; but now we could not poffibly travel far in one Day for the extream Heat, the Sun being, as it were, perpendicular; and as we had no Covering for our Heads or Bodies, we were almost flead alive. As we went along, we faw abundance of large Trees on Fire, which we fuppofed came to pass by the Heat of the Sun, and met with two Indians, who were riding along on Mules, of whom we inquired how far it was to Vera Paz, or the Entrance of the Mountains of Ococingo. They let us know by Signs, that we might reach it by Sunfet; and faid, they were come from a Town called Apaublo, which was about ten Leagues beyond the Mountains.

AT Night we came to the Boke or Entrance of Vera Paz, and faw a great Light, which 39 which was occafioned by Trees being fet on Fire by the Indians, as well to preferve themfelves from wild Beafts, which fwarm on those Mountains, as to serve for a Light to 'em, at leaft, fome Part of that long dark Way of Vera Paz, which they are frequently obliged to pass.

VERA PAZ is a Paffage between the Mountains, about twenty Feet broad, very rocky, and full of great Stones; on one of which we fat down all Night, and at Daybreak proceeded on our Way, but could hardly difcern whether it was Day or no; for the Mountains are fo very high, and bend fo towards one another at the Top. that we could never fee the Skies, but were forced to carry Brands of Fire in our Hands, which afforded but a very gloomy Light in this Place.

SUCH was the Yelling and Roaring of wild Beafts without this Cavity; fuch the Horror and Gloom of the Place we were in; nay, and fuch even the Sight of each other, by the uncertain Light in our Hands, that well might we fay, as we often did, Now D 4 are are we in the Regions of Darknefs indeed. Every Thing that prefented itfelf to us here, was, in Reality, very terrible; nor was there a Drop of Water to be had, fo that we were almost dying with Thirst; our Feet also were fo cut and bored, that it was with extream Pain we underwent that uncouth Walk, which lasted us twenty Leagues. We were three Days and three Nights, which were all one here, before we got through, having had little or no Respite in all that Time.

ON the Morning of the fourth Day, we came out on a large Plain, where were great Numbers of fine Deer, and in the Middle flood a Tree of unufual Size, fpeading its Branches over a vaft Compafs of Ground; Curiofity led us up it. We had perceived, at fome Diftance off, the Ground about it to be wet, at which we began to be fomewhat furprized, as well knowing there had no Rain fallen for near fix Months paft, according to the certain Courfe of the Seafon in that Latitude; and that it was impoflible to be occafioned by the Fall of Dew on the Tree we were convinced, by the Sun's having having Power to exhale away all Moifture of that Nature a few Minutes after his Rifing : At laft, to our great Amazement, as well as Joy, we faw Water dropping, or as it were diffilling faft from the End of every Leaf of this wonderful (nor had it been amifs if I had faid miraculous) Tree; at leaft, it was fo with refpect to us, who had been labouring four Days through extream Heat, without receiving the leaft Moifture, and were now almost expiring for the Want of it.

WE could not help looking on this as Liquor fent from Heaven, to comfort and fupport us under our great Extremity. We catched what we could of it in our Hands, and drank very plentifully of it; and liked it fo well, that we could hardly prevail with ourfelves to give over. A Matter of this Nature, could not but excite us to make the ftricteft Obfervations concerning it; and accordingly, we staid under the Tree near three Hours, and found we could not fathom its Body in five Times. We observed the Soil, where it grew to be very floney ; and upon the niceft Enquiry we could afterwards make, both of the Natives of the Country

Country and Spanish Inhabitants, we could not hear there was any other fuch Tree known of throughout New Spain, nor perhaps all America over; but I do not reprefent this as a Prodigy in Nature, because I am not Philosopher enough to ascribe any natural Cause for it; the Learned may, perhaps, give substantial Reasons in Nature, for what appeared to us as a great and marvellous Secret.

WHEN we had walked about four Miles from hence, we came to a great Pond, which was covered over with Fowl, perfectly like our Ducks, except that they had red Heads, and whiftled like Black-birds. Near Sun-fer we got into a fine Valley, where we hoped to have found fome Indians, but were difappointed; and now having no Sort of Provision, we were in great Extremity. I defired my Fellow-Travellers to make a Fire. that we might flay here all Night, whilft I went to a Thicket of Trees near at Hand, to try if I could find Berries, or any Thing elfe to eat, or a little Water to drink; but, before I came to the Trees, I heard a Noife like the Falling of Water. I followed the Sound,

Sound, which led me down to a great River, but a vaft Depth below me; however, with much Difficulty, I got down to it, and found a Calabaſh lying juſt at the Brink of the Water. I filled the Calabaſh, and returned to my thirſty Companions; who, in the mean Time, had had the good Fortune to fome find Pine-Apples, by the Help of which we paſſed the Night more comfortably, than we had expected.

THE next Morning, we continued our Journey towards fome very high Mountains, and falling into a fmall Path, we kept in it all the Day, fuppofing it would bring us to fome Indian Town; but instead of that, it led us to a Run of Water, where it ended. This fruitlefs Walk drove us almost to Defpair; however, we refolved to go up one of the Mountains, and try what we could fee from thence. As we went up, we heard the Crowing of a Cock, and looking about, faw two Indian Ranges in a Valley, fo vaftly fteep every Way we could difcern, that we judged it almost impossible to come at it; yet, we refolved to use our utmost Endeavours to get down fome Way or other, and at 44 The Distresses and Adventures at laft accomplished it by fcrambling on our Hands and Knees. The Indians (for there were feveral here) who faw us perform this Feat, were much furprized, and inquited what we were, and from whence we came; I told them we were Englishmen, and came from St. Peter's Solio, and were going to Waltemall, begging them to give us a little Water, and Leave to flay there all Night. Immediately, one of 'em brought us a Calabash full of Milk, and Tigers Skins to lye on; faying, that in the Morning, he would fhew us the Way to an Indian Town. This Man had a Child that was burftenbellied, which I undertook to cure, and accordingly made a Trufs of Cane, and fuch Things as I could get, fitting and fixing it on the Child, fo as I hoped might prove effectual. This fo well pleafed the Father, that he killed a Fowl, and drefs'd it for our Supper, and as a farther Mark of his Gratitude gave me a Knife, which ever after proved of great Service to us, and is what I have ftill by me.

IN the Morning, he put us in our Way to the Indian Town as he had promifed, and told told us we might reach it before Night; when we had got within a Mile of it, we perceived feveral Women coming along with Jars of Water in Nets, hanging on their Heads. As foon as they faw us, which was not till we were pretty near 'em, down went the Jars, and away ran the Women with wonderful Swiftness towards the Town. We supposed now we should foon have the Men upon our Backs, which happen'd accordingly; for, at once, out they came ready armed with their Bows and Arrows, two of them having white Wands in their Hands; they demanded (according to Cuftom) whence we came, and where we were going ; I anfwer'd, we came from Porto Cavallo. Then they brought us before their King, or Governor, who was himfelf an Indian; he was fitting on a Chair, and many others were kneeling on the Ground about him. He asked of what Country we were; we told him, we were Englishmen who had been taken by Pedro Polias, and Henricus our Countryman. We told him likewife in what Manner they had ferved us, and found he had been acquainted with them at St. Peter's. He faid, there was a Town called Gracias a Dios.

Dios, not above fix Days Journey from thence, and that there lived two of our Countrymen, which was very agreeable News to us. Then he appointed us to a Range, faying, he would take Order that every Inhabitant in the Town should give us fomething, and punctually performed his Promife. Now the Manner of collecting the Charity was, by the Sound of Pipe and Tabor, with which the Perfons, who were appointed for that Purpose, went from Houfe to Houfe, and gathered fome Plantains for us. The Tabor was made of a Piece of a hollow Tree, cover'd with a Skin, and the Pipe of a Reed; after flaying here two Nights and one Day, we fet out for Gracias a Dios.

IN our first Day's Journey from hence, we pass'd over very high Rocks, all of fine Marble, curiously veined with various Colours; at the Bottom of these Rocks, was a Path that led us to a great River. This was what the Indian Governor had before told us of by the Name of the River Grande, which, he faid, we should have occasion to cross to and fro for many Days. We got over over it with fome Difficulty, on Trees which lay across the River, which, we supposed, were washed down the Sides of the Mountains by the great Rains. We left the River, and paffed through a Grove of Bamboes and Cane; and on one Side of the Grove, on a tall Stalk, grew a beautiful Flower, fomewhat refembling the Glory of the Sun. About Noon we came to a Savannah, where we fat down and refted ourfelves, the Sun being fo extreamly hot, that we could not travel above five Leagues a Day. In the Evening we came to the Side of the River again, where we faw the Tracks of Mens Feet, but could not difcover which Way they were gone. We agreed to crofs it again in Queft of 'em, and on our landing on the other Side, as we thought, we found two Paths, one leading up the River, and the other down. We chofe that which led down; but, after a Walk of about two or three Miles, found ourfelves upon a narrow Slip of Land, with the River running on both Sides of us with great Rapidity; by which, we perceived, that inflead of croffing it, as we had imagined, we were only got upon an Island in the Middle dle of it. Now the Day was far fpent, and this no proper Place to ftay in, nor dared we venture to gain the main Land from hence, fo that we were forced to go back, and try our Fortune in the other Path; and after we had traverfed about as far in that, as we had done in the first, we came to a wide clear Plat of Ground, furrounded with very tall and fpreading Trees; and, in the Middle, was a little Place fenced in with Cane, and covered with Leaves. Upon examining it, we found fome Indian Corn that had been flowed there, and fo concluded it had been crected by way of Granery, or Store-houfe to preferve the Corn from Beafts; and in in this Place we took up our Night's Lodging. Here being plenty of Wood, we prefently made up a great Fire, and fell to roafting our Corn, and got a Couple of Calabashes, which we took down to the River, and filled with Water. We had no fooner done done this than we faw feveral Tigers croffing the Water towards us. We ran full Speed to the Fire, which we knew was our only Security against them, and reached it before they could come near us.

IT

It is common for these Creatures to take into flill Waters, tho' they so much dread the Raging of the Sea, that when it beats with any Violence against the Shore, they will not come near upon any Account. We had but a very indifferent Night of it here; for we had such prodigious Howlings and Noises of wild Beasts, that we expected to have been devoured before Morning.

SOON as the Day broke, we got off this Island to the Main, and went on by the Side of a Mountain, till we met with a Range; in which we found a Mallata Man, and fome Indians, ftripping Tobacco, of whom we enquired the Way to Gracias a Dios. The Mallata brought us Hides to fit on; and after fome Difcourfe concerning our Misfortunes, I told him our Defign was to go to fome Part of the South-Sea, where we might meet with an English Factory; but, he faid, we had undertaken a Journey impoffible for us to perform, for that the South-Sea was fo far off, and we should have fo many Difficulties to ftruggle with by the Way, that we must of Necessity perish in the Attempt; but nothing E

50 The Diftreffes and Adventures thing he could fay, was able to divert us from our Refolution of proceeding on our Journey. Before we took our Leave, they gave us three Cakes made of Indian Corn, which they call Turtillias, and fome Tobacco.

AFTER this, we steered our Course towards a Town called Daggo, and about Sunfet came to the River Grande again, near which were two Ranges, with four Indian Women and three Children. We defired leave of them to flay there all Night, but they were fo frightned at the Sight of us, that they made no Anfwer; by and by the Husbands, or Relations of thefe Women, who had been out that Day to hunt and fifh, returned home with what they had caught; they prefently came up to us, in a familiar. Manner, and shook us by the Hands, asking, if we were Spaniards, but I told them we were Englishmen. Then they took us into a Range, and brought us Fish and Venifon, that had been dried in the Sun, not ? forgetting Skins for us to lye on. They faid, here were fome of our Countrymen fome time fince, who were going to Gracias a Dios, but that they died before they reached reached the Place. In the Morning (for here we lodged that Night) I begged 'em to give me fomething to help us on the Road; upon which, they brought us a few Plantains, excufing themfelves as having nothing elfe in Readinefs to give.

As foon as we left them, we croffed the River, and went through a large Wood, where we faw great Flocks of Parrots and Mackoys, with feveral Sorts of other Birds, that all together made a ftrange Harmony. Here was plenty of Fruit as yellow as Gold, fhaped like an Egg, and as big as that of a Hen, of which we ate freely, as we never fcrupled to do whenever we found what was picked by Birds, as this was. From this Wood we went directly over a Savanna, on which were abundance of wild Horfes; and from thence, we paffed over feveral high Hills, at the Bottom of which ran the River Grande, which we were again forced to crofs. About Evening, we came to a Whigwam, where we found two Indians; now our Manner was always when we met with any, to enquire the Way of them, as being Strangers to the Country, and this E 2 commonly commonly proved fufficient to gain us a civil Reception, for one Night, at leaft, those poor People feldom or never failing to treat us with great Humanity, and relieve our Wants to the utmost of their Power; tho' they have nothing themselves, but what they get with great Difficulty and Danger.—This is a great Shame and Reproach to us, and should make us with Horror reflect upon the cruel Usage they formerly met with from their Spanish Conquerors, which they often commemorate; nor can it ever be forgot by the whole World.

THESE Indians took us into their Whigwam; and being willing to chear our drooping Spirits, took a great deal of Pains to make a pleafant and comfortable Liquor, called Cheely, which is done after this Manner; They take a certain Quantity of Indian Corn, which they roaft or parch up before a Fire, and then grind it to a fine Powder between two Stones, and having hot Water in Readinefs, they pour it on, and let it ftand to infufe. This Liquor, with what they gave us to eat, made a comfortable ble Repaft; but, above all, we were entertained with two Birds they kept, which were very tame, and fuffered to fly abroad at their Pleafure; they were no bigger than a Sparrow, but could talk intelligibly, and whiftle and fing admirably; the Cock had a Comb like our Game-Cocks, and the Hen a cropled Crown; their Wings were red, and their Bodies yellow, with a black Circle round their Necks. Thefe People told us, we might get to Gracias a Dios in two or three Days, and that the Town called Apaublo, was between it and us.

IN the Morning, we took our Leave of them, and went over a Savanna, which was covered with a Sort of Grafhopper or Fly, of a yellowifh Colour; the Air likewife was fo thick of them, that it was almost darken'd thereby, fo that we could hardly keep on our Way, and were near being ftifled by the Concourfe of them; and thus we travelled till Sun-fet, at which 'Time, we were got to the Side of the River, where we confented to pass the Night, and made our Fire forthwith, that we might fit down to E_3 reft 54 The Diftresses and Adventures reft ourfelves: Here was great Plenty of Lime and Orange-Trees.

IN the Morning, as foon as the Sun was rifen, we waded through the River, but the Stream ran fo fwift, that it carried us down a long Way before we could get a Shore. We had no fooner overcome this Difficulty, but another prefented itfelf; we were obliged to climb up feveral high and fteep Mountains, which, after our late Fatigue in croffing the River, was very grievous to us. On the Tops of these Mountains was fine level Land, adorned here and there with beautiful Groves; about Noon we discovered a great River, which was very fteep from us, and when we got down to it, we found the Stream fo very rapid, that we cou'd contrive no way to crofs it; and, at laft, began to fuspect we had miffed our Way, and were going back again; but happening to fee two Indians making towards us, we fat down till they came, and then asked them, which Way we fhould get over : they faid, we must go up the River; and told us, they were Indians of Honduras, and that they came from Guatimal. We went on as they directed, directed, for fome Miles, without feeing any Probability of croffing ; but, at length, obferved fomething at a Diftance which appeared like a great Net, hanging across the River, between two Mountains. We got into a Path that led up to it; and upon the beft Obfervation we could make at that diftance, we could not determine whether it were defign'd for a Bridge, or a Net to catch Fowls or Beafts in. It was made of Cane, and fastned to four Trees; two of which grew on the Mountain on this Side, and the other two on the Mountain opposite to it, on the other Side of the River. It hung downwards like a Hammock; the loweft Part of it, which was the Middle, being above forty Feet from the Surface of the Water; but ftill we could not certainly judge whether this was intended, in Reality, as a Bridge for Paffengers, and were in Doubt, whether it might have ftrength fufficient to bear a Man's Weight. We were therefore fome time before we could prevail with ourfelves to venture on it; and when we did, it was but flowly, and with great Caution, for the Bottom was made of fuch open Work, that we had much ado to manage our Feet with E 4 the

the Steadinefs required. Every Step we took gave great Motion to it, which, with the Swiftnefs of the Stream below, occafioned fuch a Swimming of the Head, that, I believe, we were a full Hour in getting over ; but having accomplished it, we fat us down to view and admire this compleat Piece of Workmanship and Ingenuity, for fuch it really was. We could not conceive how it was poffible for it to be conveyed from one Mountain to the other, confidering with what Force the Water ran in this Place. which we knew would make it impracticable for Men to fwim over with one End of it. nor could it be done in Canoes, or any other Thing that we could fuppofe to be made use of by the Indians; for tho' they are certainly a People of great Dexterity in their own Way, yet we knew very well they are utter Strangers to all Arts in use with the Europeans, and others, on fuch like Occafions. We observed this Bridge to be very old and decayed, and guefs'd it might have hung there fome Hundreds of Years, and, if fo, it must have been before the Spaniards entred the Country; but, as the People here have no Use of Letters, we could never come of John Cockburn, O'c. 57 come to any Certainty concerning its Antiquity. This we learned, however, by Inquiry made of the Natives, that it had hung in the Manner we faw it, Time out of Mind, and that it had been (but they knew not when) a very publick Road for Paffengers, tho' now quite difufed. I muft not forget to acquaint the Reader, that the Breadth of the River under the Hammock-Bridge (as we called it) is a full Quarter of a Mile.

THIS Evening, we got to an old Whigwam forfaken by the Indians, as is common with them, in which we took up our Night's Lodging, and in the Morning fat out again; but our Provision being all spent, we were forced to employ Part of our Time that Day, in gathering fuch Berries as we could find to appeale our Hunger. After travelling over a Savanna, about Sun-fet we came to a Run of clear Water, by the Side of which were fine Plantain Walks. Whilft we fat down here to reft us, came feveral Indian Women to fetch Water; but, like those we had met with before on the fame Errand, as foon as they faw us, away they ran, ran, fereaming most terribly, and fent their Husbands to fee what we were. The Men feemed to be in a great Rage, fuppoling, perhaps, some Injury might have been offered the Women; upon which, I thought proper to tell them we were Spaniards, going to Guatimal, and defired 'em to let us flay with them that Night. There were but two of them that underftood Spanish, and tho' they did not feem greatly to like us, yet they agreed we should stay, and therefore carried us to their Town, which was called Papala a Papla, where they appointed us a Range, and brought us Plantains and Wood, that we might make a Fire to roaft them; but as they had ftill fome Doubt of us, they took care to keep a Guard over us all Night.

A T Day-break we got out of this Town, and after we had walked about a Mile, croffed the great River, and went directly through a Wood, where we found plenty of Locufts, of which we ate very heartily. Then we came to a large Plain, where we fat down to reft ourfelves, the Sun being fo hot in these Parts, and especially in this Month,

Month, which was May, that we could hardly fuffer our Feet to touch the Ground. As we travelled farther on this Plain, we faw feveral Patches of Sugar-Cane, by which we eafily judged we were not far from Gracias a Dios; accordingly about four in the Afternoon, we walked into that Town, No fooner had we enter'd it, but a Woman beckoned to us from a Houfe, to whom we made up with all Speed. There was in the House with her a very old Man, who asked us feveral Questions, particularly, if we could speak Spanish, and what Countrymen we were? I gave him our Hiftory as briefly as I could, and defired to be informed, of the best Course for us to get at some English Factory. At Panama, faid he, there is an English Factory, and none nearer; but then it is four or five Hundred Leagues to it, and you'll never be able to travel thither, because the Rains are coming on, which will laft fix Months without Intermiffion. However, fays he, I'll put you into the best Method I can, which is this; There is a Place called Sonfonnata, about one Hundred Leagues from hence, from whence Veffels frequently fail for Panama; to this Place, I would 60 The Diftreffes and Adventures would advise you to make what Haste you can, and, in all Likelihood, you'll get a Paffage thither. This gave us a little Encouragement. Then he told us of two of our Countrymen, who lived about eight Leagues off, and faid, that one was named William, and the other Thomas. After this Difcourfe, he began to think of fomething to eat, and ftraitway ordered fome Plantains to be roafted; and, in the mean Time, brought us out Honey, and a fine Fruit called Sopotoas, which grow on very high Trees, hanging like Apples, but as big as Melons, and as red as Cherries; they have a very delicious Tafte, and large Stones within 'em, fome of which I have brought home with me.

THE Town of Gracias a Dios is furrounded with Plantains, Coco, and abundance of Fruit-Trees. The Houfes here are made of Cane, and covered with Leaves. We staid here two Days to rest ourselves, but were forced to beg about the Town before we came away, for fomething to help us on the Road; but it not being in any one's Power here to spare much, we only got a few of John Cockburn, &c. 61 few Plantains, and on the third Day fat out in Queft of our Countrymen, Thomas and William.

SOON after we left Gracias a Dios, we paffed over a Run of Water, and then afcended a very high Mountain, and about Noon came to a delightful Place, like a fine Park abounding with ftately Deer. Here were the talleft and largeft Trees I ever faw. with Bodies fo thick, that we could not fathom them in eight times. At the End of this Place, where we got about Evening, ftood an old Range, but no one near it. Not far from hence, we faw a new Range, towards which we made, in Hopes of meeting with fome body; but there came on fuch a Storm of Thunder, Lightning, and Rain, that we were obliged to continue where we were that Night.

THE next Day we met with fome Indians, of whom we inquired the Way to Avaldo, and whether they knew one William an Englishman there; they faid, they knew him very well, but it was three Leagues to his Whigwam. About Evening, we arrived at William's

liam's Habitation, but to our great Difappointment, he was abroad. His Wife, who was an Indian, told us, he was gone with Thomas his Countryman, and would not return within twenty Days. I underftood they had been brought into this Country, when little Boys, but by what Means I could not learn. However, it feems, they were not able to get out of it, nor do I believe, ever any one did before us, who had the Misfortune of being in our forlorn State. Mrs. William (for I know no other Name to call her by) informed us, that there was a Countryman of ours not far off, whom her Husband, by fome Stratagem, had brought out of the Mines; we defired her to fend for him, which fhe accordingly did, and at Night he came to us. We hoped to be well informed by him, how to fteer our Courfe in the best Manner, but in this we were mistaken; for, he faid, he had been taken at Truxillo eight Years before, and was carried directly to the Mines, where he had fpent moft of that Time, and was therefore fo much a Stranger to the Country, that he could give us no Manner of Intelligence about it. We proposed to him, to endeavour vour with us to get away; but, he faid, he could not undertake to travel fo long a Journey after our Manner. Perhaps, the true Motive of his Refufal was, he had, like his Friend, fettled his Affections on fome Woman of the Country. We flaid here two Days, and had the best Entertainment the poor Woman could give us; fhe alfo procured us a Bull's Hide, which we cut, and tied to the Soles of our Feet, which were at this time, in a very fore Condition. Our Countryman told us, there was an Indian Town called Petapa, or St. John's, not above two Days Journey from this Place, and that the People there would direct us to Sonfonnate.

FROM hence we fat out, being, in a Manner, no wifer then we were before, and fteered our Courfe S. W. and, as near as we could guefs by the Sun, for the South-Seas. By Sun-fet, we came to our old Range, where we lay before we went to our Countryman's, and there once more took up our Night's Lodging. In the Morning, we met with two Indians, who directed us to go through fuch a Valley, where, they faid, we

we should fee a Range, and might there get Milk and Plantains. We went as directed, and by the Way gathered a Fruit feemingly like a Quince, very delicious to the Tafte, and faw great Herds of fine Cattle. At Noon we came to the Valley, and found the Range fixed between four Trees, according to Cuftom, with Cows tied to the Trees. Here were two Men and two Women. I asked them, how far it was to Petapa? they faid, we might get thither in two Days. As I perceived they had no Knowledge of the English, I told them we were Spaniards, upon which they feemed not to like us; however, when I defired them to give us fomething to eat, they did not think fit to refuse, but brought us a Tomalaw, which is made of Indian Corn, and Skins to lye on. We staid here all Night, but were very much tormented with Muskitoes. Thefe Indians lay in Hammocks, made of a Sort of Rushes, which hung between two Trees.

AT Sun-rife, we fat out for Petapa, or St. John's, and about Noon came to a fine Run of Water, by which, the Day being very hot, we fat down to reft. In the Evening, Evening, we got out of the Valley, and came on a large Plain, where was abundance of Wolves. We immediately made a Fire, having no other Way to defend our felves from them, but were forced to keep walking round it all Night; for the Place was fo over-run with Vermine, that it was impoffible to fit ftill a Moment; but this was the leaft of our Trouble. The wild Beafts made fuch a hideous Roaring, and withal approached fo near us, that we were in Fear our Fire, tho' a big one, would hardly protect us from them. In the Night, we heard a great Noife of Horfes running full Speed, which, we fuppofed, were as fwiftly purfued by the Wolves; at Daybreak the Noife ceafed, and perceiving they had all withdrawn, we fet forward. As we croffed the Savanna; we found fome Places cover'd with the Bones of Cattle, which, no doubt, had been deftroyed by these ravenous Creatures; after this, we went over fome high Hills, which brought us on fine level Land, where were alfo great Numbers of Cattle.

66 The Diftreffes and Adventures

BEFORE Sun-set, we came to a Run of Water, from which was a Path leading up a Hill, on the Top of which flood the Indian Town of Petapa, or St. John's. No fooner had we got up the Hill, but the People from the Town flocked about us; and among the reft, one holding a white Wand in his Hand, who demanded to know what we were : I told him we were English Men; he faid, he knew of no fuch People, and that Spaniards were not fo white; however, after they had fatisfy'd their Curiofity in viewing us, and asking fome out of the way Queffions, they carried us to a Range, and gave us fome Jerk Beef and Turtillias. The next Day we departed for a Town called Chippea, two Days Journey from hence. Petapa, or St. John's, as I faid, ftands on a high Hill, and commands a very beautiful Profpect, it is furrounded with Sayanna's, on which is plenty of fine Cattle.

SOON after we left this Place, we came to the Mountains of Valladolid, which were very difficult to afcend, being very fleep and and ftoney. We were a whole Day getting over one of them, and then found we had four or five more fuch like to pafs. Being now in a Valley, and Night coming on, we thought proper to flay there till Morning, but could get no Water, and but very little Wood to make a Fire. Here we were fo pefter'd with Vermine, we could not fo much as fit down the whole Night.

IN the Morning, we paffed through a little Wood, which brought us to the Foot of another Mountain, to the Top of which we got about Noon; from whence we looked round to fee, if we could fpy any Whigwam; but not perceiving any, we fat down to reft, and flept two or three Hours. When we waked, we found ourfelves extremely cold, tho' just before, when, in the Valley, we were over-power'd with Heat. We went down the other Side of the Mountain, and came to a Run of Water, which, when we had croffed, we faw a Range, and going up to it, found therein two Women, the one a Mestie, and the other an Indian. I begg'd 'em to give us fomething to eat; at first they feemed furprized, but at last brought F 2 115 us three Plantains, defiring to know of what Nation we were. The Messie faid, that a White Man, fomething like us, whofe Name was Vallone, had lived with her a long while, but that he was now dead; he was, I believe, a Frenchman. At Night came fome Indian Men bringing with them a wild Cow, which they kill'd, and gave us some of the Flesh, bidding us drefs it after our own Way; we did fo, and found it of greater Nourishment than any thing we had hitherto tafted in the Country. These Indians are very expert at catching of wild Beafts, and when they go upon fuch Expeditions, are commonly on Horfeback; every one has a long Slip of Hide in his Hand, one End of which is fasten'd about the Body of his Horfe, and when he has pitched upon the Beaft he defigns to take, he rides clofe by him with great Precipitation, and throws the other End over his Horns, or about his Neck. When this is done, immediately comes another, and raps his Lash round his Legs, by which Means they get him. down, and manage him as they pleafe. After this Manner, they will take the wildeft and fiercest Beast that is. We got fome dry'd dry'd Hide of them, and fixed it to our Feet which were again in as bad a Condition as ever. They faid, it was feveral Days Journey to any Town or Village, and asked, if we could walk from hence to our own Country. I told them no, it was imposfible, and that we must go to it by Shipping; but they having no Notion of what that meant, I marked out the Figure of a Ship on the Ground, and as well as I could reprefented it floating on the Water; at which they feemed to be in great Admiration. Thefe People were very friendly, in giving us Provision to fustain us on our Way over the Mountains, which we were of Neceffity to pafs, tho' we would willingly have avoided them. We ftay'd here one Day and two Nights, and then agreed, with the Bleffing of God, to fet forward once more.

WE always took great Care to fleer our Courfe by the Sun, as the Indians directed, efpecially in paffing thefe Mountains, fome of which it was impracticable to go directly over, for we were forced frequently to wind about them, and when we faw any Range or Whigwam in the Valleys, if towards F 3 Evening, 70 The Diftreffes and Adventures Evening, we never failed to make up to it for fhelter that Night.

W E faw by the Way great Swarms of Butter-flies, with Wings of various Colours, very beautiful to the Eye, and as broad as a Man's Hand. We were fix Days in paffing over these Mountains of Comayagua or Valladolid, which lye between Gracias a Dios and Salvador; after which, we came to the great Village of Chippea, the Inhabitants whereof foon flocked about us; among the reft, an old Man, who faid he had been very converfant with white People formerly, when he was in the South-Sea, and told his Companions, that they were good Men, and loved the Indians very well, and might therefore claim their Efteem. He fpoke good Spanish, and with great Civility, took us to his Whigwam, and treated us with Beef and Plantains; as alfo with Plenty of the Liquor called Cheely, which amongft the Indians, is reckoned a great Rarity, and is drank only at extraordinary Times. Being thus refreshed, our Benefactor, took us abroad to be Spectators of the Evening Sports and Entertainments, which were on on Account of a great Cantico or publick Feftival to be held at that Time. The People were all got into a very jocund and pleafant Humour, running about the Town, laughing, fhouting, finging, and playing on Inftruments of Mufick, and at feveral Sorts of Games; but, above all, we admired their great Dexterity in riding of Horfes, which they manage incomparably, without Bridle, Saddle, Whip, or Spur, though just taken wild from the Savanna's. It is a great Diverfion here, to tie a String about the Legs of a Cock, and hang him up between two Trees, at fuch a Heighth that a Man may fit still on Horseback, and just reach the Head of the Cock, which hangs downwards. This done, comes a Company of Men riding full Speed one after another under him, trying who can first twitch his Head off, and he that performs it, is counted a great Artift. Soon as the Head is down, the Lookers on, which at the Time I faw this Exploit done, were fome Hundreds, make great Shouts and Rejoicings, as if they had gained fome notable Atchievement. Indeed, as the Cock gets a Blow by almost every one that rides under F 4 it.

72 The Diftreffes and Adventures it, and is thereby in continual Agitation, it is fomewhat difficult to catch hold of him.

EVERY Inhabitant of this Place keeps a Range apart from his own, on Purpofe to lodge Strangers in, whether Indians or others; for of both they are equally afraid and fuspicious, infomuch that they never fuffer one, of what Country or Nation foever, to remain a Night under the fame Roof with themfelves. To one of these we were conducted by the old Gentleman who had made us his Guefts, there to reft that Night; but inftead of repofing ourfelves, we could only liften to the great Hurly-burly and feeming Confusion that reigned throughout the whole Town, and continued till Morning. Some ran about beating on a Sort of Drum, others blowing through a Reed or Pipe, which founded like a Hautboy; in fhort, every one feemed to be wholly given. up to Revelling and Merriment.

How this Festival came to be celebrated with fuch extraordinary Marks of Joy and Zeal I cannot fay, tho' I imagine Religion to

to be at the Bottom of it; but we had but little Time or Opportunity any where, to enquire into the Cuftoms and Ceremonies in the Worship of the feveral People we came among. This, however, I am fure of, that the Indians of Chippea are Christians, every one of them having a great Crucifix of Wood hanging about his Neck, with Beads and Relicks. In the Morning, our old Friend vifited us in order to bid us farewel; but, at the fame Time, mightily difcouraged us from our intended Journey to the South-Sea, faying, it was a long and tirefome Way for a Mule, but now that the Rains were coming on, which would fwell the Rivers, and fill the Vallies, the Country would be utterly impaffable for Foot Travellers; but feeing we were determined, at all Adventures, to go forward, and that nothing he could fay made any Impression on us, he faid no more, but in the most friendly Manner gave us the best Advice and Instructions he was able. He told us, that by fuch a Time we should get to a Town called St. Michael's, where was a Spanish Governor, and that between here and there was an Indian Village, called Cauwattick, where we might have Relief.

74 The Diftress and Adventures

Relief. Then taking leave of our fincere Friend, with a thoufand Acknowledgements of Gratitude for Kindnefs administred, we fat out for St. Michael's.

AFTER travelling through a Wood, we came on a large Plain, where was a Whigwam, with a Mallata Man and Woman; and not far from them, fome Indians building a new Range, with whom we flaid two or three Hours, not being able to travel in the Heat of the Day. Thefe Indians told us, they got Gold in abundance during the Rains, and that it comes down from the Mountains. Towards Evening we came to another Whigwam, where we found three Women, of whom we begg'd a Night's Lodging, but they made no Anfwer, which we took as a Denial; however, we refolved not to leave the Place till Morning, and accordingly fat us down at a little Diftance from them, to reft ourfelves. The Women perceiving we had taken up our fitting for that Night, condescended, at last, to bring us out a Bull's Hide to lye on, but would not fuffer us to fet one Foot into their Whigwam; perhaps, as they had no Men to protect them, they might might fear fome indecent Attempts, but they did us wrong, we were but in ill Plight for Amours, and efpecially in this Country, where we could have no very extraordinary Temptation; but to fpeak the Truth of these People, they are, as it were, free from most of the Vices common to other Nations.

THE next Morning, we fteered our Courfe over a Savanna, on which were great Numbers of fine Deer, and other Creatures. We frequently met with Fruit very tempting and beautiful to the Eye, but durft not tafte any the Birds had not pickt. Some of these Fruits are of fo poifonous a Nature, that they immediately kill whatever eats of them. On this Savanna we travelled three Days, at the End of which we got to fome high Mountains, and there found a Range with Indians, whom I asked, if we had taken the right Way to St. Michael's; they faid Yes, but that now there were two Ways to it, one through a Savanna, which was a Journey of fix Days, and the other over those Mountains which might be performed in three Days. Thefe Indians had nothing to 76 The Diftreffes and Adventures to give us, but faid we fhould foon get to the Town of Cauwattick, which lay just on the other Side the Mountains, and that there we fhould be relieved.

As our Provision was quite spent, we were obliged to take the shortest Way to come at more, which was that over the Mountains; but before we had got far up, we thought they would have broke our Hearts. We were from the Rising to the Setting of the Sun before we got to the Top, and then could perceive no Signs of the Town, or of any Path leading to it, as we expected to have found; fo we made our Fire, and staid there all Night.

THE next Day we met an Indian, who was going in Search of his Cow, which had broke loofe in the Night from a Tree to which he had tied her. We inquired of him, how far it might be to Cauwattick; he prefently gave us proper Directions how to find it, and by pointing to the Sun, thereby made us understand we might get thither by Noon, which we accordingly did.

BEING

BEING very hungry when we came into the Town, the first Thing we craved of the People was fomewhat to eat; upon which they brought us a little Beef, and a few Plantains, but feemed much furprized at us. At Night we met with fome Indians, whom we had feen before in our Travels, who gave us fome ripe Banana's; and asking me if I knew them again, and finding I did, were mightily pleafed with our Acquaintance. Here we lodged this Night in a Range, and the next Morning fet out for St. Michael's.

THE Road we took was down a fteep Hill into a Valley, where after we had fetched a pretty handfome Walk, we met with a Path that lead us back again into Camwattick; the People were amazed to fee us fo quick upon them again, and faid merrily, we knew not how to find our Way out of fo great a Town, and therefore they would fend one with us that fhould put us in the right Road. After our fecond Departure from this Place, we got on the Edge of a Mountain, below which, in a mere Precipice, was a great Savanna, and thereon we difcovered 78 The Diftreffes and Adventures difcovered a Range, towards which we intended to make what hafte we could; but it coft us a whole Day to go down this one Mountain, and after we had taken all that Pains and Labour to come at it, in Hopes of meeting with fome body, we had the Difappointment to find no one there. The Range was forfaken; however, we made it our Inn for that Night.

AT Day-break we fat out, and croffed the Savanna between the Mountains, and on the left Hand of us, faw a Boy riding along on a Mule; I ran directy to him, and asked him fome Queftions, but he made no Anfwer, that I could underftand; but fuppofing I inquired the Way to fome Place or other, he pointed towards a prodigious high Mountain, shaped like a Sugar-loaf. Not caring to follow his Directions, and finding we should never understand each other, I made him a Motion of farewel, and he rode on. In this Savanna we could find no Water, fo that we were almost dying for want of Liquids; we travell'd about it till almost Night again, and could fee no Range, nor any Wood to make a Fire with. Thus we

we wandred to and fro, not knowing what to do, till by the Direction of Providence, we came at length to a Run of Water, which, after we had drank of plentifully, we croffed, and, on the other Side, amidst a great Company of Cattle, which took to their Heels as foon as they faw us, we heard the Barking of a Dog; by this we knew there must be People not far off. Accordingly, we made ftrict Search after them, and prefently found out their Range, in which were two or three Perfons, of whom I defired leave to ftay with them all Night, but they made no Anfwer. Soon after came a Mallata Man and Woman, with an Indian, riding on a Mule, who approached us in a very obliging Manner, and fhook us by the Hand. The Mallata asking, if we were Chriftians, and what that Painting meant on my Arms; I told him, I thank'd God, we were Chriftians, and Englishmen, and that one of the Marks on my Arms reprefented our Saviour on the Crofs, which, with the others, were done by a Grecian, fome Years fince, when I was in the Holy Land: he immediately fell on his Knees, and kiffed the Crofs, and, at the fame time, pulled out out his Beads and Crucifix, faying, he had been baptized by a Friar at St. Michael's with his Wife, and all his Family; he then bid his Wife look on my Arm, and fhe alfo fell down and kiffed it, but with greater Fervency, if possible, than the Man; as I knew this Adoration was paid only to him, whofe Image it bore, it gave me no Uneafinefs. Thefe People made us welcome to the beft Entertainment their Circumstances would afford, fuch as Milk, Fruits, Plantains. Gc. they told us, we were now not far from St. Michael's, where lived Grandee Spaniards; and, that in a Day or two, there would be held a great Bull-Feaft at that Town, for which, in the Morning, we fet out, after due Acknowledgements for the Favours we had received.

By the Way, we met with feveral Indians going to St. Michael's, who were all painted and dreffed up, every one in the Skin of fome wild Creature or other, nothing but Mirth and Jollity appeared in their Countenances; they never ceafed finging and dancing all the Way they went; fome of them had a Sort of Cudgels in their Hands, with with Porcupines Quills flicking at the Ends. About Noon we got to a Range, where we met with People who informed us, we were a Day's Journey from the Town; and when they knew we were Englishmen, they asked, if we had a Pafs, for otherwife the Governor of St. Michael's, they affured us, would fend us all to the Mines, and as we knew we had no Pafs to fhow, this was a terrible Hearing. We were, however, obliged to go forward, and meet our Fate, be it what it would. Here we learned, that about Sunfet we fhould get to a Whigwam, and fo departed.

As we drew near to the Town, my Fellow-Travellers began to fall into the utmoft Defpair, faying, that all our Labour and Travel had been in vain, fince it was evident, we were going to fall into the Hands of thofe, who would make Slaves of us for Life. I endeavoured to diffuade them from fuch dreadful Apprehenfions, by putting them in Mind, how often God Almighty had been gracioufly pleafed to refcue us from the moft imminent Dangers, even in this Country; and that, as we had experienced G fo many convincing Proofs of his Providence and Protection over us, if we ftill fincerely relied on him, we might reft affured he would never forfake us in the Time of our greateft Trouble, but enable us to bear the Burthen appointed for us, however grievous it might feem; wherefore, faid I, let us not defpair, but imploring the Almighty's Aid, go on with Hope and Chearfulnefs, not fearing what Man can do unto us; for, if God be with us, who can be againft us?

IN the Evening we came to the Range, which we had been before told we fhould meet with, and defired leave to ftay there till Morning; the People brought us a Mat to lye on, and gave us Plantains for our Supper, which, when we had made a Fire, we roafted. In the Night happened fo great a Storm of Thunder, Lightning, and Rain, that I thought we fhould have been drowned, as we lay on the Ground; this obliged us to get up, and creep to a Corner of the Range, where we ftood till Morning.

THE Indians of this Part of the Country, both Men, Women, and Children, fleep in in Hammocks made of Silk Grafs; and are exquisite Artists at making a Sort of Earthern Ware, finer than any China I ever faw, though I had fome time before been among the Chinese themfelves. They make large Jars here, one of which will hold ten Gallons, and not weigh one Pound; thefe will endure the Fire as well as any Metal, nor are they eafily broke by a Fall or Blow: This Ware is commonly coloured of a fine Vermillion Red. Here is also abundance of Cochineal, with which those who are under the Spaniards, frequently pay their Tribute, fome being compelled to pay the King to the Value of fix Dollars, others three a Year; to that what with the King of Spain, and the Clergy, the poor People have little or nothing left for themfelves.

As foon as the Sun was rifen, we fat out once more for St. Michael's, and ftill faw great Companies of Indians flocking thither, on Account of the Bull-Feaft. Going by the Side of a Mountain, we gathered fome fine Fruit of a golden Colour, about the Bigness of fmall Plumbs, of which we ate very freely. About Noon we came into a large G_2 Wood,

Wood, where poor Mr. Rounce was fuddenly taken fo ill, that he was able to get no farther, but fell down on the Ground, with all the Symptoms of Death in his Countenance. We flaid by him two Hours, during which it thunder'd and lighten'd, as if all Nature had been going to be diffolved. At laft Mr. Banister and I refolved, if possible, to get to the Town before Night, and procure fome Help for our fick Companion, thinking it would be hard to fuffer him to lye and perifh fo near a Town, without endeavouring for Affiftance; we therefore left him, and pofted forward with the utmoft Expedition; but we had not gone far before it began to rain with fuch Violence, as foon forced us to climb up a Tree to escape drowning. The Water prefently rofe in fome Places, that we faw, four Feet and a half; we were, at that Time, in great Perplexity, to think what would become of our Fellow-Traveller, who we knew was lying on the Ground in a very helplefs Condition. At length, when the Rain abated, we got down and went on with all Speed, and about two Hours before Sun-fet came almost to the Entrance of the Town.

Č.

BEING fo near the Place, where we expected the Affiftance we wanted, our Hearts failed us, and we began to think we had been guilty of the greateft Piece of Weak_ ness imaginable, in having fed our felves up with the Hopes of what there feemed not to be the leaft Shadow of Reafon to expect; for upon what Account (faid we one to another) have we made all this Speed hither? to whom are we to apply for Relief now we are at our Journey's End? or what Friends have we here to tell our Story to? Indeed, all this, we might have thought of without having been at the Expence of a tirefome and fatiguing Journey. But, fuch was our Care and Concern for our Friend and Fellow-Sufferer, when we faw him in Diffrefs, and knew his Cafe required immediate Help, that we were fuddenly prompted to feek Relief for him fome where or other, not confidering, at that Time, of whom it was to be had. Had all these Objections occur'd before our fetting out, we had certainly never left him till we had feen him mend or die, and had we not left him (fo wifely had Providence order'd it) he had not been forth-G 3 coming

coming at this Day; for as we fat contemplating on thefe Things, and had juft determined to return from whence we came, there happen'd to pafs by us certain Indians who had feen us before; they knowing us again, after a little Difcourfe, inquir'd where our Comrade was; we told them, we had left him fick in the Woods about two Leagues off; they faid, if he had efcaped the Storm, he would be torn in Pieces by Tigers before Morning, and readily offered to go look for him, and bring him to us: This much rejoiced us, as we knew them to be fwift and faithful.

No fooner were they gone, than we entred the Town, and prefently a Man beckon'd to us. It was not our Bufinefs to neglect any one that would take Notice of us, and therefore we went directly to him. He asked, if we could fpeak Caftiliana, and what Diftrefs had brought us hither; upon which, I repeated our whole Story, and told him, we were endeavouring to get to fome Englifb Factory; but he gave us to underftand, there was none nearer than Panama, that we were ftill four Hundred Leagues from from it, and that the Inhabitants were fo thin by the Way, that we must starve before we came at it; and politively affirmed, that unlefs we could obtain a Pafs from the Governor of St. Michael's, it would be impossible for us to get out of this Part of the Country, for that no Indian durft affift any Man without one. He therefore advifed us to make the beft of our Way to Watemall, and fettle there; but no Difcouragements could alter our Refolution of endeavouring to get to our Native Country, which he perceiving, gave us a Real of Plate, and bad us farewel, which was the first Money we had feen in the Country. This Perfon told us, he was born at Lisbon in Portugal, and that he had lived here many Years, and came hither by the Way of Cape Horn in the South-Sea.

MR. Banister and I thought it our wifeft Course to present ourselves immediately to the Governor, humbly to entreat his Favour and Protection, left, being Strangers in the Country, we should be missepresented to his Excellency, and more particularly as being Englishmen. Being thus resolved, we marched

on

on till we came into the Middle of the Town where the great Church flands, and where also is a large Plat of Ground fenced in with Bamboes; but I muft warn the Reader, not to fuppofe this to be the Churchyard, there being no fuch Thing in this Country, for they always bury the Dead here within the Churches. Here was a great Concourse of People, the Place being railed in and scaffolded on all Sides. On one Seat, more lofty and magnificent than the reft, fat the Governor in great State, with two Franciscan Friars in their Habits on each Side of him. The other Places were filled with People of all Conditions; and beneath them, on the Ground, was Variety of the different Sorts of Indians, that flock'd hither from all Parts of the Country; for, at this Time, was held the famous Bull-Feaft, which we had heard fo much Talk of. It was kept after the Manner of those in Spain, fome of which I have been prefent at in that Country. The Bulls were just going to be combated before the Governor, and this great Affembly; and great Diversion it was, to fee the Indians dreffed up in the Skins of feveral wild Creatures, and every one one imitating the Voice and Actions of the respective Beast he represented, to the greatest Perfection. When all was ready, a wild Bull was turned out, which those People attacked with their ufual Dexterity, flriking him full of Arrows and Darts, which made him ftart and fling about like raving mad; at last rode up an Indian on Horfeback, with Spear in Hand, and ftruck him between the Horns, upon which he inftantly dropt down dead. Then the Heroe alighting from his Horfe, cut off the Cod of the Bull, and flicking it on his Spear, mounted again, and rode up to prefent it to the Governor, attended with great Numbers of Indians, fhouting and dancing before him, by way of Triumph for the Victory. After this was brought out another Bull, at which one on Horfeback came riding full Speed, and thruft his Spear into his Side, by which Means he laid him on his Back; then he alighted alfo, and cut off his Cod and Ears; after which the Bull got up, and ran at every Thing he faw, with the utmoft Fury; but. fo far were the Combatants from avoiding him, that feveral, who had fluffed up the Skins of Horfes, with their Heads and Tails,

90 The Distresses and Adventures

Tails, and just left room to flip themselves in to the Waste, made up to the incensed Beaft, like fo many Centaurs in a full Body, and bated him a long Time; but afterward one who was free from this Incumbrance, leapt on his Back, and rode him for half an Hour together, keeping his Seat fo firmly, that the Bull could not once throw him, tho' he endeavoured it with all his Might. This was done with the Applaufe of all the Beholders; but whether thefe Champions, exposed their Perfons, in thefe Feats, after the Example of the Spanish Grandees and Cavaliers, for the Sake and Honour of their Ladies, or whether the Ladies would vouchfafe them one Smile or Favour the fooner for fo doing, I cannot tell; but, for our Parts, as we did not come into this Country a Knight-erranting, nor voluntarily to feek Adventures, we were content to be humble Admirers only of their Heroic Exploits, and now, as well as at other Times, to go in Quest of Victuals and a Refting-place. On this Purpose, therefore, we went to a Gentleman's Houfe, who is called Mafter Del Campo, and begg'd his Charity. The first Question he asked me, was was concerning our Country and Religion; I told him we were Englishmen, brought up in the Church of England; then, faid he, you are no Christians, and fo giving us two Reals of Plate, bid us be gone.

PRESENTLY after this we met the Indians, who had brought our Fellow-Traveller with them from the Wood, where we had left him. He was very ill of an Ague and Fever; and faid, he escaped drowning, by rallying of Spirits enough (feeing the Danger he was in) to fcramble up a Hill, where he fat till the Storm was over; but that the Waters rolled down from other Hills that were above him, with fuch Rapidity, that it was with great Pain, he faved himfelf from being washed down into the Vallies, where nothing could have prevented his being drowned. I told him, we were grown very rich now, for that we were Mafters of three Reals.

Not long after we met with Mr. Rounce, there came a Negroe to us, and faid, we must go with him to his Master, which we willingly confenting to, he carried us us to a Houfe, where fat a Holy Father, and another Gentleman, who had fent for us on Purpose to enquire into our Story, which, when I had related, they defired to know of what Trades or Occupations we were? 1 anfwer'd, we had fpent moft of our Time as Mariners, and pretended to little elfe than the Knowledge of maritime Bufinefs. Then the good Father asked, if e'er a one of us was a Carpenter, or Calker; for that he had a Negroe, who was building a Veffel, which we might Calk, and he would pay us what we defired for our Labour. Tho' we were no fuch by Profession, vet we readily accepted the Offer, well knowing we could perform the Work; upon which, he gave us every one a Real of Plate, faying, we fhould be lodged in his Houfe, and that he would provide us with Victuals.

HE then order'd a Negroe Woman to fhew us to an Apartment, where was a Fire: As we fat there, roafting fome Plantains, with great Satisfaction at this unexpected Providence, and were grown pretty fleepy, there rushed in upon us a Man with a Spear in his

his Hand, who was foon followed by feveral others. He accofted us in very bluftering and ftormy Terms, commanding us to go with him directly before the Governor. As we found he came by Authority, there was no difputing it with him, for go we muft; but, however, inftead of being carried to the Governor, we were all three taken to Prifon, being told it was too unfeafonable a Time of Night to difturb his Excellency about us, but that in the Morning we fhould go before him. In the mean time, we were thruft into a filthy Hole, among all Manner of Vermine, and guarded by a Company of Indians and Mallata's.

BEING fhut up in this dark and loathfome Place, we could not help lamenting our hard Fate, that now we were amongft Chriftians, and, as we thought, going to be ufed in an hofpitable Manner, we fhould inftead thereof find fuch cruel Treatment, as indeed it proved, for in the Night a Scorpion ftung me on the right Thigh, fo that in half an Hour's Time I was all over in Agonies, with my Teeth loofen'd in my Head and my Tongue hanging out of my Mouth. In

In which Condition I lay groaning, till an Indian, who heard me, came to inquire what was the Matter; who, feeing me in fuch a Way, prefently guefs'd at what had been the Caufe of it, and faid, that if any poifonous Thing had bit me, we muft fearch, till we could find it, or I fhould be dead by Morning; whereupon, he immediately fetched a Light, and finding the Scorpion, killed it, and rubbed the Place where I was flung with it for along while, by which Means I was much amended before Morning.

THE next Day came a great many ftrange Indians to ftare at us, and fee what Sort of Men we were; but our Keepers would not fuffer any of them to talk with us, or give us the leaft Thing to eat. About Noon the fame Day, there came to us a Gentlemen of the Clergy, who, when he knew our Country and Religion, was alfo pleafed to fay we were no Chriftians. This Gentleman informed us, that the Governor had an Engli/bman belonging to him, to whom he had ftood Godfather at his late Baptifm, and that his Excellency had fent for him to be Interpreter between himfelf and us. He called this of John Cockburn, &c. 95 this Man Thomas Colorado, which Name, as we afterward underftood, was given him on Account of his red Hair.

ON the third Day of our Confinement, we were fent for to the Governor's Houfe, to be examined, where we found our Countryman Thomas. After due Respects paid to his Excellency, and that we had obtained his Leave for fo doing, I related our whole Story to him in brief; but, however, took care not to omit the most material Circumftances, and then added, that our Wives and Children were not only in great Sorrow for the Lofs of us, but must be reduced to extream Poverty by this our Misfortune and long Hindrance from returning home to their Relief (all which was really the Cafe) and concluded with earneftly entreating he would be pleafed to grant us a País, whereby we might be enabled to get to an English Factory. Upon this, the Governor ordered we should be told, he had strict Commands from the King, his Mafter, not to fuffer any Englishman to pais through this Part of the Country, that it was not impoffible but our Story might be feigned, and that we might be

be fent hither as Spies; but, however, we were given to understand, that if we would become new Christians and be baptized, that, and nothing elfe would fave us from going to the Mines. To which, I replied, with fome Warmth, that as we were Subjects of England, we could not, without Violation of the known Laws of Nations, be detained here as Prisoners or Captives, at a Time of fettled Peace and good Understanding, as I fuppofed it was, between the two Crowns, that our King hindred no Spaniard from coming and going, when and where he thought fit in any Part of his Dominions, and that as for our being fent to the Mines, we were not brought hither as Criminals to have Sentence paffed upon us, but came only as Strangers and Travellers, tho' poor ones, and might the rather claim his Pity, but for being baptized afresh, we could not, I faid, tell what that meant; for we had already been baptized in the Holy Catholick and Apoftolick Church, in the Faith and Communion of which, by God's Grace, we hoped to continue to the End of our Lives, let what would befal us, and that we always underftood it to be against the ancient ancient Opinion and conftant Practice of the Church to admit of Rebaptifin; that as to what concerned Ceremony only, we were refolved to continue in the Way we had been taught. Upon the Clofe of my Difcourfe, the Governor advifed us to confider better of the Matter for our own Sakes, and give a determinate Anfwer to our Countryman, whom we might talk with apart.

AFTER we were difmiffed by his Excellency, I defired Mr. Colorado, to inform us how he came into this Part of the World? who gave us the following Account of himfelf. That he had been an Affociate with Spriggs and Lowe, two English Pirates, who had been famous many Years about America, as well as feveral other Parts; and, that being chafed by a Spanish Man of War, Spriggs, Lowe, himfelf, and fome others got on Shore at Truxillo, where the Indian Look-outs kill'd Lowe, with two or three more, dead on the Spot; but that he and Spriggs got off, and came to this Town : That tho' he had been a Pirate, and guilty of Murthers, Robberies, and many other heinous Offences, he was now become even as a new-born Babe; for that H he

he had been baptized by an Holy Father, adding, that if we did but know as much as he, we fhould gladly embrace the kind Offer the Governor had made us, who, if we incurred his Difpleafure, by obftinately rejecting his Beneficence, might have us profecuted as Spies, the Confequence of which would be, if we were convicted as fuch, no lefs than Death itfelf; and, continued he, it is reported by the Indians, who are come hither from feveral Parts, that you have taken Obfervation of the Country, and inquir'd of the Names of Towns and Places as you have paffed along. To which, I anfwer'd, that had we been imployed as Spies, we should have been supported in another Manner than what he faw; and furely, faid I, no Man breathing would have been prompted by Curiofity only, to fo painful and hazardous an Undertaking; wherefore, there is nothing more plain, than that we are poor unhappy Wretches, ftruggling for the Freedom of once more breathing our Native Air. Had we not made fuch Inquiries by the Way, faid I, it would have been impoffible for us to have got thus far on our intended Journey; upon the whole, I defired him to acquaint quaint the Governor, that we were firmly refolved to ftand and fall by our own Religion.

THE Governor's Lady, who was a Mestie, and had heard of our Misfortunes, fent for me to talk with her, defiring to know our Cafe, and whether we had Wives and Children? when I told her we really had, fhe took great Compassion on us, promifing to use her Interest with her Husband to grant us a País, and to procure for us what other Affiftance she could, and order'd Victuals to be given us in a very courteous Manner; after which, we were remanded back to our Prifon, where we found it was whilper'd, that we fhould be put to Death; but, however, in two Days after, Providence order'd it fo, that this good Lady obtained the Pafs she had promised me she would endeavour for; upon which we were releafed from our Confinement, and went to return the Governor and his Lady Thanks on our Knees, who each of them gave us a Real apiece, with three Hats made of Cane platted by the Indians, and wifhed us well, and fafely to return home to our own Country. H 2 Thefe Thefe Hats were of great Service to us afterwards, in fhading us from the Vehemence of the Sun, to which we had been fo much exposed before, that Mr. Banister had thereby almost lost his Sight. Mr. Rounce continued all this while very bad of his Ague and Feyer.

WE were directed by our Pafs to go to a Place call'd Contiagua, where we were to fhew it to the Indians of that Place, that we might crofs the great Gulf of Fonfeca, Mappalo, or Amapala, which is about thirty or forty Leagues from hence. Thomas Colorado, for I know him by no other Name, gave us an Invitation to call at his Houfe, about eight Leagues from St. Michael's, faying, it was in our Way to the Place whither we were going, and that his Wife, who was an Indian, would give us a kind Reception, as being his Countryman; we accepted the Offer, and fat out accordingly leaving him at St. Michael's.

WHEN we had got two or three Leagues from the Town, we came to fome high Mountains, which made us fuppofe we had miftaken mistaken our Way, as we had had no Information that we fhould meet with any fuch thereabouts; but, about Sun-fet, we found out a Path which led us to a Range, where were People, of whom we inquired, if they knew one Thomas Colorado, and where his House flood. They faid, they knew such a one very well, and that he lived about four Leagues off; we staid with them all Night, and in the Morning they directed us to his Houfe. As we went along we met a Rake, fo called in this Country, which is a Company of Mules, imployed to carry Goods to and fro, as our Pack-Horfes are in England. This Rake confifted of about forty Mules, and was going to fome Indico Works, to get Lading, as the Drivers told Mr. Rounce being very ill this Day, and us. not able to walk, we left him, about Noon, near an old Range, and went forward to feek for Help. Before Sun-fet we came to a great Run of Water, on the other Side of which was a large Houfe, with fine Indico Works, which we fuppofing to belong to our Countryman Thomas; we waded over to them directly; but were agreeably furprized to find the good Father, who had engaged H 3 engaged us at St. Michael's, about the Calking of his Veffel, to be the Mafter both of the Houfe, and Works. He happening to be here himfelf at this Time, made very much of us, kindly inquiring how we got out of our late Straits, and what was become of our Companion. We told him we had left him fick at a Range, and how far it was off; upon which, he prefently called fome Indians, and gave them Orders to go and bring him hither along with them.

AFTER they were gone, I got a Mule and went with another Indian in Search of him myfelf, leit those who were gone before should mistake the Place; but he was not where I left him, nor could he be found by any of us, which made me conclude, that by endeavouring to follow us, he had ftray'd out of his Way, and fo would never be heard of any more; and fo having given him quite over for loft, we returned to the old Gentleman, who, the next Morning, order'd the fame Indians, to go and fearch about for him till they could find him. Then he brought us a Razor, and bad us fhave ourfelves, which was what we had never had an an Opportunity to do before, fince we left our Ship; and, at the fame time, acquainted us here was an Englishman lived hard by, who was a Doctor of Phyfick (as he was pleafed to ftile him) whom, he faid, he would fend for to us; which he accordingly did, and about Noon the Gentleman came, and expressed great Satisfaction at this our Interview, but faid, he was forry to fee us in fo indigent a Condition, and himfelf not able to affift us. He informed us, that he had been eighteen Years in this Country, that he had lived eight Years of that Time in this Place, that we were the first Perfons he had feen from England in the whole while, that his Name was Henry Grace, that he was born at Speak, Speek or Speke-Hall, near Liverpool in Lancashire, where his Father and Son now were, if living, and enjoyed a handfome Eftate; and forrowfully faid, he should never fee them, or the Place more, being not able to undergo the Fatigue of fuch a Journey; but that he would fend a Letter to his Father by me, which, if I should be fo happy as to get to England, he begg'd me to have delivered; which Letter, fince my Return home, I had an Opportunity H_4

portunity of delivering into the old Gentleman's own Hands, to his great Surprize and Joy. This Evening, the Men who were fent in Queft of our fick Comrade, brought him to us: He had been taken up by fome Indians, and carried to the Houfe of Thomas Colorado, where he ftaid till they found him out.

MR. Grace was defired to ask, if we were willing to go and calk the Veffel belonging to the worthy Gentleman, whofe Houfe we were at ? We answer'd, we were very willing to do that, or any Thing for him, that lay in our Power; fo the next Day he gave us fome Covering for our Bodies, which was the first we had in the Country, and order'd Mules to be got ready to carry us to the Veffel, which lay at the Side of a great River, called the River Limpo, i. e. the clean River, which difembogues itfelf into the South-Sea. Being come thither, we found the Negroe, and fome Indians, at work on her, and thought fhe fomewhat refembled Noah's Ark. All the Tools they had, were an Axe, a Chizel, and an Auger, wherefore, we fell to work in the first Place, and made ourfelves ourfelves Tools of Wood, proper for the Bufinefs. Our Oakum was the Outfides of Coco Nuts. We were fixteen Days calking this Veffel, which would carry twenty two Mules crofs the River; and there happen'd fuch a Storm of Rain, that the Water rofe above twenty Feet in one Night, and floated our Veffel off the Stocks.

WHEN we had finished our Work, we returned to our Mafter's House ; but, ftrangely were we furprized at our Entrance, to find there two of our Ship's Company, whom we had left behind with the reft, at St. Peter's Solio, when we made our Efcape from thence, little expecting ever to fee any of them more. These were our Carpenter Fohn Holland, who was fo grievoufly wounded in the Engagement, that we had given him over long fince as a dead Man, and John Ballmain, who were most pitiful Objects of Compassion, being almost starved to Death. They told us, that after we were gone, they were very cruelly used, and had fcarce any Thing allowed them to fubfift on, but expected every Day to be fent to the the Mines; which was the Reafon, that, as foon as they were able to crawl, they with two others, namely, Thomas Locker and Thomas Robinson, stole out of the Town by Night, and that, by Means of the Indians and Negroes, who handed them with 'em from one to another, and all the Way directed them after us, till they had got thus far, but that they had avoided coming hither by the Way of St. Michael's, for fear of being fent to the Mines. They faid, they had fuffered very much, on Account of not undeftanding what was fpoken to them, or being underflood, and that the other two, that fet out with them, being not able to travel far, they had left them by the Way, with fome Indians, who would take care of them. We defired to know, if there was no Inquiry made after us, when we left St. Peter's? they faid, there were Indians fent to fearch for us; but, at their Return, they reported they could hear nothing concerning us. This we knew could proceed only from the good Nature of those People, for nothing would have been eafier for them, had they been fo minded, than to have overtaken us.

WE and our Friends, being now well refreshed, and having all got Trowzers on, began to think ourselves in no contemptible Circumstances, and that it was high Time to take leave of our kind Benefactor, who would willingly have detained us with him; but, as he knew our Resolution of going to the English Factory, he would use no unreasonable Importunity, and, at parting, gave us eight Pieces of Eight, as a Requital for the Services we had done him.

BEING now rich, and able, as we thought, to affift our poor Shipmates, we refolved to fhare Fortunes with them; but then the Grievance was, our Pafs would ferve only for us three, to whom it was given; and how to procure them another, we could not tell. At laft, we agreed to go back again to St. Michael's, and try our Intereft with Thomas Colorado, on that Head. Accordingly, we made what Hafte thither we could; but when we came near the Town, which was in the Morning, after a two Day's Journey, we began to fear, that the Governor might recede from his Favours, and inftead of complying plying with our Requeft, fecure us all. Upon this Confideration, we proposed to them, to go to the Governor by themfelves, if they could get Admittance, and plead their own Cafe, whilft we croffed the River of St. Michael's, and waited their coming in a Wood about three Leagues off, which we had been informed lay in our Way to Contiagua; they, feeing they could no otherwife do, accepted the Propofal; upon which, we departed to the Place appointed, and they entred the Town to negotiate their Affair, and fucceeded fo fpeedily therein, by the Means of Colorado, that by Evening, they returned to us in the Wood, with their Pass in their Hands, having not been so much as fuspected for Spies. We congratulated them on their good Succefs, and imputed it, in fome measure, to this, that when the Governor beheld them in the fame forlorn Condition he had feen us, and found them in the fame Story, he might probably fay to himfelf, as Joseph did to his Brethren, that now he knew we were true Men, and no Spies. We refolved now to flick close by one another for the future, feeing we were enahled fo to do.

FROM

FROM this Wood, we travell'd to a Savanna, where we faw a great many tame Cows going up to a large Range to be milked. We followed them, and obtained leave of the People we found there, to ftay with them all Night, and had Milk and Plantains given us without Spare. Thefe People told us, we might get to Contiagua in three Days, but that there were no Inhabitants by the Way; upon which Notice, we purchafed fome Jerked Beef and Plantains of them, to take along with us, and in the Morning left them, and paffed over feveral high and cragged Rocks, which proved very bad for our Feet.

ABOUT Noon we came to a fine Spring, near which grew fome tall Trees, under the Shade of which we made a Fire, and dreffed Part of our Beef and Plantains, not knowing when we might have fuch another Opportunity. By Evening we got to fome Indico Works, near which, confidering the Poverty of the Country, flood a fine Houfe; here we expected to have met with Grandee Spaniards, but found only one Indian, who told told us the Houfe was not habitable, becaufe of the Vermiine that infefted it; neverthelefs, we bleffed the Almighty, whofe Providence had directed us to this Place, where we might fhelter ourfelves from the Inclemency of the Weather; for at our coming here, it rained prodigioufly, and we plainly perceived a tempestuous Night was coming on, and fo indeed it proved ; but to guard as well as we could against the Vermine, we made up a great Fire, which notwithftanding, we were fo intolerably plagued with Muskitoes, that we thought it impoffible to undergo a greater Punishment. As foon as Day appeared, we departed from hence, and fteered our Course up a Mountain; from whence, on the left Hand, we discovered the great Gulf of Fonseca, or Amapala, which we were to cross; having got down this Mountain, we found a Path which led us up another, on the Top of which flood the Town of Contiagua, which is nothing more than a Company of Whigwams placed thick together.

WE found in it many Women and Children, but not the Face of a Man could we fee, fee, for it feems, they were all gone a Hunting. As the Women were commonly pretty fhy of us, we thought it beft to ask but few Queftions till the Men returned. Accordingly, we waited till Evening, and the first we met with was one bearing a white Wand, whom we fuppofed to be the Alcald, or Indian Governor, and understanding from himfelf that he was fuch, we deliver'd him our Paffes; but perceiving, that he could not read them, I offer'd my Service, and read them to him. When he underftood the Purport of them, he told me, that the first Canoe that went fhould transport us over the Gulf, and then fhewed us to a Range, where he faid, we fhould be entertained till that Time; for our Paffes ran, that we should have all Things free till we were paft the Gulf, tho' all Perfons, as well Spaniards as Natives, must have Passes, and must notwithstanding pay ten Pieces of Eight apiece for their Paffage, befides the Expence of their Diet by the Way; fo greatly had the Governor of St. Michael's fayoured us. Indeed our Entertainment proved but fmall; Victuals being fo very fcarce in thefe Mountains, that during the fix Days we staid here, we

we tafted nothing but Plantains. On the feventh, two Canoes being ready to depart, we embarked therein, two of us in one Canoe, and three in the other. We had eight Indians to row in each Canoe, in cafe the Weather fhould not admit of Sailing.

IN this Gulf of Fonseca, Mapala, or Amapala, are many Islands, fome five, fome fix, or feven Miles in Length, which afford abundance of Coco Nuts and Plantains; to get which, on the fecond Day after our Imbarkation, we landed on one of them, whilft the Indians went to dive for Pearl. When they returned, we made a great Feast with our Plantains, and their Pearl Oifters, which are of a delicious Tafte, and eat better than any Oifters I ever met with. We took care, while we were on the Ifland, to roaft a good Store of Plantains, and befides provided ourfelves with a fufficient Quantity of fresh Water, to laft us the Voyage, we having yet forty Leagues farther to fail. Thefe Islands are fo infefted with wild Beafts, that no one ever flays on them after Sun-fet. In this Paffage, we had abundance of Rain, and terrible Squals of Wind; fo that very often we

we could hardly keep the Canoes above Water. The Indians had each of them a Hide to keep off Rain, but we were forced to ftand all Weathers. After paffing many Islands, on the fourth Day, we (that is to fay, Banister and I who were in one Canoe, and had out-fail'd the others) got to the other Side of the Gulf, and went directly up a Lagoon that was full of Mangroves, which rendred the Paffage difficult. When we were got about twenty Miles up it, we found a Range flanding clofe by the Water-fide; there we landed, not a little rejoiced at fetting our Feet once again on Shore, for the Weather had proved very rigorous, and we wholly exposed to it. This Range was not inhabited, by reafon of the Vermine, with which it was overrun. The Indians make use of it only as a Shelter at their first landing, and to flow their Goods in, whilft the Mules can be got ready to take them away.

MR. Banister and I, not being able to ftay here till our Companions fhould arrive, defired the Indians to direct us to fome Inhabitants, where we defigned to ftay, and T wair wait their coming. They directed us to a Town, to which we got about Sun-fet, and therein took up our Night's Lodging; but at this Place, there was no Sort of Provision to be had at any Rate, tho' we could now have purchafed fome, had it been in the Way. There was not a Man to be feen in the Town, and what poor Women we found there, look'd like Pictures of Famine; and well they might, for they had nothing but a few green Suppotoes, which they boil'd, to fubfift on, Things fearcely eatable for any Creature. This Dearth obliged us to lay afide the Thoughts of ftaying for our Company, and go forward.

A B O UT Noon the next Day, we came to the old Town of Pueblo Vaco, where was a Church, and many Houfes, but few People could we fee. At laft, we fpy'd a Lady, in one Houfe, very well dreffed, to whom we went and begg'd her Charity. She prefently made Chocolate, giving us plentifully of it, which was more acceptable to us at that Time, than Gold. Whilft I was relating Part of our Hiftory to this Lady, who was a Mefie, in came her Husband, who was was of the fame Mixture of People as herfelf, that is, between Spanish, Indian, and Mallata, which mungrel Breed is held almost in the fame Esteem here as real Spa_ niards. When this Gentleman had heard fomething of our Story, and underftood we were endeavouring to get to the South-Sea, he informed us, that there was a Town called Realejo or Riolego, about two Days Journey from hence, where fometimes arrived Veffels from Panama, and that there we fhould have a good Chance to get a Conveyance to that Place. Then I told him, we defired to flay only till our Fellow-Travellers, whom we had left in a Canoe, in the Gulf of Fonfeca, could overtake us; but finding no Encouragement to flay here, we fet forward for Realejo.

A τ Sun-fet we came to an Indian Village, utterly forfaken by every Creature, which made us conclude not to lodge in it, but go on. We had not gone above two Miles ere we met fome Indians, going towards the Village with Plantains, of whom we inquired the Way to Realejo; but they anfwer'd, that here was no travelling by Night, and I 2 therefore

therefore perfuaded us, to turn back with them to the Village, which we agreed to. As we were going along, they told us, there had been a Diftemper raging in thefe Parts, which had fwept away moft of the Men, and that the Women and Children that were left, not being able to hunt about in the Woods and Mountains as the Men daily do, were almost starved to Death. We imagined the Reafon of our not being fooner told the Caufe of the great Scarcity of Victuals in thefe Parts, proceeded from the Fears the People might form to themfelves of our taking Advantages of their prefent Weaknefs, which, perhaps, were heightned, by hearing we expected Company to join us; but if they dreaded fo, they were greatly unjust to us; we were not fo profligate and ungrateful as to offer Injury, had it been in our Power, to a harmlefs People, who, in our greatest Diffress, had all along fuccoured and relieved us, tho', at the fame time, they were poffeffed with Notions, that should they ever fall into the Hands of the English, we fhould repay their Generofity, with the utmost Rigour and Cruelty. These Notions, which we could hardly ever diffuade them

them from entertaining, they muft have learned from run-away Negroes, who fometimes make their Escape hither from some of our Weft-India Isles; or more probably and generally from the Spaniards, who are industrious in creating an Aversion in these People, against those of our Nation. But, to return to my Narration, we gave thefe poor Indians two Reals for two of their Plantains, and the Leg of a Fowl; and the next Day got to Realejo, where, according to Cuftom, we went about the Town looking for fomething to eat, but could meet with no fuch Thing. We faw only a few Women, one of which was a Negroe, whom I asked, if she could put us in a Way to fatisfy our Hunger. She faid here was Indian Corn, but it was very dear, and but little to be had for a Real; but that, if we could purchafe any, fhe would make us fome Turtillias, and we might be lodged in her Houfe. We embraced the Offer, and gave her Money to difpose of as the faw beft. While we staid here, which was two Days, came our three Fellow-Travellers, whom we left behind, with grievous Complaints of having been flarved, and that they had I 3

had ate nothing in four Days paft. We prefently comforted them by calling for our Turtillias, of which they ate very eagerly. At this Place we faw two Ships on the Stocks, which were not yet planked, nor their Decks laid; but the Indians were bufy in hewing out Planks from Trees which were bent by Nature, and feemed ready fitted to the Veffel, in the fame Manner as we bend our fawed Planks by Fire. Thefe Ships were built of Cedar, and would carry about 300 Tuns. Their Floor, Timbers, and Top, were all of one Piece. They were bound for Acapulco and Peru; but no Veffel could we find here to answer our Expectation. I talked with a Spaniard, who told me of a Place called Nicoya, the most likely of any that he knew of to meet with a Bark for Panama, for that Veffels often came from thence to Nicoya, to take in Tallow and Jerk Beef. Then he directed us to go to a Holy Father, who lived in this Town, and crave his Affiftance; we went accordingly, and made our Application to him, upon which he order'd us every one a Plantain. After this, we returned to our Black Landlady, who flood our best Friend, and had provided a hot Supper

Supper against our coming back. She advifed us to go directly to Leon, which was a large City, where was a Spani/b Governor, to which Place we might get in two Days; for to ftay here any longer, fhe faid, would be to flarve ourfelves to Death. We took her Advice; and the next Morning, fhe put us in the Road to Leon.

By Noon we came to an Indian Town, where, as we heard, lived a Friar, a good Man, to whom we applied for Help, and he was fo charitable, as to give us every one a Real. We made no Stay here, but went on, and about Sun-fet got to another Village, where we endeavoured to get fomething to eat, but could not; however, we were conducted to a Range to fleep in that Night.

ABOUT Noon the next Day, we entred the Town of Leon, and the first Inquiry we made was after the Governor, whom we meant to addrefs before all Perfons; but, we were told, he was gone out of Town. Leon, is a large and populous Town, having a great Church, and a fine Convent filled with I 4

with Devotees. We went one Day to the Convent to ask Charity, where the Fathers prefently asked, if we were Chriftians; when I told them we were, they defired to be informed, by whom we had been baptized. I told them by Clergymen of the Church of England : Why then, faid they, you are no Chriftians, for they have no Power to baptize, who are married, and have Children. As they were difcourfing me upon this Head, came a Negroe Woman, and faid, that her Master Don Emanuel defired to fpeak with us; we went with her immediately to his Houfe, where he asked us fuch Queffions only as good Nature and Curiofity fuggefted, all which I refolved the beft I could. When he heard, we had delivered our Paffes to the Alcald of Contiagua, before we croffed the great Gulf, and were now without any, he faid, we muft have one, for otherwife there would be no travelling; and was very forry, that his Father, whom he filed our Countryman, tho? born in Ireland, and who was Treafurer and Secretary to the Governor, and could do as he pleafes with him, should be out of Town at this critical Juncture; for had he been in the Way, he affured us, we fhould have had a Pafs immediately; but he promifed to go with us the next Day to the Alcald Major, or Sub-Governor, and try to get one from him. He went with us according to Promife, and obtained the Pafs, and then advifed us to go to Granada, where he faid Veffels were frequently built to go to Porto-bello, which Advice of our good Friend, we refolved to follow. This Gentleman treated us with extraordinary Kindnefs and Hofpitality the while we ftaid at Leon, which was three Days; after which, we took leave of him, and fet out for Granada.

WE left Leon in the Morning, and the fame Day in the Evening got to an Indian Village, and shewed our Pass to the Alcald of the Place; but as he could not read it, I told him, that the Governor had commanded all the Alcalds, where we should come, to provide us with Victuals; but he gave us to understand, it was not in his Power so to do, for that the Inhabitants here had little or nothing for themsfelves, and that he feared, we should hear the fame Complaint in other Places; and so, in Reality, we did whereever ever we went for eighteen Days together, after we left this Village; and above all, the greateft Mifery was, that Water was as fcarce in these Parts as Victuals, infomuch, that whenever we came to any Puddle, or the Tracks of Beafts Feet, where Moifture had gathered, tho' it were discoloured, and frunk ever so much, we never failed to lay ourfelves down and drink it up, and I may fay with Satisfaction. Our only Food in that Time, was a few poor dry Berries, fuch as our Hips and Haws; however, as bad as they were, we were very glad when we found any, for they were not always to be had. We paffed thro' many Villages, which flood pretty thick on a fine level Land, very eafy for the Feet, and delightful to the Eye, having every here-and-there Thickets of Trees and Groves, with rifing and falling Ground, which afforded beautiful Profpects.

A T length we came to a Mountain, which we were obliged to pais over, from the Top of which we could fee the great Lake of Nicaragua. Having defcended this Mountain, we came to an Indian Village, where we faw three Gentlemen of an Order of Friars, Friars, who fent for us, and examined us ftriftly of our Country and Religion, but more particularly concerning our prefent State and Government; to all which, I anfwer'd as I could. Thefe Gentlemen were on their Way from Granada to Leon; they provided us the beft Supper we had met with a long while, and moreover gave us every one a Real, and befides provided us with a Night's Lodging.

THE next Morning we got to the Lake of Nicaragua, and keeping on the Side of it, we paffed through many Villages, and at laft came into the Town of Granada, and went directly to the Alcald Major, who is always a Spaniard, and fhewed him our Pafs; upon which he gave us two Reals apiece, and faid, we muft be lodged in the Prifon whilft we ftaid here, but not to be kept as Prifoners under Confinement, for we fhould every Day have our Liberty to go about the Town as we pleas'd; fo that this was no great Mortification to us.

GRANADA is very large, and has three Churches, with Convents for feveral holy Orders

Orders in it. Perceiving a numerous Clergy here, we thought proper to intreat their Affiftance, and fome of them relieved us, and fome did not. We found, that in this Town Coco paffed as current Coin, feventy Nuts of which were valued at a Real of Plate.

A GENTLEMAN, who is Receiver-General of the King's Revenues in this Part of the Country, came one Day to the Prifon, on Purpole to ask us fome Queftions concerning our Misfortunes, which, when I had anfwer'd, he bid us come to his Houfe every Day, where we should always find Relief; and for the prefent, gave us a large Matt to fleep on, for till then we lay on the bare Ground. This Gentleman having a Ship which traded in the South-Seas, offer'd, if we would flay here, to imploy us therein; but, I anfwer'd, that we were determined to get to our own Country, if poslible; that otherwife we would gladly have ferved him. Here being flat-bottom'd Veffels building to go to Porto-bello, by the Way of the Lake of Nicaragua, we went to the Mafter of one of them, to try, if we could get a Paffage with him; who faid, that if we could procure cure a Pafs that would allow us to go by the Caftle of St. John, which ftands on an Island in the Neck of the Lake, about fifty Leagues from hence, he would not only give us our Paffage, but pay us well for our Labour. This Caftle of St. John, commands all Veffels that pass up the Lake, the Channel being fo narrow, and full of Bars and Shoals, that it is impoffible for any Veffel to fail up it, without borrowing clofe upon the Caftle, for which Reafon he durft not take us without a Pass. The Governor of the Caftle being at this Time at Granada, in whofe Power only it was to grant us fuch a Pass, we went and petition'd him on that Matter, at the fame time fetting forth our great Hardships, our Inability to endure more, and remonstrating, that if he did not grant us this Favour, fo much, and immediately in his Power, we fhould be compelled to travel many Hundreds of Leagues out of our Way, and go over the Mountains of Nicaragua, a Thing deemed impracticable for Foot Travellers; and in fhort, that we were informed, we had all the most difficult Part of the Country yet to go through, and in the worft Seafon of the Year.

Year, which is the Time of the Rains. His Anfwer was, that he had Inftructions from the King of Spain, not to fuffer any Englishman to pass up or down the Lake, and that therefore, he neither could nor would comply with our Request. This flat Denial utterly difmay'd us; yet, what is very natural to Perfons driven even to Despair itself, that is, to hover about the Thing on which they have once built their Hopes, was now our Case. We could not forbear hankering about the Lake of Nicaragua, thinking how easily we might have attained our Ends that Way, could we have obtained a Pass.

As we were walking up and down in this penfive Mood, we chanced to meet with a Company of Indians, among whom was a Countryman of our own, who appeared to be almost starved to Death. We asked him, how long he had been in this Country? he faid almost five Years, and that he had travelled about from Place to Place in Hopes of getting out of it, but was never the nearer to his Journey's End. He told us his Name was Robert Barnwell, and that he was born at West-Chester. It feems, he had been

been taken in the Manner we had been, and fet on Shore with feveral others, who were all now dead, and he only left alive to bemoan his hard Fate. He faid, that he had tried every Way he could think of, to get home to England, but that all his Endeavours had proved unfuccefsful; fo that now he never expected to leave this Country: He faid likewife, that the last Effort he made to that End, was by prevailing with a Mafter of a Veffel, which was bound from Granada to Porto-bello, by the Way of the Lake, to take him along with him, but that when they came to the Caffle of St. John he was difcover'd, and turned back ; for that the Spaniards should fay, if once the English came to know the Nature of this Lake, they would foon become Mafters of this Part of the Country.

THE Lake of Nicaragua vents itfelf into the North-Sea, and tho' it be very fhallow, is about fifteen Leagues broad in the wideft Part, but near the Caftle it is not above a Mile over, as Barnwell informed us. When we had heard thus much of his Story, we acquainted him with Part of ours, and faid, that that fince our late Disappointment, we had agreed (by the Help of God) to go to Nicoya, and that, if he was willing to bear us Company, we would take our Chance together. He was very well pleafed with the Propofal, but as he was fick and weak, feared he should not be able to perform the Journey; however, we comforted him, by faying he might flay here till he got Strengh, for that we were obliged to wait for our Carpenter, who was at work at a Veffel that was building, at which he could earn two Spanish Dollars a Day. He was imploy'd eight Days, and received his Wages, with which he purchased himself a Frock, that, in Reality, was worth no more than two Shillings Sterling; fo exceffively dear are all Sorts of Cloathing in thefe Parts.

A T this Time, an Accident happen'd in the Prifon were we lodged, which might have proved fatal to us, had we not ufed fome Precaution. The Matter was this; Five Mallata Men, who were clofely confined in Irons for the barbarous Murther of an Alcald Major, were paffed from St. Michael's to this Town, in order to be fent to the of John Cockburn, Oc.

the Castle of St. John, there to remain during Life. Two of thefe very Fellows came in one of our Canoes, when we croffed the great Gulf of Fonfeca, being, at that Time, loaded with Irons. These Men were laid for the prefent, amongst other Criminals, in the next Room to us; and one Night, when we were all afleep, they called out, as if in great Surprize, to an old Indian who lay in the Room with us, who was an Officer of fome Authority, as well in the Town as in this Prifon. He ftarting fuddenly out of his Sleep, at the Noife, catched up a Light, and ran to fee what was the Matter. When he had unlocked the outward Door, fuppofing the inward one to be fast, as he had found that, the Villains rushed upon him, and, in a violent Manner, laid him on with Staves, till he fell down for dead. We awaking with the Hurliburly, and fuppofing it to be among the Prifoners, for that we miffed the old Man, got up between fleeping and waking, and ran to inquire into the Caufe of the Difturbance. By the Time we had got to the Place, where we thought we had heard the Noife, it ceafed, and we found all in Darknefs. At laft, we chanced to flumble K over over a Body, which lay in the Door-way of the Place where thefe Men were kept. We endeavoured to raife it, but perceiving no Signs of Life in it, we concluded the Ruffians had broke their Gaol, and murthered the old Gentleman, our Chamber-Fellow, and that this was his Body. The Thoughts of which threw us into a terrible Consternation, especially when we reflected, that we being Wanderers in a ftrange Land, and under no fmall Degree of Odium, might be held in Sufpicion of being acceffary with them in fo horrid a Crime, and, perhaps, be punished as guilty of the Fact. Upon this Confideration, I advifed, that we should go forthwith to the Alcald Major of the Town, and acquaint him with what had happen'd. We did fo, and tho' it was in the Dead of Night, he rofe, and came himfelf along with us to the Prifon, but took care to be well guarded by his Officers; and as we went along, he highly commended our Care and Fidelity in this Affair. At our Return to the Prifon, we were very glad to find our old Friend, whom we had fuppofed to be dead, revived, though much bruifed, and afflicted for the Lofs of his Prisoners, of John Cockburn, &c. 121 Prifoners, who had made their Efcape, and left their Chains and Shackles behind them, frewed about in Pieces.

THE Alcald commanded ftrict Search to be made after them, and the next Day they were found to have taken Sanctuary in a Church belonging to a Monastery of Franciscan Friars here, who refused to deliver them up to Juffice, faying, fince they were fled thither, they were bound to shelter them from the Rigour of the Law. We thankfully acknowledged the good Providence, that had directed every Thing in this Matter, fo as to free us from the leaft Imputation of Confederacy with thefe vile Wretches, tho' we had before we came here, been obliged to travel fome Way with them.

WHILST we staid here, arrived Canoes frequently with Indians who dwelt on the other Side the Lake, and who brought with them Creatures like a Guana, or rather a Lizard, but as big as a Maftiff Dog. Thefe are fold in Granada at a great Price, and they that can afford to eat fo delicately, are happy. Ŧ

K = 2

132 The Diftreffes and Adventures I have ate of them, and tho' their Look is not altogether inviting, yet when they are drefs'd, they tafte better than any Fowl. Thefe Indians differ both in Features and Complection, from any other Indians I ever faw, and having Hair of an unufual Length, are therefore commonly called the Longhair'd Indians.

WHEN we had given over all Thoughts of getting away from hence by Shipping, I made it my Business to inquire out the best Way to go to Nicoya, and found that all People agreed, there was no avoiding the Mountains of Nisaragua; but, at the fame time, they affured us, it was impoffible to travel over them on Foot, and without Arms, on Account of the Tigers, and other Beafts of Prey that fwarmed there; however, as we had no Choice to make, we knew we must run all Hazards, and put it to the Venture. It had rained almost all the Time of our being here, wherefore, we knew it muft be bad travelling; but having pick'd up what we could to help us on the Way, after a Stay of ten Days, we departed for Nicoya.

of John Cockburn, &c. 133 Nicoya. Barnwell was not able to travel with us, on Account of his Weaknefs.

HAVING got about two Leagues from Granada, we met with fome Indians, who fatisfy'd us we were going right, and a little farther, we overtook two others who were going our Way, with whom we affociated till they came to their Journey's End. Mr. Banifter beginning to grow very ill, at this Time, we made hafte to a Range, where we got him fome Milk, and procured what other Help we could towards his Recovery; but he growing worfe, in fuch a Manner, as plainly shewed he would not foon be able to travel, and the poor People we were among, not being able to fuftain fuch a Company as we together, we were constrained to leave him alone with them, till he fhould be better, and have an Opportunity to follow us.

Nor far from hence is a large Savanna, which, by Reafon of the Rains, was now quite overflowed; this we waded thro', tho' the Water reached up to our Shoulders, and tho' the Mud and Stench that arofe from the K 3. Bottom 134 The Diftreffes and Adventures Bottom were enough to poifon any Thing that had Life. We were almost a whole Day getting over this filthy Place, and then came to a Whigwam, where we found fome Indians, who told us, we had taken the wrong Way, and wonder'd how we had been able to get over it. These People were fo far from helping us to Water to wash ourfelves, that they could not give us any to drink, tho' we were in exceeding Want of it; however, we were glad to lie down to rest in the nasty Pickle we were in.

BEFORE we fat out in the Morning, they told us, we fhould come to St. Thomas's by Night, where we might get Plantains enough; accordingly, by Sun-fet, we reached it, and found it to be the Country-Seat of a Prieft, who was not there at that 'Time. We ftaid, however, with his Servants two Days, expecting our Fellow-Traveller Banister, who did not come; all this 'Time it rained hard. The House ftands very pleasantly among Coco and Plantain Walks, and abundance of Fruit-Trees.

O'n

of John Cockburn, &c. 135

ON the third Day we departed from hence, and for a good Way met with nothing but Coco, Plantain, and feveral other Sorts of Fruit-Trees. Coco grows on fmall Trees in great Pods, as big as Melons; fome of which contain fixty or eighty Kernels inclofed in white Skins, which Skins are taken off, and the Nuts thrown into Water, and those that fink, are counted good for Use, when dried by the Sun.

THE next Place we came to, was a fmall Village, where was an Indian Alcald, to whom we shewed our Pass, and who used us in a very kind and obliging Manner, ordering us plenty of Chocolate, befides whatever his House afforded to eat; and moreover, promifed to take care we fhould have Provisions to help us over the Mountains, which he faid, was a long, long Way, and where none but Indians durft travel on Foot. After we had eaten, and drank pretty heartily, being very weary, we began to grow drowfy, and there not being Conveniency for fo many as we to lodge in the Houfe, we went out into the Yard, and laid ourfelves down, K 4 under under a little Covering of Boards, and there fell fast asleep. How long we lay thus, I can't fay, but, at laft, Mr. Rounce waked us with a Story, that he had feen an old Gentleman very richly dreffed, carried along the Yard into the Houfe, whom he verily believed to be an Englishman; for that he should call to him as he paffed by, and fay in Engli/b, How do you do, Countryman? But this, he faid, was not the only Reafon he had neither to believe him fuch; for that the first Moment he cast his Eyes upon him, he knew his Face, and remembred he had been particularly acquainted with him, fome Years before, in England. We ask'd him what Anfwer he made, he faid none; for that his Surprize was fogreat, he had not Power to open his Mouth. For my Part, as I had been afleep all the while myfelf, and knew nothing of the Matter, I was apt to think, that he had been fo too, and knew as little, but that he had dreamed the Story, and awaking fuddenly out of his Sleep, imagined it to be Matter of Fact. But to be certain of the Thing, we got up, and went directly into the Houfe, and there found the old Gentleman in Reality, fitting in a Sort of Chair. He was wrap'd up in a Cloak.

of John Cockburn, Oc. 137

Cloak, very richly imbroidered with Gold, but feemed to be fuperannuated. We ftood looking at him very fteadfaftly; but he faid not one Word, nor took the leaft Notice of us, till Curiofity led me to ask him (in Spanish) if he was of Old Spain; upon which, he answer'd very quick, in English, that he was no Spaniard, but came from London many Years ago, and faid no more. I went on to ask him feveral other Queffions, but he answer'd to none of them, and then the Alcald, and others, who were about him, defir'd I would not talk to him any more, faying, Indeed he was our Countryman, but was now old and fick, and not capable to answer; upon which I held my Peace, perceiving, they had no Mind any Difcourse should pass between us. By this time, Mr. Rounce had taken a thorough View of him, and was well fatisfy'd, that he was the Man, he had imagined him to be, and then he told us, that his Name was Edmund Underwood; and that he had been Master of a Veffel, and had lived at Tarmouth, where he knew both him and his Father very well, who was a Rope-maker. This Man, it feems, has been miffing many Years.

138 The Diftreffes and Adventures

Years, as his Son informed Mr. Rounce, fince our Arrival in England. We flaid here but one Night, and the next Morning took Leave of the Alcald, who gave us twelve Tamawlas of Indian Corn, and each of us two Reals in Coco, bidding us be fure to go to the other Alcald at the old Town of Nicaragua, and get fomething of him.

As we went along, we faw little Birds no bigger than a Grafhopper, of a whitifh Colour, which, as they flew from Tree to Tree were hardly perceivable. In the Evening, we got to the Alcald of the old Town, and told him our Errand, who faid, he would do what he could for us, and for the prefent bad us go about the Town, and ask every one to give us fomething towards helping us over the Mountains. We did fo, and of fome we got Plantains, and of others Jerk Beef, fo that we prefently pick'd up as much as we were able to carry.

ON the third Day of our Abode here, arrived three Friars, who were just come from over the Mountains of Nicaragua, on Mules, well guarded by armed Indians. When they

they heard we were going to travel over them on Foot, they endeavoured to diffuade us from an Attempt, which, they faid, muft prove our Ruin; for that if we had no Arms to defend us from the Tigers, we fhould foon be devoured. They were in great Trouble about a Dog they very much valued, which they had loft on the Mountains, and which they fupposed to be torn in Pieces by the Tigers. Thefe Gentlemen gave us fome Seegars to fmoke, which they fuppofed would be very acceptable. Thefe are Leaves of Tobacco rolled up in fuch Manner, that they ferve both for a Pipe and Tobacco itfelf. These the Ladies, as well as Gentlemen, are very fond of Smoking; but indeed, they know no other Way here, for there is no fuch Thing as a Tobacco-Pipe throughout New Spain, but poor aukward Tools used by the Negroes and Indians.

THE Alcald, at whofe Houfe we were at this Time, had got a large Ram, which being mifchievous, was kept ty'd up in a back Place, where we had never feen him. Now we were appointed to lie without the Houfe, under a Sort of a Shed, where hung two two Hammocks. One Morning when we were just rifen, and thought nothing of the Matter, the Ram, who was broke loofe, and had got Sight of us, came running furioufly at us, and, in the first Place, affaulted John Ballmain, getting him down, and butting at him with his Horns, with Might and Main. I feeing this, ran with Defign to refcue my Companion; upon which the Ram left him, and fell upon me with all his Force. Finding my Antagonist a little too strong for me, the only Expedient I could think of to recover myfelf, was to dodge him round a Tree, where we both play'd our Parts with great Dexterity; but Fortune, which does not always favour the Politick, no more than the Brave, together with the Slipperinefs of the Place, occafioned my Foot to flide, which brought me down, and by that Means gave the Enemy the Advantage over me, who had not the Generofity to let me rife, and fairly renew the Combat; but, in that Condition, fell on me fo violently, that he not only bruifed me extremely, but broke one of my Ribs before I could recover 'my Feet; however, as foon as I got on my Legs once again, I began to fludy Revenge

of John Cockburn, &e. 141

Revenge for the Injury, and whilft I was looking round to fee, if I could come at any Stick or Cudgel, Mr. Rounce, who had been gone on one Side, and knew nothing of this Fray, happen'd to come forward unwarily, and unprepared. Upon which, the Bravoe, flush'd with Succefs, and being refolv'd, as it feem'd, to push his Conquests to the utmost, now as vigorously attack'd him as he had before done us, which luckily gave me an Opportunity to fall upon him in the Rear; for I did not think myfelf bound in Honour to stand upon Ceremony, with one who had allowed me no Quarter. At laft, I feized my Gentleman by the Horns, and pummelled him pretty heartily with my Fift on the Head and Nofe, till the latter ran down with Blood, upon which he began to find he had enough, and feemed inclin'd to retreat; but we refolved not to let him come off fo, and therefore two of us held him, while the other went and got Sticks, and then beat him till he was thoroughly humbled. By this Time came a Negroe, and fome Indian Women that belonged to the House, and led him away to be tied up, and he being well acquainted with

with them, fubmitted patiently to their Difcipline. This Ram was the only Sheep we faw throughout the Country, and I should have had no Occafion to have been forry. had we miss'd the Sight of him. As to my own Part, tho' I laugh'd at the Rencounter as foon as it was over, and have often done fo fince, yet, in the main, I had no Caufe to make a Jeft of it; for I underwent a great deal of Pain on Account of my broken Rib, and particularly at the Time it was fresh, when we were obliged to travel for many Days, over those desperate Mountains of Nicaragua. The Alcald and his Wife were much concerned when they faw me fo bruis'd, and applied what Plaifters and Remedies they knew of to the Parts affected.

WE had now waited here fix Days in Expectation that our Fellow-Traveller Banifter would overtake us, but finding he did not come, we began to give him over for loft, and fo agreed to wait no longer. Accordingly the next Morning we fat out, after paying our Refpects to the Alcald, and his Family, who directed us the Way we fhould of John Cockburn, &c. 143 should take. This is the pleafantest and most fruitful Part of the Country, that we faw between the watery Savanna, and the Foot of the Mountains.

WE spent most of this Day in travelling through a Wood, where was Variety of Fruit, and at last came to a great her which we croffed, and had not gone above a Musket-Shot, before we met with an old Range, which, as Night was approaching, proved a great Conveniency for us to lie in; wherefore, we went directly to feek ior Wood, and then made a good Fire, not forgetting to fill our Calabashes with Water. This Night there happen'd fuch a terrible Storm of Wind, Thunder, Lightning, and Rain, that what with the hidoius Yelling of wild Beafts, and the falling of huge Trees, occafioned by the Storm, a Man would have thought himfelf in another World; however, by Morning the Storm ceafed, but the Rain continued as much as ever, fo that there was no travelling for us. Our greatest Concern now was, that if this Weather held, our Provisions would be all fpent, before we came to the Mountains. We had had two Sorts of Money, one of Plate, and the other of Coco. I told my Companions, that I would put my Coco Money to fuch an Ufe, as would ftand me in more Stead at prefent, than all the Plate the Indies could produce, which was, I faid, to fave my Provisions; and to convince them of what I faid. I went and got three Stones, one of which I put into the Fire, and made it red Hot, and then roafted my Coco Nuts thereon; which done, I ground them, between the other two Stones, till I had worked 'em up into a Pafte, and having contrived to boil Water in a Calabash, which is but a thin Shell, and having got a Mull made of two or three Sticks, which ferved very well for the Purpofe, I made as good Chocolate as a Man would defire to drink. Then all Hands went to work, and did after the fame Manner; fo that, in this Method, we found a double Conveniency, inamuch as we were thereby comfortably regaled, and at the fame time eafed of a troublefome Luggage, which would have proved too weighty for us; whereas, by continuing this Practice, it leffen'd by Degrees, and our Money was no Burthen to us.

AFTER

of John Cockburn, Oc. 145

AFTER this, we went and washed ourfelves at the River, near which were Numbers of Monkies; one we took Notice of in particular, a She-Monkey, that had three young ones, one of which clung about her Neck, and the other two fhe hugged in each Arm one, as a Woman would hold two Children. With thefe fhe fwang from Tree to Tree by her Tail, and at last dropt from a very high Tree to a low one, without making the least Use of her fore Paws. Towards Night, we employed our Time in gathering Wood to keep up our Fire, which was highly neceffary whilft we ftaid here to reft. ourfelves. At this time we met with a Dog, that came and ftood close by us, which made us expect prefently to fee fome Indians, but none came; however, we defir'd nothing more than that the Dog might flay, and keep us Company over the Mountains. We gave him fuch Victuals as we could beft fpare, and the poor Beaft fawn'd, and feemed well content to be with us. Now what makes this Accident remarkable, is, that we had often coveted only to have a Dog to go with us over the Mountains, believing he might prove a good T. Guard.

146 The Diftress and Adventures Guard, or at leaft alarm us, in cafe of any approaching Danger. We must have been stupid not to have admired the Care Providence had of us in this particular.

THE Weather proving fair next Day, we confented to get as near the Mountains as we could, and with that Intent fet out with our Dog. After wading through feveral very bad Savanna's, up to our Middles in Water, about Sun-fet we reached the Foot of the Mountains, where we took up our Abode for that Night, and the next Morning began to afcend one of them; but, by Noon, we found our Provision was grown burthenfom to us, wherefore, to eafe ourfelves fomewhat of the Weight, we fat down and filled our Bellies, not forgetting our Dog, and after that divided every Man his Share to carry himfelf.

THIS Mountain is all over full of Holes and deep Cracks, fo that almost every Step we took, we funk up to our Middles, tho' as near as we could, we followed the Tracks of Mules Feet. At length having got down this Mountain, we came to a River which ran ran between the Mountains, and was very wide and muddy. This we were obliged to wade thro', tho' as we afterward found by Experience, it was as full of Holes at the Bottom as the Mountain we had just pass'd, and as we could have no Marks here to guide our Feet by, I concluded, we fhould all perish before we got out of it. We were feveral Hours labouring with great Difficulty, up to our Necks in Water, and could fee no End to it, nor fo much as find a Refting-place, no not for a Moment; for the Mountains on each Side of us, were exceeding, high and fteep as a Houfe-fide; however, Providence supported us, till at last we found out a Paffage, which led us up between the Mountains.

W E afcended one of them directly, weary as we were, and on the Top thereof found a plain clear Spot of Ground; from whence we faw the burning Mountain of Bombaco, which was not far from us. That Mountain voids great Quantity of fulphureous Matter, and there alfo is found much Pumice-Stone. We believed we could not meet with a better Place than this, to take up

147

148 The Diftreffes and Adventures

up our Night's Lodging at; wherefore we made up a blazing Fire, that we might fit down and reft us, for fleep we durft not, for fear of the Tigers. And now our Dog proved of real Service to us; for nothing could ftir, but he would bark and roar furioufly, which gave us Notice to fland upon our Defence, with Fire-brands in our Hands. Thus, in fhort, we paffed our Nights in Watching and ceafelefs Terror, and our Days in Toil and unfpeakable Labour, and equal Hazard; and thus we went on from Mountain to Mountain, till we had paffed the whole Chain of them; but many times, by fuch Ways and Means, as might feem incredible, if related, at least, to Europeans, for no European ever travelled this Country before us, in the Manner that we did. Sometimes, we were obliged to afcend and defcend the Mountains by Roads or Paths, which were little more than mere Edges of Land, with fuch prodigious Precipices on each Side, that the leaft Slip or Turn of our Feet, would have carried us where we fhould never more have been feen, and very often Mules with their Burthens, if the Ground proves flippery, are loft this Way, tho'

of John Cockburn, Or. 149

tho' they are the most fure-footed Creatures in the World. At other times, when we were not on thefe narrow Ways we were continually alarmed with Tigers, Panthers, Wolves, &c. as well by Day as by Night. And when we had not Fire to defend ourfelves against them, (and had we been Mafters of any Arms before, we could not have burthen'd ourfelves with the Carriage of them at this Time) those Creatures would often stand us at some Distance, and stare at us as in Amaze; we found by Experience, that if we turned off haftily to go from them, they would fteal after us in a lurking Manner, which fhewed, they only waited their own Time to feize us; but, if we turn'd fuddenly and faced them boldly, or advanced towards them, they would feem furprized, and look full in our Faces for fome Time; and then, as tho' not willing to encounter us Face to Face, would make off as hard as they could drive: When we had found out this Way of Dealing with them, it much abated our Fears; but we often pity'd our poor Dog, who was fo jaded and weary'd out, that he could foarcely drag his L 3

his Legs after him; but, for our own Parts, what we endured is inexpreffible; and certain it is, that could we have been truly fenfible of what these Mountains really were, before we undertook to go over them, we should have been fo far from attempting it, that to have been made Lords and Mafters of the Country, with all the Riches contained therein, would not have been fufficient to bribe us to fuch an Undertaking; but every Man of us, would have rather chofe to fit down with the Indians, as contentedly as he could, and have fpent his whole Life after their wild and uncomfortable Manner. True it is, indeed, that both Spaniards and Indians, had often warned us, that it would be impracticable for us to travel over these Mountains, but we vainly imagined, we fhould not meet with the terrible Bugbears they reprefented to us; and as the old Proverb has it, We fancied they made Mountains of Molehills.

BUT not to trouble the Reader with a farther Account of the Particulars of this melancholy Part of our Journey, I fhall only fay, that with infinite Toil and Danger, and of John Cockburn, & 151 and by the Affiftance of God Almighty, we overcame all Difficulty, and at laft got clear of the difmal and inhofpitable Mountains of Nicaragua, and paffed by the Side of a Savanna, on a rifing Ground, where were two Rakes of Mules grazing.

THESE were going over the Mountains, but had been refting here two or three Days, before they undertook the painful Journey we fo much complain of. I asked the Indians with them, how far it was to any Inhabitants? who faid, there were very few in this Part of the Country, and but only here and there a Range, fome ten, and fome twenty Leagues diftant from each other, but that there was one which we might get to before Night.

WE were, at this Time, as defitute of Cloathing as ever, for tho' we had all got Drawers foon after we left St. Michael's, yet, as they were of a poor thin Stuff, they foon wore to Tatters; fo that now we had fcarcely a Rag of them left to cover our Nakednefs. We fpent the whole Day in Search of this Range, but to no Purpofe. Night draw-L 4 ing

ing on, and we being very weary, my Companions proposed, that we should lay us down where we were, and reft till Morning; but my Advice was to go on in Search of Harbour, whilst the Moon continued to fhine, which they at laft agreed to, tho' indeed we were fo exceedingly fatigued, that we thought ourfelves fit only to lie down and die. Towards the Setting of the Moon, a terrible Storm of Thunder, Lightning, and Rain came on ; at which Time, we were on an open Savanna, where was no Shelter, except here and there a few fhrubby Trees; fome of which we crept under, having first made a little Fire of fuch brushy Wood as we could get, which the Storm foon extinguished, and thus we lay till Morning, when we found a Range with two Indians, who feeing our deplorable Condition, made us a good Fire, and gave us hot Milk, which was fuch a Refreshment as we had not met with for many Days paft. This Range is appointed purpofely for the Relief of Travellers, and belongs to a Company of Friars, who keep it always well ftored with Jerked Beef and Milk. Now this is the Method they take to milk their Cows, as well here

as in other Parts of this Country; they go into the Savanna's and catch young Calves, which they bring home and inclose in a Pen, raifed high on Purpose to preferve them from Tigers, and other Beafts of Prey, but leave one Place open for the Cows to get in, who will not fail to come in the Night, and fuckle them. In the Morning they drive them out, and tie a Calf to the fore Leg of each Cow, and whilft fhe is licking her young one, they milk her; but they make little other Use of the Milk, than to get the Cream, which they keep in Calabashes to eat with their Plantains; fo that, if we happened to come any where, when they were milking, they never denied us as much as we could drink. These Indians told us, we might get to Nicoya in ten or fifteen Days, and at parting, gave us as much lerk Beef as we were willing to have. This Meat is in long Slips, and fo dry'd by the Sun to make it keep, that it is hard and infipid as a Stick; whenever we dretfed afterward any of it, we were forced to mash it between two Stones, otherwife we could never have ate it.

Not far from hence is a great River, which we were three Days endeavouring to crofs, but in vain, till the fourth. On the other Side of this River is a great Range, called St. Domingo, where we found a Negroe Man and Woman, who, upon our telling them our Country, profefs'd they loved the Englifb well, but not the Spaniards; and indeed, we found the good Effects of this Difpofition in them, for they behaved wonderfully kind and friendly to us. We ftaid with them one Night, and in the Morning, they directed us to a Place called St. Thomas's, where they faid lived a Spaniard, who was a good Man.

By the Way we faw a Creature hafting towards us, fomewhat refembling a Bear, but very crooked, and of a fandy Colour; and believing he had a mifchievous Defign upon us, we made fhift to kill it with our Sticks. In the Evening we got to St. Thomas's, and met with the Spanish Gentleman, who fully answer'd the good Character given him by the Negroes. Upon hearing our Diftrefs, he prefently order'd his Indians to broit

broil some fresh Beef for us after our own Way, and to make us fome Turtillias, at the fame time, making us the Offer of ftaying with them as long as we pleas'd; and as a farther Mark of his Goodnefs and Charity, he promifed us, that whenever we left him, we fhould not go away empty of Provisions. We staid here two Days, and by that Time were a little refted; but left we should miss of a Bark at Nicoya, bound for Panama, we thought it best to set out from hence, and accordingly took Leave of our kind Benefactor with many Thanks. This Day we paffed by a Range, but could fee no one near it : This Range was open every Way, it being nothing but a Roof made of Cane, cover'd with Leaves, and fupported with four fmall Props. We went on till we came to the great Gulf of Herradura, wherein are many Iflands. As we found there was no Way for us to crofs this Gulf, we refolved to return to the open Range, there to fit a while, and confider what Course we should take; but at our coming thither, we found an Indian Man, who, after a while, put us in the right Way, and by Sun-fet we got to two Whigwams

156 The Diftresses and Adventures

wams that were inhabited. Here we were informed, that a Countryman of ours was, at this Time, in one of these Whigwams, who was come hither with fome Indians from Granada. This proved to be Robert Barnwell, whom we found by the Lake of Nicaragua, near that Town; and who, at our Departure from thence, was in fo feeble a State of Body, that he was not able to undertake the Journey with us. He told us, that after he had recover'd a little Strength, he met with an Opportunity to follow us, with fome Indians, who were to travel this Way, and that he had been endeavouring with them to get over the great River, which vents itfelf into the Gulf of Herradura, but that the Current being very rapid, he fhould undoubtedly have been drowned, had they not faved him; and that afterward, fearing he fhould be farther troublefome to them, they brought him back to this Place, where they had left him, and were now gone on by themfelves; fo that having loft his Guides, he had given over all Thoughts of ever feeing us more, little imagining, that this unlucky Accident, as it feemed to be, fhould prove the Means of what he fo much defired .

defired; and this fhews how difficult it is to judge, what will, or what will not be for our Good ; what we dread the Confequence of most, often proves most for our Advantage; as on the contrary, what we profecute with Eagerness, and the greatest Care and Industry, proves often, upon the Upshot, to be what we ought of all Things to have avoided. Here we lay one Night, but the Place was fo over-run with Vermine, that it was impoffible to fit ftill, or reft one Moment all the Time. The Indians themfelves lie under Pavillions, on Places made of Cane, raifed two Foot from the Ground, and fo clofely wrought, that even a Muskitoe cannot get at them.

AT Day-break next Morning we departed from hence, with our Friend Barnwell, and after taking fome Pains to find out where it was eafieft to crofs the River, we got over it, and came on a Savanna, where we faw great Numbers of large Wolves. By Evening we got to a Range, where we ftaid all Night, but no Sleep could we get in this Part of the Country, becaufe of the Vermine. The next Day, we came among great great Droves of wild Cattle, which the *In*dians, who inhabit hereabout, kill only for their Hides and Tallow, leaving the Carcaffes on the Ground, which are foon devoured by a Sort of Carrion-Crows, as big as our Geefe. There is a Law here, which makes it Death, for any Indian, or other Perfon, to deftroy one of these Crows; for which no Reason can be given, unless they are reckoned a Means of keeping off pestilential Distempers, by devouring up the Carcasses, which otherwise might lie, and putrify, and so infect the Air.

As we went on, we gather'd a Fruit fomething like a Plumb, but very yellow, which grew on Stalks about two Foot high. Having obferved the wild Hogs to be very fond of this Fruit, we made no Scruple to eat freely of it, and found it to have a pleafant lufcious Tafte; but fuch was the Effect it had on us, that our Mouths and Throats were thereby fo fwelled and inflamed, that we could neither eat nor drink for two Days after. At Sun-fet we met with fome Indians, who were killing Cattle, of whom we might have had Beef enough, could of John Cockburn, & 159 could we have eat it; however, we got fome to carry along with us, and the next Day they directed us to go over certain Mountains, whofe Tops (they told us as a Sign to know them by) we could not fee, and then they faid, we fhould get to Nicoya in two or three Days.

THESE Mountains we paffed in two Days, but were all the Way intolerably plagued with a filthy Kind of Vermine, like a Bug, which faften'd on us in Swarms, and fo faftened that we could not fcrape them off with our Knife. We had often been annoy'd with this Sort of Infect before, but not to this Degree, and had it not been for the Indians, who would pick them off us, they would have eaten into our Flefh, and could never have been got out, as they told us.

ON the third Day we arrived at Nicoya, where after we had refted ourfelves awhile, we went to the Alcald Major, and fhewed him our Pafs; who ftraitways inquired how we came into this Country? I told him, and gave him an Account of our Travels, as punctually punctually as I could remember; and, faid I. we are come hither in Expectation of finding a Bark bound for Panama; but he affured us here was none at prefent, nor did he know when any would arrive from thence, and that this being the Seafon of Rains and Storms, he did not expect any till better Weather; but that we might depend on going by the first Opportunity that offered, and this was as much as we could expect. He then order'd an Indian to fhew us to the Covilda, which is a Houfe he has on Purpose to entertain Strangers in, and then fent us fome boil'd Beef, and every Man a Turtillia, and foon after came himfelf, and bid us eat heartily, faying, he had a great Effeem for the English, and fpoke very complaifantly of our Nation; affuring us, at the fame time, that we fhould not want Victuals, or any Thing in his Power, as long as we ftaid with him.

WE had been here two Days, when he fent for the Indian Alcalds, who governed two adjacent Villages, and gave them Charge to entertain us alternately every Day; but, we fuppofed, this was done only to try, either

either their Obedience to his Commands, or to fee how charitable they would be to us; for he fent us no more than once to them, and then we were entertained very civilly. We found the Table fet out in great Order, the Table-cloth being a large green Leaf about twelve Foot long, and five Foot broad. This Leaf grows on a Stalk, about fifteen or twenty Foot high which bears but one Leaf at a Time, and that on the very Top. Then we were ferved every Man, with fome Beef and a Tomala; and after that, they brought us Fruit of feveral Sorts, as ripe Plantains, and Sopotoes, which are a very delicious Fruit. After Dinner we returned to the Alcald, and gave him an Account of the good Reception we had met with, who was well pleafed to find his Orders fo cheerfully obeyed. All the Alcalds Majors we had met with hitherto were Spaniards, but this Gentleman was born in Britany in France, and his Name is Michael de Boyce or du Bois; he keeps an Indian Woman, the Daughter of an Alcald at Costarica, (whether she be his Wife, or not, I can't tell) by whom he has one Child, and it would be the Heighth of In-Μ gratitude, 162 The Diffress and Adventures gratitude, not to own, that she, as well as himfelf, was extreamly kind to us, during our whole Stay with them. The short Account I have given of this Gentleman, may be of satisfaction to his Brother, who (as he told us himfelf) is a Merchant in London.

AT this time Mr. Rounce fell ill again, but was ufed with greater Care and Tendernefs, than could well have been hoped for by People in our Circumftances. Having fpoken of the chief Magistrate of this Town, and of his Generofity towards us, I will now give fome Account of the Town itfelf, and likewife of its Inhabitants.

NICOYA is fituated in a Valley, furrounded by very high Mountains, fo that there is no coming at it, without paffing fome of them; yet no Place affords a more delightful Profpect, or is kept in greater Order and Neatnefs. The Indians fuffer nothing to grow near it, except Fruit-Trees, for fear of harbouring Vermine; and this Method has fo good an Effect, that there is not fo much as a Muskitoe to be feen, or felt in the whole Town, tho' the Mountains above it are covered with Woods. As to the

of John Cockburn, &c.

the People, they are of fo quiet and peaceable a Difposition, and fo free from Noife and Tumult, that a Man might be here whole Days or Weeks, and were it not for feeing them pass by him, now and then, in the Street, or at their Houfes, he would not believe there was an Inhabitant in the Town. Tho' we were here fix Weeks, and often went to their Houfes, and were very converfant with them, I never heard any of them quarrel, or fo much as difpute with one another, but every one feemed calm and eafy, and much inclined to adhere to each other's Advice. They would often come out on Moon-light Nights, and divert themfelves by finging and dancing to their Wind Mufick, which is foft, and not unpleafant. They would frequently ask us to fing and dance with them, which we fometimes did after our Manner, to humour them, and they would laugh heartily at us, and feem very defirous to know the Words as they were uttered in the Songs. The Women would often look on us, wondring at the Whiteness of our Skins (tho' we are none of the faireft, and at that Time tann'd like Gypfies) and would ask us in great Sim-M 2 plicity.

164 The Distreffes and Adventures plicity, if our Women had Skins as white as we; but when we told them, how far they exceeded us in Complection and Perfons, they thought it firange indeed.

WHEN the Women lye-in here, they keep up very close for fome Days, and are not feen by any. Now their Manner of rearing their Children, is to let them crawl about on the Ground on their Hands and Knees, till they are able to rife of themfeves, and while they are young, their Parents take no Pains to teach or inftruct them in any Thing, tho' they are as great Lovers of their Children as any People in the World. Instead of Rattles, Dolls, Tops, and Balls, and fuch other Things as our Children are wont to play with, thefe People give their Children the Heads, Tails, and Paws of wild Beafts to divert them; and this they do, I fuppofe, on Purpofe to ufe them to those Creatures by degrees, knowing they will, in the Courfe of their Lives have Occafion not to be afraid of encountring them. They are a very prudent and chafte People, and have fo great a Regard to Decency and modeft Behaviour, that in all of John Cockburn, &c. 165 all the Time we were here, I never faw a Man fo much as kifs the Lips of a Woman.

WE had been here nineteen Days, when our Fellow-Traveller Banister came into this Town. Providence had fo order'd it, that when he was recovered a little from his Illnefs, he met with fome Indians, who were going over the Mountains of Nicaragua, with a Rake of Mules to Costarica. They finding him to be weak, and left alone to lament his Misfortunes, had the Charity and good Nature, to take him with them on a Mule, not doubting, but they fhould meet with us at Nicoya, as well knowing we could get no nearer to Panama by Land; becaufe, all the Way between here and there, is very mountainous, and but thinly inhabited. We were much pleafed to have our old Friend with us once again, whom we feared we should never more have seen. How many times had we wished to know how his Cafe ftood? and how often did we defpair of fo much as once hearing, whether he was dead or alive > but now our Satisfaction was ge-M 3 neral.

166 The Diftreffes and Adventures neral, inafmuch as we were all fix met together again.

AT this Time was held a great Cantico among the Indians, after the Manner we defcribed at St. Michael's; only I fhall take Notice, that when fuch publick Festivals are kept here, they will carry their Mulick into the Churches, and dance in their Mafquerade Habits, before the Image of the Virgin, by way of doing her Honour : And now I am fpeaking of their Churches, it may not be improper to give a fhort Account of their Manner of burying their Dead here; They lay the Corps on a Sort of Bier, dreffed up, and adorned with Flowers of various Kinds, or whatever the Deceased liked beft when living; then the Body is carried on four Mens Shoulders (being preceded by many playing on Inftruments of Mufick) towards the Church, wherein it is to be interr'd, and is followed by all the neighbouring Indians round about, finging Hymns in Praise of the Dead; when it is laid in the Grave, it is cover'd with a Compolition refembling Lime; the chief Ingredient whereof, is the Dung of certain Birds, which will

will confume it in a very fhort Time. If there be a Prieft, in or near the Place, where the Perfon dies, he performs the Funeral Ceremony; if not, it is done by the Company before the Image of the Bleffed Virgin, to which they pay great Homage, and believe that will do as well.

WHILST we flaid in this Town, we were free from Annoyances of any Sort, except from a Kind of Bird like a Batt, but bigger, and with a long Tail, which conflantly, as we flept o' Nights, would bite little-Pieces of Flesh from us, and particularly from our Feet.

HAVING now been at Nicoya fix Weeks, the Alcald Major acquainted us, that there was a Spanifb Gentleman come from Wattemall to Alberoy, which was but three or four Days Journey from hence, and that he was going to Pueblo Nuevo, which is not above one hundred Leagues on that fide Panama, and that he went with one Canoe and a Piragua; by which means, we that were in Health might get a Paffage, for that he had treated with him on that Score; but that M 4 Mr.

Mr. Rounce, who ftill continued very bad, muft ftay till another Opportunity offered. All our Men, except my felf, had been very ill while we were here, and all but he were now grown better. The next Day the Alcald fent for the reft of us to his Houfe, and after giving us fome Provision and Tobacco, took his Leave of us, in a very courteous Manner, and after we had returned him our humble Thanks, for all the many kind Favours he had beftowed on us, we fet out for the River, where we were to embark.

W E were three Days travelling over high and fteep Mountains, and faw but three Whigwams by the Way; after which, we waded over a Savanna up to our Middles in Water, and at the End of four Days arrived at Alberoy, where we found the Spanifh Gentleman, whofe Name was Quintus Cataline, and his Indians who were making ready the Craft; but the Sails being a little out of Repair, I undertook the next Day to mend them. When all Things were ready, and our Provision laid in, which was Jerked Beef and Indian Corn, Banister, Ballmain, and

of John Cockburn, O'c.

and Holland were appointed to go in the Piragua, and Barnwell and my felf in the little Canoe; but before we fet fail, our three Comrades, who were to have gone in the Piragua, fell fick again; upon which Account Cataline was conftrained to leave them at Alberoy, and fend Notice thereof to the Alcald of Nicoya, that he might take care of them.

IN the Month of October, we fet fail from Alberoy, in our little Canoe, with five Indians to affift us, and were to go in her above three hundred Leagues, in Company with the Piragua. In three Days we fail'd down the River, called Tauro or Bulls, wherein we often faw Alligators above thirty Foot long, and then landed on the Island of Chira. where we waited for a Wind to carry us over the Gulf of Salines. While we staid on this Island, which was three Days, we built ourfelves Ranges, not knowing when the Wind might change; fometimes indeed, we went in our Canoe to another Ifland, not far off called Covalla, to get Plantains, and Pearl Oifters, which as we had but little Corn were our chief Support for fome Time. Having Having roafted a fufficient Quantity of Beef and Plantains, while on the Ifland, to be in Readinefs to take with us, when the Wind fhould ferve; and on the fourth Day the Wind proving fair, we fet fail in order to crofs the Gulf, which is fourteen Leagues broad. Every Man took care of his own Provifion, and we had every one a Hide to lie on; but when it rain'd, we made a Tilt of our Hides, and by that Means kept ourfelves dry.

Now when we thought ourfelves in a fair Way of getting out of our Misfortunes, and were comparing the Happiness of our Condition, with that of our poor Countrymen we had left fick at Alberoy, an Accident befel us, which foon made us think ourfelves the most miferable Men in the World. The very first Night we left the Ifland of Chira, began a Storm which lafted five Days fucceffively; we foon loft Sight of the Piragua, and were all that while toffed about in our little Canoe, and could fee no Land. Having no Compass to fleer our Courfe by, and at laft not a Drop of Water left to drink, our Circumstance was truly deplorable;

plorable; but on the fixth Day, at Sunrife, the Weather proved calm, and then the Indians asked me what they fhould do. I told them, if they would paddle heartily, we should find Land, which I knew we could not fail of, if we made to the Northward, for the Land lay Eaft and Weft, and the Wind was about South Eaft. They followed my Directions, and the next Day we difcovered Land, which the Indians faid was Point Mala, which is a Reef of Rocks running out three Leagues into the Sea; and if we could but get about this, then they faid we should find a fandy Beak, which ran on forty Leagues together, where we might come to a * Killet every Night; and withal, that we might get plenty of Water whenever we pleafed, which as much as any Thing induced us to use our utmost Endeavour to weather this bad Point; but in the very first Attempt we were frustrated, the Wind beginning to blow fo hard, that we were obliged to defift from our Enterprize, and by this one Effort, we faw too plainly into the Difficulties attending fuch an Undertaking to endeavour a fecond, if we could poffibly avoid it; wherefore, we refolved to go back again about ten or fifteen Leagues, to a Place called the Mantoofe, where were no Inhabitants, but a good Harbour for our Canoe; there we went on Shore, and made a good Fire to dry ourfelves, and what Things we had with us; for we were all as wet, as if we had been drenched in the Sea, and our Beef and Corn were almost fpoiled with the falt Water.

WE had two Pettocoes of Cotton Thread in the Canoe, which the Indians were to dye for the Governor of Leon, with a certain Fifh found on the Rocks, which dye it of a very fine Purple, and this Work they went about, while Barnwell and I flaid on Shore to reft us. They make ufe of no Canoe or other Veffel to convey themfelves off to the Rocks, but tie up a Quarter of a Pound, or fome fuch Quantity of Thread in their Hair, and fix a Piece of light Wood crofs their Breafts to keep their Heads above Water, and fo fwim* off to them; this they do, becaufe no Veffel can live among them. Some of

of these Rocks lie half a Mile or a Mile from the Shore, and the Indians can never reft on them half an Hour together for the Breaking of the Sea, which washes them off continually, but then they will lie and float on the Top of the Waves like fo many Corks, without receiving the leaft Damage. Now the Method used to die the Thread is only this, they take the Shell off the Rock where it flicks very faft, and rub it gently on the Thread, and then lay it down again where they found it, with great Care, for they are very cautious of killing the purple Fish. If the Weather proves fair, they will dye their Thread in one Tide, of as fine a Purple as ever was feen, and what will never fade. The Spaniards call it Helo Morado, the lovely Colour, and I have feen the Thread fold among them for twelve Pieces of Eight a Pound, which are twelve Crowns English Money.

WE had now been on Shore four Days waiting for fair Weather, and on the Morning of the fifth, I waked and miffed three of our Indians; upon which, I called out to the Indian Patron, or Pilot, who was afleep, and

and asked him, if he knew any Thing of the three that were miffing; He looked about, and feeing their Bows, Arrows, Nets, and Calabashes gone, cried out, that they were houday, that is, run away. Then he bewailed himfelf grievoufly, that now there were but two Indians and we two Englishmen left, we should not be able to manage the Canoe; but I told him, we had no Way left but to use our Endeavours, and that if we got our Things fpeedily into the Canoe, and bestirred ourfelves heartily, we might poffibly come up with the Piragua. This Advice was approved, and we went ftraitways to Work, and filled up our little Veffel, and then failed away as fast as the Wind would carry us; but inftead of coming up with the Piragua, we fell foul of Punta Mala again, and there our Project ended, but not without our trying many Experiments to weather it, which all proved ineffectual; fo that now we were forced to get on Shore, at a Place called the Legator, where we found a Range, but no People. We staid here three Days, in which Time, my Countryman Barnwell, and one of the Indians, fell fick; upon which, we found ourfelves

ourfelves under a Neceffity of returning back to Nicoya, in order to get more Indians to our Affiftance. We made fhift to get back to Alberoy in our Canoe, where we left it, and were five Days after travelling from thence to Nicoya; for the Savanna's were fo overflowed by this time, that when we were not fcrambling up and down, we were all the while Breaft high in Water.

THE Nicoyans were greatly furprized to fee us enter their Town a fecond Time, imagining, we had ere now got to Pueblo Nuevo, and little expecting ever to fee us again; but as our Bufinefs was with the Alcald Major only, we went directly to him, and in the first Place, gave him an Account of our Misfortunes in the Canoe, at which he feemed much concerned; and when we told him, how the three Indians had deferted us in the Midft of our Trouble, he flew into a violent Rage, vowing, that if ever he catched them, he would have them hang'd for their Infidelity. After this, my chief Concern was to know how my four Countrymen fared, whom I fupposed to be under the Alcald's Care, wherefore, when he had recovered vered a little from his Paffion, I inquir'd after them, but he told me, they were not with him; for that, as foon as they were able to travel, he had an Opportunity of fending them all together in a Bark to Panama, and that he wifhed we had been fo fortunate as to have ftaid and gone along with them, for that he did not know when he might meet with fuch another Conveniency; but that, if we were willing to fet out again in the Manner we did before, he would order more Indians to go with us. We gladly accepted the Offer, and fo refolved to wait till we could have Things in Readinefs for our fecond Voyage.

THE Indian Woman, who was Wife or Miftrefs to the Alcald Major, was alfo much concerned, when fhe heard of our late Miffortunes. She had been a good Benefactrefs to me all the Time of our being here before, and often gave me comfortable Things for my Companions that were fick, with whom it muft have gone much harder than it did, had it not been for her. She was, as I faid before, the Daughter of an Indian Alcald at Coftarica, and had a Sifter, who was

was a handfom young Woman, and a good Fortune; and when I was in this Town before, the had frequently urged me to fettle here, and would be often talking in high Commendation of this young Woman her Sifter; and in fhort, gave many Hints, that fhe fhould be well pleafed to have me marry her; but I always turned a deaf Ear to fuch Difcourfes. She now did me the Honour to make me the Offer of being her Brother-in-Law, in Terms too plain to admit of any Evalion; and as the Propofal was not difadvantageous to one in my Circumftances, and made by one from whom I had received many Favours, I knew not how to behave in the Affair, nor what Anfwer to give. The only Way I could think of, to come off without giving Offence, was to tell her, that as I could not forefee fo great a Bleffing was in Store for me, I had been fo unhappy as to put myfelf out of the Capacity of receiving it, and that as I had actually left a Wife and Children in England; I, upon that Account, was bound by the Chriftian Church, not to enter into other Engagements of that Nature; which, I hoped, would fufficiently plead my Excufe N 178 The Diftreffes and Adventures Excuse to the young Lady, whose Merits were far beyond my Hopes, had I had the Liberty of Choice. She seemed fatisfied with this Answer, and continued as much my Friend as ever.

I WAS not fo vain as to think, that this Offer was made me through any particular Liking to my Perfon; but it is well known, the Indian Women are very fond of marrying White Men; and it is to be obferved, that all our Men except myfelf were fick at the Time of the Propofal. After a Stay of fix Days, this fecond Time of our being here, the Alcald Major ordered the Indians whom he had appointed to go with us, to get Mules ready to carry us down to Alberoy, it being impoffible to travel on Foot, the Savanna's were fo overflowed; which done we took Leave once more of the Alcald and his Lady, and fet out for Alberoy, where we arrived in five Days; but had the Misfortune (after a Storm of Thunder and Rain) to lofe an Indian by the Way, in croffing a Run of Water, which became fo rapid by the Falls from the Mountains, that we could neither lave him, nor the Mule he rode on.

THE next Day after we came to Alberoy, we embarked in our little Canoe, with five Indians, and fuch Provision as the Alcald Major had again furnished us with, and in fix Days afterwards got about those dangerous Rocks of Point Mala, which we had endeavoured to do four times before, but could not accomplish. Then we fail'd, or, when the Weather prov'd calm, paddled along Shore, and were fometimes two or . three, and fometimes four or five Days, before we could come to a Harbour; but when we did, we went on Shore and made a Fire, and fet up a Whigwam, where the Indians would leave us to take care of the Canoe, while they went to the Woods to hunt for Provision. Sometimes they would be gone a whole Day, and return in the Evening loaded with Plantains and Coco Nuts, or any Thing elfe they could meet with, and when we were thus provided, we took to our Canoe again and failed along Shore, the Indians often killing wild Fowl from the Canoe. After going on in this Manner for fome time, we came at last to a Place called the Capaces, where we faw feyeral Indians - N 2 on on Shore, but durft not venture ourfelves amongst them; for our Indians were very much afraid of them, as knowing 'em to be of those People called the Indians at War, on Account that the Spaniards were never able to conquer them, and who still retain their ancient Freedom, and continue at mortal Enmity with the Spaniards, nor is their Animofity much lefs to those who live in Subjection to them. Now we were driven to fo great a Strait, that we knew not what Courfe to take: We wanted Water exceedingly, and could no Way fubfift without it, but then we durft not go on Shore for fear of those People; however, I propos'd to our Indians at last, that if they would go on Shore, I would go with them, and talk to those Indios Bravos, as the Spaniards call them. This, two of them confented to do, and accordingly fwam on Shore with me; but we were no fooner landed, but the People we had fo much feared, came and fhook Hands with me, asking of what Country I was? and when I told them I was an Englishman, they hugg'd me in their Arms, with many Tokens of Friendship, and then led me to their Whigwam, where they fpread 'Tigers

Tigers Skins for me to fit on, and brought out roafted Plantains and Honey, and gave us many Demonstrations of a hearty Welcome; repeating to me often, that they loved the English, but hated the Spaniards. At first, I could not conceive from whence their Singularity of Behaviour towards me proceeded, nor how they came to make fo great a Diflinction between the English and Spaniards, fuppofing they had never been converfant with either; but at laft, I heard them mention the Name of Clipperton, and then my Wonder ceafed; for I recollected, that I had heard much of one Capt. Clipperton, a noted English Privateer, who used to frequent thefe Indians, and by Means of a ftrict Correspondence with them, been a conftant Plague to the Spaniards in thefe Seas. The Spaniards would often upbraid us, and fay, that we were fome of Clipperton's Crew, and that inftead of being relieved, we ought to be punished.

THESE Indios Bravos were making themfelves a Sort of Cloathing of the Bark of Trees, which is foft and durable, as any Cloth; they made me a Prefent of two N 3 Pieces

Pieces of it, one of which was as large as a fizeable Bed-Blanket, and the other I made into a Jacket. This Stuff was the most useful Thing I could have met with; for it ferved me not only for a Covering by Day, but alfo to wrap me in on Nights, which laft Conveniency was what none of us had ever met with in this Country, and for the Want of which we were almost flead alive with Heat and Vermine. This ferviceable Gift, was much diminished before I came to England, having given Part of it away to feveral Perfons, to whom I had Obligations, and who defired to have Pieces of it to keep by them as a Curiofity; but I have still a Remainder of it left.

THESE were the only Indians we faw, that made use of any Covering for their Bodies; and these, as to the Fashion of their Garments, are not fantastical, nor so much as think of Colours, Trimmings, or Exactness of Shape, but are content with only making a Hole in a Piece of this Bark Stuff, so as to put their Heads through, and let one Part hang down before, and the other behind; nay, the Women themselves here make make fo flender an Account of Drefs, that they will only take a Piece of this fame Bark, and wrap it round their Bodies, fo as to cover their Breafts, and to hang down to their Knees. In the fhort time we staid here, I faw a Funeral Ceremony, which was performed thus, after the Heathen Manner of these People, who have no Notion of Christianity: In the first Place, they cover'd the Body with Leaves, and then placed a large Quantity of Wood about it, which when they had fired, the Company, which was pretty numerous, join'd Hands and furrounded the Pile, and never ceafed finging and dancing till the Wood and Body were both confumed; after which, they dug a Hole in the Earth, and bury'd the Ashes.

AFTER a Stay of two or three Days here, I took leave of thefe People commonly called Indians at War, who entertained me fo peaceably and courteoufly, that I have Reafon to ftile them, as well as others, Indians at Peace; but before we departed, we got as much Water as our Calabashes would hold, and roassed as many Plantains as lasted us three Days after; for N 4 they they will not keep longer : Then we took to our Canoe, and fteered our Courfe along Shore, about Eaft North Eaft, and the next Morning found ourfelves on the great Gulf of Herradura, in which are many Islands; one of these we faw, had a subterraneous Paffage like a regular well-built Arch, which the Indians told us ran quite through it, and that if we would venture ourfelves and the Canoe that Way, which was but one League, we fhould by that Means fave twenty. I defired to know, if any of them had ever been through it, and one of them told me he had twice, and that the Current which was very ftrong, always ran the Way we were to go, but that, indeed, we should be all in Darkness. Upon weighing the whole Matter, we concluded to venture through it, and accordingly fet in our Canoe, and drove away with wonderful Swiftnefs. We were about half an Hour in our Paffage; but (as I faid upon a different Occafion) a Man would have thought himfelf in another World. We had total Darknefs for the Time, and fuch a terrible Roaring did the Water make in this Cavity, as would have daunted the flouteft Man living; and

and I muft confefs, I began to fufpect, that the Indian who pretended to know this Way, had only deceived himfelf and us, and that we fhould never fee the Light of the Sun again; for I well knew we could not return the fame Way we came; but it proved otherwife, and I begg'd his Pardon. After this, we paffed another Ifland the fame Way, which was not above a Musket-Shot through; we felt on the Sides in paffing both of them, and found them to be fmooth as Glafs, which undoubtedly was occafioned by the great Force of the Water. By thefe fhort Cuts, we made fuch Expedition, that we croffed this great Gulf in three Days.

THE next Day we went on Shore to reft ourfelves, and to get fresh Water; but in the first Place we made a Fire, and fell to cutting down Bamboes to make a Whigwam, while the Indians went out to hunt for Provifions; but before they returned, my Countryman Barnwell was taken fo violently ill, that I thought he would have inftantly died; on this Account, we staid here two Days, hoping he might recover, but instead of mending, he grew rather worse in that Time,

THEY

186 The Diftreffes and Adventures

THEN the Indians advised, that we should take him down to the Canoe, and fleer away to a Place about ten Leagues off, where they faid we might get Plantains, for here were none to be had. Accordingly, we imbarked with our fick Companion, but met with fuch terrible bad Weather in this Voyage, as I believe greatly contributed to end his Days. As we were paddling along Shore we faw five Indians, four Men and one Woman, a little Way up the Land. We put in here, and carried my poor Countryman on Shore, who was now fpeechlefs, and almost expiring. I was greatly afflicted to fee him thus in a dying Condition, which I knew was hurry'd on by the late Hardships we had undergone. This poor young Man, weak and ill as he had been a long Time, had nevertheless been exposed, with the reft of us, to all Extremities of Weather, Hunger, Thirft, and Watchings, and was ftill fo unfortunate, as to fall thus fick in a Place where no Relief could be had, tho' thefe a Indians, after the usual Manner of that People, afforded us all the Affiftance in their Power.

WHILE

of John Cockburn, &c. 187

WHILE we staid here waiting the Event of this his Sickness, an Accident happen'd to the Woman, which had like to have coft her her Life. She going out one Day upon fome Occafion into the Woods, a great Tree fell fuddenly upon her, and bruifed her terribly. Her Husband, who was not far off, hearing her fcream out, ran and called his Companions, who ftraitways went to her Affistance, and got her from under the Tree, and then carried her to their Range, almost dead. Upon Examination, we found her Head to be the most hurt, for the Skull was feemingly dented in, in feveral Places; wherefore, I immediately cut off her Hair, that we might the more eafily infpect the Wounds, and apply the beft Things we could get toward healing them. This Method with the Remedies we applied, had fo good an Effect, that she grew much better while we staid here, and all the while acknowledged herfelf indebted to me for the Cure ; and as fhe could make me no other Recompence for the Service I had done her, fhe defired me to accept of her Head of Hair which I had cut off, and which, in her Opinion, was no contemptible temptible Prefent. Indeed, I was very well pleas'd with the Reward, and it being a Curiofity of the Kind, I was afterwards at a great deal of Pains to preferve it among other little Things in my Nets, and have brought it with me to England.

THIS Hair is very long and of great Strength, is of a Jet Black, and both to the Sight and to the Touch differs much from that of other Women. The Owner used to wear it, as the Generality of the Indian Women do, loofely flowing on her Shoulders. One Evening, the Men, who had been out a Hunting that Day, brought with them two Boars, or Creatures, very like them in every respect, except that they had Tusks much refembling a French Horn, and each of them two Navels, one in the ufual Place of other Creatures, and the other opposite to it on the Back. Thefe five Indians had been here fome time getting Gold, which the Rain washed down from fome Mountains hard by; which Gold fo acquired, goes, for the most Part, to the King of Spain; but what remains of it to themfelves, they generally lay out in Masheets, which are the most useful Things of John Cockburn, &:c. 189 Things they can purchafe, being frequently obliged to cut their Way as they travel thro' the Woods.

THE Weather had been very ftormy all the Time of our being here, but was now fettled to a Calm, upon which our Indians began to prepare for fetting out in the Canoe, being determined not to flip this favourable Change of Weather; but the Grievance was, there was no Poffibility of moving my Countryman Barnwell, who was ftill alive, tho' I every Moment expected to fee him refign his Breath ; whofe Lofs I the more regretted, inafmuch as I should thereby be deprived of all Society and Converfation with my native Companions and Fellow-Sufferers: The Enjoyment of which, had hitherto been my greateft Confolation, amidst all our Sufferings; but even this Confideration did not afflict me like that of being conftrained to leave him, before his Eyes were closed, in a Place where I knew no Help could be got, tho' the Indians, who had entertained us here, had promifed me to take the best Care they could of him. whether he fhould live or die. Then, as the

the Time would permit me to ftay no longer, I took a forrowful Leave, with many melancholy Reflections concerning the hard Fate of this unfortunate young Man, who had been a defpairing Wanderer in this Country five Years before he met with us, and had fince followed us thus far, with great Difficulty and Hazard of his Life, as he was not in a State of Health, nor had Strength of Body to undergo the Hardships he met with, and this only with a View of feeing his Friends and Country once more; but that after all his Toil, all his Labour and Sufferings, he should be cut off from what he had fo earneftly and justly defired, feem'd to me the Hardeft of Fate.

BEING now embarked in the Canoe, the Indian Patroon who was fent with us, by way of Pilot, on these Coasts, faid, that the nearest Harbour we could come to was Golfo Dolce, which was thirty Leagues from this Place. In fix Days after we made the Island of Caino, but the Wind turning against us, and our Provision and Water being spent, we agreed to row in for the Shore as near as possible; and when we came to an Anchor, three three Indians and myfelf took each of us a Mafheet, and fwam on Shore, and then fell to cutting down Coco Nuts, which grew by the Sea-fide. No fooner had we got as many as we thought we could conveniently fwim off with, but the Wind began to blow hard, and immediately fo great a Sea rofe on the Beach, that we could no Way get off to the Canoe, but were obliged to remain where we were that Night, it being Evening when we landed here.

As it grew dark, the Tigers began to make an hideous Roaring about us, and the Misfortune was, we could find no Wood to make a Fire; or could we have had one ever fo big, the Rain, which fell at this Time with great Impetuofity, would foon have extinguished it; fo that we had only our Masheets to defend us from the voracious Maws of thefe Creatures, who foon got Scent of us, and were coming towards us in a full Body. We did not ftay for them, but immediately took to our Heels; but as we were prevented by the Storm from having Recourse to the Sea, we very nimbly mounted the first high Tree we came at. They made halt for a fhort a fhort Space, till at laft the most forward of them had the Boldness to advance fo near, that one of the Indians flooping forwards cut off his Fore-Paws with his Masheet, upon which he dropt from the Tree roaring most dreadfully. Hereupon they one and all fell to tearing him Limb from Limb, and difposed of his Carcass in fuch a Manner, that there was not the leaft Bit of him to be feen by Morning. We did not expect. that this would put a Stop to farther Attempts on us, and therefore fat prepared, as well as we could, against a fecond Attack; but the Uproar continuing all Night among themselves, they took no more Notice of us; nevertheless, often did we wish to fee the Rifing of the Sun, which we knew would difperfe both them and our Fears. I underflood from the Indians, that it is the Nature of these Tigers, whenever they find any of their own Species wounded or difabled in an Engagement, (which is often the Cafe) to ferve them in this Manner.

THE next Day the Weather proving fair, towards Evening we got to our Canoe, the poor Indians we left in her being greatly rejoiced

rejoiced to fee us again, having given us over for loft. We rowed hard all that Night, and the next Day made the Point of Burica, about which is Golfo Dolce, but the Wind blowing very hard at South Weft, we could not poffibly weather it; upon which, the Indians endeavoured to get to a Place on this fide the Point, where we might fhelter our Canoe; but before we reached it, the Wind encreafed, and drove us among Rocks and prodigious Breakers; fo that in lefs than an Hour's Time our Canoe was flove all to Pieces, and we every one caft into the Sea; but thro' which, we got fafe on Shore, having made shift to preferve all our little Necessaries. This being the Cafe, we had now nothing to truft to but our Feet, and what Service they would of be to us at this Time (I mean as to being able to fupport us to our Journey's End) I could not conceive. The Indians protefted, they were fo unacquainted with this Part of the Country, that they knew no Way of travelling but along the Seafide, and faid, that we had many Leagues to go up the Gulf, before we fhould be able to crofs it; and fo indeed I found we had, for we walked, I believe, fifty Leagues af-' terwards.

194 The Diftresses and Adventures terwards by the Side of it, without feeing the leaft Poffibility of croffing, nor did we meet with one human Creature by the Way. Indeed, we did not want Subfiftance, becaufe the Indians can always help themfelves that Way; for with their Bows and Arrows they never fail to kill any Beaft, Fowl, or Fish, they come near. We went on still, till we came to a fine fresh River, which vents itself into the Gulf, over-against two Mands which lye partly in the Middle of it, the Gulf being twenty Leagues over. I proposed, that we should stay here near the River, and make a Balfe as the Indians call it, to transport ourfelves off to one of the Islands; from whence, we might with more Eafe attain the main Land on the other Side the Gulf. This they agreed to do; but in the first Place, we fell to making a Whigwam, to fhelter ourfelves in while we were at work, and having finished that, we began our Balfe, which was made after this Manner.

HAVING fought out five fmall Trees, about twenty Feet long, we laid them together Side by Side, and with two others of a fmal-of John Cockburn, &c. 195 a fmaller Size, which we laid crofs the Ends of them, lashed them together very ftrongly; after which we took a Couple more, which we laid along the Sides of our Balfe, fastning each End of them, to each End of those two which went a-cross, which last faved us from being washed off, and likewife ferved us to row on; the Whole being lafhed and bound together, with Ropes, which Nature afforded us in great Plenty, and which were only long Strings that grew on the Branches of high Trees, and hung down to the Ground, being very pliable, and when a few of them are twifted together, make a Rope ftronger than any hempen one of the Size. Juft when we had finished our Balfe, and were thinking to launch off, the Weather began to grow very bad, which detained us here feveral Days after our Work was ended; in which Time we met with ten Indians, who had been likewife making a Balfe, and were going a hundred and fifty Leagues farther up the Gulf, to the Town of Burica, of which they were Inhabitants. They proffered to take us along with them. but our Indians refused the Offer, because their Balfe was unwieldy, and would go but O 2 few few Miles a Day. At last, when the Weather cleared up, having got Plenty of Fifh, and fuch other Provisions, as the Indians had met with; and the Moon being in the Full at this Time, we took that Opportunity, and ftraitways lafhed ourfelves and all we had down to the Balfe, and fo rowed off, every Man having made his own Oar. The Weather continuing pretty fair, in three Days we made one of the Islands, where we staid one Day to rest us, and in two Days after arrived on the other Shore, greatly rejoiced at our fafe Landing; for had we not used the Precaution to lafh ourfelves to the Balfe, we had undoubtedly been washed off.

THE first Thing we did upon our coming to shore, was to make a Whigwam; which done, the five Indians took up their Massets to go a Hunting as usual, and defired me to have a good Fire ready against they returned. As soon as they were gone I fell to work, and made my Fire accordingly, and laid me down by it very contentedly, till finding they staid longer than ordinary, I began to grow fomewhat uneasy, tho' I hardly knew for what Reason;

of John Cockburn, &c. 197

Reafon; but, however, to pafs away the Time, and drive melancholy Thoughts out of my Mind, which I found were crowding in upon me, I got up and employed my Time in gathering Wood to laft us all Night-Thus I went on with a heavy Heart, till the Sun went down, and Darknefs came on apace, and no Indians appeared: This threw me into a dreadful Conflict, as would have been the Cafe of any other Man, who like me had fufpected himfelf to be abandoned and forfaken in the moft defolate Part of this wild Country; where, as I had been well informed, were no Inhabitants for fome Hundreds of Miles round me.

Ar first I knew not what to think would become of me, nor indeed whether I thought at all; but when I reflected on the constant good Nature of these People in general, I could not think these capable of so great a Cruelty, as voluntarily to leave me thus destitute and alone, furrounded with Terrors, and exposed to Variety of Sufferings; so that, I began to fear they had been furprised and devoured by some wild Beasts, which immediately ushered in a Hope, that, per-O 3 haps, haps, they were only detained by them, as we had been before in the Tree, and that if fo, I should certainly fee them again in the Morning. Thus between Hopes and Fears I spent that Night; but as foon as the Sun arofe, not having Patience to wait longer, I got up, and followed the Tracks of their Feet for above a Mile, till I came to a great River, where I loft them. Then concluding they had crofs'd this River, I refolved to do fo too in farther Search after them; but hearing a great Noife of Tigers on the other Side, and knowing they would take into fresh Waters, I ran full Speed back again to my Fire by the Sea-fide, where I fat waiting two whole Days and Nights afterwards, earneftly offering up my Vows for their fafe Return; but, alas! never more did I fet Eyes on them.

THUS after a long Series of Misfortunes and Miferies in Company, did I find myfelf at laft fingled out from all my unfortunate Companions, to be the moft forlorn and hopelefs of them all; being, as it feemed, pointed out by Providence, to be caft from the Face of all Mankind, on a Track of Land, where

I faw not the leaft Profpect of getting any Thing to fupport Life. Amidft all our former Fears, Toils, and Sufferings, when they happen'd in common with my Fellow-Travellers, and that we were ready at Hand to advife with, and affift each other; I may truly fay, that my Spirits never once failed me; but how did I bitterly lament my now most calamitous Circumstance! At last, by God's Grace, I fo far prevailed with myfelf, as to recollect fome imall Share of Refolution, that I might not fuccumb through any Fault of my own, wholly relying on the Concurrence of Heaven to affift me in what it might be my Fate to go through.

HAVING thus fortified myfelf as well as I could, when all Hopes of ever feeing my poor Indians were quite extinguished and gone, I refolved to travel along the Sea-fhore while Life remained, or till God Almighty fhould otherwife difpose of me; but at my Departure from this fatal Place, beholding the Whigwam, and reflecting on those who help'd to raise it for our common Conveniency, I could not refrain from burfting forth into fresh Lamentations, and partly in 200 The Diftreffes and Adventures in the Words of the Scripture, cry'd out, That furely fome evil Beaft had devoured them, and that those my Guides and faithful Companions were without Doubt rent in Pieces.

AFTER taking this forrowful Leave of the Place of my Abode, I threw my Nets a-crofs my naked Shoulders, and departed. All the Provision I had, was a few Plantains that remain'd of those we got on the Ifland, where we refted in croffing Golfo Dolce. I took care to keep as close to the Sea as poffible, believing no wild Beaft would venture to attack me near it : And this I have Reason to believe, for one Day having ftray'd a little from the Sea-fide, I obferved a Tiger (who, I fuppofe, had dog'd me for fome time) fculking first behind one Tree and then another, and as it were ready to take a Spring, and feize me as a Cat does her Prey; but upon difcovering his Defign, I immediately ran and threw myfelf into the Sea, and at the fame time observed him to be as expeditious in retiring into the Woods, by which I plainly faw that he was, in Reality, afraid to come near the of John Cockburn, &c. 201 the Sea; fo that my Fears of those Creatures were thereby much leffen'd, having the Sea to defend me by Day, and Fire by Night.

I ATE fo very fparingly of my Plantains, left I fhould never come at more Food, that I foon grew fo weak as fcarcely to be able to ftand on my Legs; neverthelefs in a fhort Time, they were all confumed, and I durft not go from the Sea to feek for other Provision.

I NOW began to fall into as great Defpondency as ever, and, I believe, every one will think it was not without Caufe in this Particular; however, I ftill kept moving on, for I could not bear the Thoughts of fitting down to ftarve, while I was able to fupport myfelf on my Feet, tho' I faw no Poffibility of preferving my Life. 'Thus I went drooping along, till it pleafed God to bring me to a Place on the Beach, where grew abundance of Coco Nuts; I prefently pluckt fome of them down, and therewith allay'd my Hunger; but as I had little Reafon to expect I could travel many Leagues,

202 The Distresses and Adventures

Leagues, and be ftill thus fupply'd, fo I contrived to pack up as many of them as I could carry, and take along with me. Here the Sun darted on me with fo fcorching a Heat, that I was forced to be continually running into the Sea to cool me, and every Evening before it fet, I was employed in making my Fire, here being Plenty of Wood along the Coaft, which had come down the Rivers, and was thrown back again by the Sea, on the Shore where it lay and dry'd.

THIS Wood blazed like a Heap of Torches, and tho' it rain'd hard every Night, yet my Fire never went out but twice all the Time of my being alone : This Part of the Coaft was clear of Rocks, and the Beach a fine black Sand which fparkled like Diamonds, having great Variety of fine Shells fcatter'd over it.

As I was walking along one Day, in a very contemplative Manner, I happen'd to fee a Range before me, which much revived my drooping Spirits, as I hop'd fpeedily to meet with fome Indians; but upon my coming up to it, I found myfelf miftaken, for not not a Creature was there. I faw many Prints of Mens Feet about the Range, and within it I found a String of Tigers Teeth, which, I fuppofe, the Indians who had lived here, had forgot to take along with them when they left the Place, for here were all the Signs of its being forfaken : These Teeth I have brought home with my other little Things. Here I staid, and made a Fire to burn off the hard Coats of my Coco Nuts, and found that to be the quickeft Way; for I had been employ'd many Hours before, in dashing them against sharp Stones to get their Coats off; and befides, I found, that after I used this Method, the Nut was much wholefomer for the Body than before. I flatter'd myself with Hopes, that, perhaps, the Indians might return again to their Range; wherefore, I took up my Night's Lodging in it, with that View.

IN the Morning I took Notice of a Heap of Sand, which had ferved me for a Pillow while I flept. This I raked up, and found underneath it twelve ripe Plantains; but what different Transports feized me at this unexpected Sight! Inexpressible Joy for that Providence 204 The Distress and Adventures

Providence had made this Referve towards the Prefervation of my Life, which feemed, at this Time, to be on the Point of forfaking me, for want of proper Nouiishment, and, on the other Hand, extreme Grief and Remorfe; for that, after I had fo long and greatly experienced the Mercies of God towards me, I should still persist in my Defpondency, and forgetting all paft Benefits, be ever in Doubt of his future Protection. After I had refreshed myself with one of thefe ripe Plantains, which is of much higher Nourishment than a green one, I then made a ftrict Search after more, remembring, that the Indians frequently bury them in the Sand to ripen; but tho' I found no more, I hope, I was not unthankful for those I already had. While I flaid here, the Moon being in the Full, I faw abundance of large Turtles come on Shore one Night to lay. These Creatures use the greatest Artifice imaginable to conceal their Eggs; they come to the Top of the Beach at low Water, and dig a Hole about four Feet deep, and there lay 100 or 150 Eggs at one Time; after which, they will cover them up fo nicely, that the Place where they lie shall be as fmooth fmooth as any other Part of the Ground round about; fo that no one, except he faw them in the Action, could have the leaft Token whereby to find their Eggs. When they have done thus, they will go a little Way off, and make up a Hill or two of Sand, where they lay no Eggs, and by that Means deceive the Searcher; but when I was let into their Secrets, I often proved too cunning for them, and would make bold with their hidden Treafures.

THESE Eggs I could roaft quickly in the Sand, which, by the conftant Heat of the Sun upon it, glowed like a Furnace. Having waited here four Days, and finding no Body came, I faw it was in vain to ftay any longer in Expectation of Company, and fo fet forward once more, while I thought my Plantains might be of Service to me, and left the Coco Nuts, which I found on the Beach, fhould fail.

AFTER my Departure from hence, I went on Day by Day, with little Hope of ever feeing the Face of Mankind more, a dreadful Apprehenfion, which, with many others, I bore conftantly conftantly in my Mind, drove me almost befide myfelf; nor was all the Courage and Refolution, which I fometimes began to think I had acquired, of any Significance to allay my Fears, no more than was the thorough Refignation, which I fometimes prefumed to think I had made to the Will of God, of any Force to expel my Doubts of his Mercies yet to come. Thus have I been convinced by woeful Experience of the little Knowledge we have of ourfelves.

IT was almost Sun-fet one Day when I came to the Side of a River, where was Plenty of Wood, of which I made up two great Fires, and placed myfelf between them; for I had been dog'd by two Tigers all the Day long, but I had kept close to the Sea; and whenever I perceived them making towards me, I plung'd myfelf into it, and by that Means avoided them. The next Morning, I faw great Numbers of Alligators lie fleeping on the Sands, as I had done many times before in travelling round great fandy Bays. I had often heard fay, that thefe Creatures will feize a Man on Land, but I never found that they endeavoured to make any any Attempts upon me; on the contrary, as foon as they heard the Patting of my Feet on the Sand, they would make off with great Precipitation into the Water. This River, which I was now about to crofs, was very full of them; but, I thank God, none ever hurt me. In fwimming over this River, I miraculoufly efcaped drowning; for the Current ran with fuch Force, as drove me out a great Way to Sea among Rocks and Breakers, where I lay beating and dashing about a confiderable Time; and in that Condition, could not possibly preferve my Nets and Bull-hide-Cafe, which held my Fireworks, my Knife, and what other fmall Implements I had, befides my Provision. All these therefore I lost; but it was my good Fortune, after all this, to get fafe on Shore on the other Side the River; where being again on my Feet, I reflected on the Lofs I had juft fuftain'd, by which all that I had to depend on in this World was gone, and fell into the utmost Sorrow and Despair. I bethought myfelf now, that I could have no more Fires, either for my Conveniency or Defence; in fhort, the Apprehenfion of the difmal Calamities, that must unavoidably

208 The Diftreffes and Adventures bly fall on me through this irretrievable Lofs, fixed me down to the Earth motionlefs as a Stone; fo that I judged it utterly unneceffary to turmoil my weaken'd Body any more, and therefore took a Refolution to fit flill here, and receive my Fate, whether it were that I fhould be torn in Pieces by wild Beafts, or whether I fhould perifh to Death with Hunger.

THUS I fat expecting a fpeedy Diffolution of my miserable Life; when, about Noon, to my great Aftonishment, my Nets, with all they contained, were brought fafe on Shore to me by the Waves. How much Caufe had I then to praife the Giver of all Things ! and how was I afterward transported to find, that none of my Necesfaries were wanting or damaged, for my Cafe had kept them all dry ! for, by way of Caution, I made it of a Hide when I was at Nicoya, before I fat out on the unfortunate Expedition in the Canoes, which I many times bitterly repented of, and attributed all my prefent Misfortunes to my too great Impatience of getting home to my own Country : Whereas, had I contented myfelf to

to have flaid with my fick Companions, and have fhared their Fortune, I might have imbarked with them for Panama, and have prevented myfelf an infinite deal of Suffering; but the only Thing I can plead in Excufe for my hurrying away, was, that I believed they would not allow us all to go in one Veffel, and that it would be very uncertain, when those that fhould be left behind, might have an Opportunity to follow them that fhould go before : But enough of this.

I SHALL now return to the Thread of my Narration. Since Providence had thus reftored to me my Utenfils and Provifion, I was not backward to employ them to the proper Ufes for which they were afforded me. I prefently made up a good Fire, and fat down by it to regale myfelf with my Plantains and Coco Nuts; but with much more Cheerfulnefs and Thankfgiving than I had done before I was made thoroughly fenfible of the Want of them. Here I took care to make frefh Tinder of wild Cotton, which grows plenteoufly in thefe Parts. Having refrefhed myfelf two or three Hours, I P

began

began to think it high Time to depart, and accordingly took up my Nets and fet forward; but here was terrible travelling, for the Ground was very rocky, and fo full of fharp Stones, that I could not fet one Foot before another without being cut.

I NOW began to draw near fome very high Cliffs, and a Point of Rocks which ran out a long Way into the Sea, which was continually beating over it; and about Sunfet I came up clofe to it, but when I faw the Sea breaking over it, as we fay, Mountains high, I found it would be impoffible for me ever to get round it, unlefs it were in a ftark Calm; however, by the Time it was dark I made shift to fcramble up to the Top of a very fleep Rock, where grew a Tree. This feem'd a very convenient Situation for me to take up my Abode in; for from hence, I could fee when an Opportunity offered to get round the Point, and be all the while fhelter'd in the Tree; wherefore, I mounted it directly and there fat all Night. At Sun-rife the next Morning, the Weather proved fomewhat moderate, which incouraged me to go down, and make an Attempt

Attempt to get round the Point, but could not accomplifh it by any Means; for by this Trial I had like to have been dafhed to Pieces against the Rocks, fo that I was very glad to defift, and return back to my Tree.

BEFORE I came to this Place, I had been thirty-three Days alone, and having waited three Days and Nights in the Tree, in the Bark of which I have cut my Name; and all my Plantains and Coco Nuts being gone, and no Poffibility appearing of my ever being able to get paft this dreadful Point, I concluded for certain, that this was the Place Providence had directed me to, to end my Days at, tho' now and then fome faint Glimmerings of Hope, would, as it were, dawn upon my finking Spirits.

THIS Tree, my Habitation, was about one hundred Feet diftant from the Sea, and I have been fometimes four Hours and more getting up and down the Rock whereon it grew, as I have taken Notice by the Sun. As I fat in it one Evening, I faw a Creature come on Shore on a fandy Bay out P 2 of

of the Sea, about a Musket-Shot from me; the upper Part of which was fomewhat like a Horfe, the Head, Neck, and Part of the Body, being, as well as I could difcern, fhaped like the fame Parts of that noble Creature, but the hind Part was in the Nature of a Fifh. It had flat Feet, with which it waddled along the Shore, and the next Morning I faw it take to the Sea again. This Creature feemed to me, as big as any four Horfes put together.

THOUGH my Situation was none of the loweft, yet above me were very high Mountains; the Tops of which appeared towering one behind another up to the Clouds; and from thence defcended to me the Voices of all Manner of wild Beafts, the Water at the fame time pouring down from them with great Violence; which, together with the Raging of the Sea against the Cliffs, afforded but a melancholy Scene to a lonely difconfolate Man, already on the Point of being ftarved to Death. Now I had obferved a narrow Cavity or Chink in the Rocks, where I could not only difcern Light, but could also behold the Sea through it flowing flowing on the other Side. Now I confider'd, that if I could compass to get thro' this Paffage, it would fave me the Labour and Hazard of going round the Point, if ever an Opportunity should offer for that Purpofe; wherefore I began the Attempt immediately, and pushed on a good Way, but at laft the Paffage grew very narrow, and I found great Difficulty in preffing forward; neverthelefs, I made fo vigorous an Effort to fucceed in my Undertaking, that I at laft got my Head fluck fo fast between the Rocks, that I never expected to get clear again, and in this Condition I lay ftruggling and labouring a long Time before I could difengage myfelf. By this one Trial, I perceived it was impracticable to force my Paffage that Way; therefore, when I was loofe, I gave over the Attempt, and return'd to my Station in the Tree.

IN this Tree, tho' overwhelm'd with Sorrow, have I fometimes lain and flept as foundly as ever I did in my Life, and dream'd of converfing amongft my former Friends and Acquaintance; but when I have awaked, and feen no Poffibility of ever P 3 doing 214 The Distresses and Adventures doing fo in Reality, nor even fo much as of exchanging one Word with any of my Fellow-Creatures again, I have cry'd out aloud, That furely no State of Life was ever comparable to this of mine; and yet, wretched as it feemed, my Defires of prolonging it were fo powerful, that I had determined to return and linger out the Remainder of my Days among the Coco Nuts I mentioned before; but when I confider'd, that this could not be done without once more croffing the River, which had like to have proved fo fatal to me, this Thought vanished. Thus I fat deliberating two whole Days, whether I should run the Risque of my Life that Way, or ftay here and affuredly perifh; but at the End of this time, the Weather proved calm and ferene, and the Sea began to appear as fmooth as Glafs. This I beheld with Transport from the Rock, and made no doubt, but this was the Time offered for my Deliverance, and therefore taking a hafty Leave of my Tree, which had fhelter'd me five Nights, I went as near to the Point as poffible, and waited till the Sea was out; then, humbly begging of Providence to be my Guide and Afliftant, I faften'd my Nets to La state a state a to my Back, left they fhould be wash'd away as before, and committed myfelf to the Sea, and fwam from Rock to Rock, till I was almost fpent, and often near drowning by Means of my Nets. I was four Hours, as I computed by the Sun, in getting round this difinal Point, after which I came on a deep fandy Bay; on the other Side of which, about ten Leagues off, was another great Point, which ran as far into the Sea as that I had lately paft. From this Bay I came on a fine Strand, but could find no Coco Nuts, nor any Thing to fatisfy Hunger.

AT this Time I was not only extremely weak thro' want of Food, but was also very much bruifed and cut, by being beat and dashed against the sharp Edges of the Rocks; but as God Almighty had been thus gracioufly pleafed to preferve my Life, I now had ftrong Confidence, that he would not fuffer me to die after all, for want of Nourishment. Then I called to Mind in what Manner I had feen the Turtles lay their Eggs; but as I knew there was no finding them out by any Marks on the Sand, 1 got a long Stick and ftruck in into it, in feveral Places, till

216 The Diftresses and Adventures till at laft it came up with Part of a Yolk flicking at the End of it, by which I concluded there was a Neft, and fo raking away the Sand, I found ninety Eggs. Thefe I put up in my Nets, and then walked away to feek for Water, without which my Eggs were of no Service to me. About Noon I came to a great River, where after I had allay'd my Thirst, I fought about for Wood to make a Fire; but whilft I was bufied in this, I fpy'd a Whigwam on the other Side the River; upon which instead of minding my Fire any longer, I ran and catched up my Nets, and fwam a-crofs to it, and then had the Mortification to find no Body near it. Looking about without fide the Whigwam I faw an Arrow flicking in the Sand at one End of it, and within I found a Net hanging with two ripe Plantains in it, which I made bold to eat. These apparent Signs that some Indians had lately been here, together with the Whigwams being new, infpired me with Hope, that the longing Defire I had had of coming amongst Men once more, would fhortly be gratify'd. Then I look'd about for the Tracks of their Feet, which I follow'd till they led me to the Side of a Wood,

Wood, where I found another Whigwam, and a Fire with an Earthern Crock full of Plantains and wild Hog boiling on it. Without fo much as confidering what I was about to do, I prefently took the Victuals off the Fire, and ate fo eagerly of it, that I thought I could never be fatisfied. Never had I met with fuch delicious Fare, as this feem'd to me at that Time, not having tafted any Thing for above forty Days, but Coco Nuts and Plantains; nor durft I for feveral Reafons venture to eat my Fill of them, the firft ill agreeing with my Conffitution, and the latter I was obliged to be fparing of, as I knew not when I fhould come at more.

WHEN I had ate thus plentifully of this welcome Diet, I inftantly fell into a faft Sleep, without any Fears of what I had done, and did not wake till near Sun-fet, but ftill no one came. Then I began to confider, that I was got to a remote and uninhabited Part of the Country, and that the Indians, who had wandred hither might be People of very different Difpofitions, from any I had yet met with; and that if they were not of the Cannibals, which I had heard heard much talk of, yet probably they were fuch as had little Notions of Humanity, or at least might not once have heard there were fuch Men in Being as the Europeans; and that, perhaps, they might have feen me before I crofs'd the River, and imagining I had Company with me, and was come to furprize them, had therefore fled away in Haste, and left their Provisions behind them; and that if fo, it would be impossible for me ever to fet Eyes on them. Full of thefe and many other melancholy Reflections, I went into the Whigwam to fee what Difcoveries I could make among the Bundles of Leaves I had feen there, and in thefe I found Barbacute Hog, ripe Plantains, Pepper, and feveral Sorts of Berries, which were all very carefully wrapt up, to keep them from Water and Vermine.

SOON after I had gratified my Curiofity this Way, came a Dog leaping and jumping upon me with Tokens of great Joy; this put me in great Hope, that I fhould fhortly fee his Mafter, or those he belonged to; wherefore, I looked about me on all Sides, and at last faw three Indian Men coming down down by the Side of the River. How did my Heart leap for Joy at the Sight of human Kind once more, though I knew not what might be the Confequence of this Interview. Soon as they faw me, they made a full Stop, as if in Surprize, and then feem'd to enter into Debate, whether they should come forward, or turn back again. At laft I took Courage and beckon'd to them; upon which, one of them, who was an old Man, came up to me, and fhook me by the Hand. I asked him of what Indians they were, and if he could fpeak Spanish? he faid, they were Indians of Barica, and that he could fpeak a little Spanish; then he called to the other two, who were young Men, bidding them come to him, which they did. After this, he fpread a Skin on the Ground, defiring me to fit down in a civil and friendly Manner. Now I thought myfelf happy indeed, and had the Courage to confess how free I had been, in their Absence, with their Victuals. He answer'd, that he was very glad I had done fo; for he judged by my Afpect, that I had great Need of it. Then he order'd the young Men to make Supper ready, which when they had done, he urged

me

me to eat heartily again, and to drink freely of their Liquor called Cheely, which is made of feveral Sorts of Berries, and is fo ftrong that it will intoxicate a Man.

AFTER Supper, he began to enquire how I came into this Part of the Country, and of what Nation I was, for he was certain I was no Spaniard; upon which, I frankly own'd to him, that I was an Englishman. He faid, he had heard much of fuch Men, and had feen fome of them when a little Boy, and that he loved them better than the Spaniards; for they, faid he, fhaking his Head, would kill me. 'This Man, as I faid, was old and hoary-headed, and through long Experience, was well acquainted with all Parts of the Country.

I NOW began to relate to him my Story; and when I came to that Part of it, where the five Indians left me, and never returned, he ask'd, if they took their Bows and Arrows with them. I told him no; for that they were washed off the Balfe, when we crofs'd Golfo Dolce. Then, he faid, they must undoubtedly have been ignorant of those

those Parts; for otherwise, they would not have ventured up into the Country with their Masheets only, adding, that they were certainly devoured. Then I went on to tell him how I had lately pass'd the Point, by fwimming from Rock to Rock; at which, he feem'd amazed, faying, it was more than any Indian had ever done; for they, he faid, always made a Balfe to get round it, when they were a good many in Company, one Man not being able to manage that alone. This Point he called Point Burica, and faid, that I muft have travell'd a great Way farther along the Sea Coaft, had I not met with them, before I could have come to any Inhabitants. the nearest being those of Chiriqui; to which Place, an Indian could not travel in lefs than twenty Days, provided he kept to the Sea, but that they knew a Way to get thither in nine Days, becaufe they would cut off a great Part of the Journey, by croffing certain Mountains which they could do in three Days, and fo come to the Sea again. And that as they were to go that Way in a few Days, he would take me with them, and fhew me to the River of Chiriqui, where I fhould be within five Leagues of the Town; but

but that there they must leave me, because their People were engaged in a War against those of Chiriqui.

THE better to enable me to travel with them, the old Man made me bathe the Wounds I had received in fencing with the Rocks, with a Juice he had fqueezed from certain Herbs, and after they had nurfed me up for two or three Days, by the Help of God, I grew much better. The two young Men were inclined to come into a great Intimacy with me, and wanted to know if I could fhoot with Bows and Arrows; but I made them underftand, as well as I could, that in my Country they made Ufe of Guns only, and that therefore I was intirely unskilled in the Management of Bows and Arrows. But to fhew me how dextrous they were at them, they would often shoot a fmall Bird flying, or pecking on the Ground at a great Diftance. I have feen them ftand, perhaps a hundred Yards from a Bird on the Ground, and mount their Arrow directly up into the Air, fo as to fall down again exactly on the Bird, and flick it to the Earth. And as a farther Inftance of their Ingenuity this this Way, I have feen them flick an Arrow in the Ground, and fland a very great Way from it, and fhoot up into the Air, as before, and the Arrow they flot flould fall upon the other that was flicking upright in the Ground, and fplit it in two. Thefe Indians were come hither to dive for Pearl.

AFTER I had refted here four Days, the Indians began to make Preparations for our intended Journey, putting up what Provifions they were minded to carry with them, and then fet out. After we had gone about a League on the Strand, they took into the Mountains; in travelling of which I fear'd their Patience would have been worn out, and that I should have been left behind, they having the natural Advantages of exceeding Swiftnefs, and great Abilities to labour beyond the common Rate of Men; and I was at that Time much infeebled, nay even reduced to a State of Infant Weaknefs; fo that had they not fupported and help'd me forward (contrary to my Expectations as the Cafe ftood) I muft inevitably have perifhed; and often would they fay, happy was it for me that I had met with them; for here were 224 The Diftreffes and Adventures no Coco Nuts, or any other Suftenance to be found but by Indians only. Indeed I was fo cautious of being burthenfome to them, and proving a dead Load upon their Hands, that I often exerted myfelf beyond my Strength.

IN five Days we pass'd the Mountains, and then came to a River, where was the greateft Fall of Water I ever faw; it fell down a Precipice feemingly fix hundred Feet high, and raged with fuch Violence. that we had heard the Noife of it two Days before we came to it. We were obliged to go down this River in order to get to the Sea again, and we were forced to wade through it, because it was rendred impassable for any Veffel by great Trees lying acrofs it; fome of which we crept under and fome we climb'd over, but the Current ran fo ftrong, that not a Man of us could ftand upon his Legs long together. We began this Journey through the River pretty early in the Morning, and about Sun-fet got to the Sea-fide, where we made a Fire, and ftaid all Night. Here the Indians dreffed a fine Fish as big as a large Salmon, which they

they wrap'd up in Leaves and roafted very nicely, and the next Morning we fat forward again every Man with his Net. The Indians always hang their Nets on their Heads, and carry their Bows in one Hand, and their Arrows in the other, that they may be ready to defend themfelves against any Thing that may oppose them. Their Bows are commonly about feven Feet long, and made of a Wood as black as Jet, and as hard as Iron, the Strings being made of ftrong Silk Grafs. Their Arrows are about fix Feet long, and made of the fame Wood as the Bows; fome have Porcupines Quills flicking in the Ends, and others are poifon'd, and bring immediate Death to every Creature they hit.

W E had now (as I thought) very good travelling, on a fine black fparkling Sand as fmooth as Glafs, but very bad for the Eyes; for it caft fuch a Reflection as almost blinded me, tho' we never travelled in the Heat of the Day, but only on Mornings and Evenings, and by Moon-light. We often met with Points or Rocks, which we could not pass till the Sea had left them, and some-Q

times with Rivers which abounded with Alligators, and which it was impossible for us to crofs before we had made ourfelves little Balfes for that Purpofe. Thus we went on till we came to a River about a Mile in Breadth, which the Indians called the River of Queype. Now they told me (to fpeak in their own fimple Manner) that there were People, whom they called the Queype Indians, inhabiting up the River about Ewenty Days Journey from us, who, if they could catch me, would eat me up, wherefore we must take great Care to avoid them. This River is very fhallow, and my Fellow-Travellers told me they always forded it, which was what we endeavoured to do at this Time, but the Water ran fo rapidly now, that we had not waded up to our Middles before we were every one taken off our Legs, and carried down a Quarter of a Mile, before we could get back again to the Shore; after which, we were forced to wait three Days for an Opportunity to crofs it.

As far as we could diftern up the Country, was nothing to be feen but Mountains, tains, and here was no Way to travel, but along the Sea Coaft, unlefs you would go up the River among the Queype Indians, which was not our Intent; wherefore we kept along the Sea-Beach, till we came within a Mile of the River of Chiriqui, where these People, whom I had now been travelling with twelve Days, had faid, they must leave me, on Account of the War, as mentioned before.

THEY now warn'd me over and over again, that when I came to the Town of Chiriqui, I fhould tell no one, who had conducted me thither; and above all, gave me frict Charge not to fwim over the River of Chiriqui, which they faid was a League broad, very deep and full of Alligators, which would certainly devour me; but advifed me to wait till I could meet with a Canoe or Balfe; after which, they bid me farewel, and I returned them many Thanks for the Care and Trouble they had had with me, being very fenfible, that they might have performed this Journey with much more Ease and Expedition, had they not incumbred themfelves with me. Then I shook Hands with them all again and again,

again, and fo parted from thefe my Guides, whom God Almighty raifed up in the Time of my greateft Affliction, and made the Inftruments to deliver me out of one of the moft calamitous Circumstances that furely the Mind of Man did ever support itself under.

SOON after my Friends were gone, I got to the River Side, where feeing no Likelihood of meeting with a Veffel, I began to make a little Balfe to crofs it; but I had not been long thus employ'd, before I heard the Barking of Dogs, upon which I defifted from my Work, and looking about me, faw eight Indians in a Canoe. I called out to them inftantly, and as they came towards me, I perceived they were Christians, for they had great wooden Croffes hanging about their Necks. I begg'd of them to come to Shore, and take me into their Canoe, faying, I only defired to be fet down on the other Side the River; but they defired to be excufed till they had difcourfed me a little at some Distance.

THEN

THEN they demanded to know of what Country I was, and how I came there? I thought it most to my Purpose, at this time, to fay I was a Spaniard, which I found pleafed very well; and afterward, when they heard how long I had been alone, and what Hardships I had gone through, they feem'd to commiferate my Cafe, and ftraitway put to Shore, and took me into their Canoe, faying, they would fet me fafe on the other Side, and that then I muft keep close to the River, till I came to a Path, which would lead me directly to the Governor's Houfe. Thefe Indians were Inhabitants of the Town of Chiriqui, and were waiting on the River to catch Turtle; for here are great Numbers of them, and the largeft that are any where to be feen, fome of them weighing fix or feven hundred Weight. This Canoe which convey'd me crofs the River, was made of the Bark of a Tree, being about thirty Feet long, and but three Feet broad, and sharp at each End. The Indians always fland upright in 'their Canoes, and paddle them along with great Swiftness, and when they crofs Q 3

230 The Diffress and Adventures cross the Land from River to River, as they frequently do, it is the Womens Office, (if there be any among them) to carry the Canoe. I have feen a Woman carry one on her Head with two Children in it, befides a good deal of Luggage.

BEING landed on the other Side the River, I took the Path as directed by the Indians, which Path led me to a fine open Country, where was great Plenty of Cattle, Indian Corn, and Fruit of feveral Sorts, particularly the finest Guayavas I ever faw, being as big as large Codlings, fome of which were yellow, and fome red within fide. The Indians count them the moft wholefom Fruit in the World, and here was fuch abundance of them, that I have feen fome Hundreds of Hogs feeding upon them, as they fell off the Trees. Towards Evening I came within Sight of a Houfe, which I once little expected would ever be my Lot to fee. This proved to be the Governor's, which ftands about half a Mile from the Town of Chiriqui. When I came up to it, finding feveral Indians there, whom I supposed to belong to the House, I defired them them to introduce me to his Excellency; but they answer'd not a Word, for they feem'd as much furprifed, as if they had feen fome Spectre newly rifen from the Tombs. As I flood importuning them to give me Admittance into the Houfe, the Governor himfelf, who, I fuppofe, had heard my Requeft, looked out of a Window, and beckoned to me to come up to him; which, when the Indians observed, they fuffered me to go in, and I readily obeyed the Summons. Being led into the Room where his Excellency fat, he prefently ordered me to give him an Account how I came hither; upon which, I rehears'd to him the most remarkable Occurrences of thefe my unfortunate Travels. After which he faid, How is it poffible, that a lonely Man, a Stranger to the Country, and one deftitute of all Succour and Defence, fhould travel fo great a Track of Land, as is between here and Golfo Dolce only, exclusive of all the reft, when no Indian will venture alone that Way, no not five Leagues from this Town, for fear of the Tigers, which fometimes will take People even out of their Houses, and devour them ?

I TOLD him what I had gone through was not by Choice, but through abfolute Neceffity, and that I hoped the Endeavours I had used to preferve my Life were not blameable ; that were I inclined, I well knew it was not in my Power to impose idle Falshoods upon the World, when I was fenfible I might be detected with great Eafe. He answer'd, that indeed he had no Reafon to fufpect the Veracity of what I faid, tho' the Story I told feemed to him very furprifing; but that through the whole Course of his Life, he had never beheld a more pitiful Object of Compassion than my felf. Then he gave Orders for my Refreshment in a handfom Manner, and appointed me an Apartment in his own Houfe to lodge in. The next Morning, he fhewed me a Gun he had bought of an English Gentleman at Panama for one hundred Pieces of Eight. which might coft about thirty Shillings in England. This, he faid, he fhould be very glad to have exercifed, and if I could inftruct him how to make Use of it, he would reward me well for fo doing, for he was intirely ignorant of the Management of Guns. Į

I was not a little rejoiced, that he had propofed fomething whereby I might oblige him; wherefore, I anfwer'd, that I should be proud to receive any Commands he would be pleafed to lay on me. Then he defired, that I would accompany him with the Piece, to take fome Diversion in the Grounds about his Houfe, which were well ftored with Variety of Cattle, fuch as Horfes, Cows, Hogs, befides great Numbers of Deer, and where the most indifferent Sportfman could not mifs of Game. I went with him, according to his Defire, and when I had shot a Couple of Deer, and a few small Birds, we gave over the Sport, and the Governour returned home with great Satiffaction; and afterward made me this Offer, That if I would continue with him, nothing should be wanting to make my Life eafy and comfortable. After returning him Thanks for this kind Offer, I told him that nothing but the ftrong Defires I had of feeing my Friends and Native Country, had prompted me to ftruggle with all the Hardships I had met with; and that fince it had pleafed God to bring me thus far on my Way to the Englifh

English Factory, I humbly hoped he would enable me to perform the reft of the Journey. He reply'd, that fince he knew my Inclinations were fo much to go to the Englifb Factory; fo far fhould he be from detaining me, that he would have me conducted by the first Opportunity to Panama, which is one hundred and fifty Leagues from Chiriqui, and faid that in the mean time, I should have the best Affistance he could give. This Gentleman was a Native of New Spain, and one of those People called Masties. His hospitable and courteous Demeanour toward me I have already fignified, and I must also not forget that of his Wife, who was equally kind and obliging to me. During my Stay at their Houfe, I wore my Bark Habit, but it was much de_ cayed at this Time, and would hardly cover me, tho' I had fpared it as much as poffible when I was not feen.

IT was a great Amufement to me to go to the Town of Chiriqui, which I often did. This Town is the handfomeft and moft compact of any I had feen in the Country, the Houfes being very large and high, built of Bamboe Bamboe Cane, and thatch'd with Grafs. The firft Stories are raifed four Feet from the Ground, and under every House are kept abundance of Hogs to fatten; and here I must fay are the largeft Hogs I ever faw, most of them weighing five hundred Weight apiece. They are killed chiefly for their Fat, which after they are boil'd, is drawn off, and put up into Jars which hold about ten Gallons each, and fent to Panama, where it is used instead of Oil or Butter, and fold for twenty Pieces of Eight a Jar.

THE Inhabitants of Chiriqui are all Indians, but far exceeding any other Indians on this Continent, as well for the Gracefulnefs of their Perfons, as Politenefs of Manners. They are tall and well-fhaped, of tolerable Complections, have a becoming Addrefs, and no difagreeable Features. The Women have long Hair hanging down very low, and neatly braided with Ribbons, and adorn'd with Variety of fine Stones. Their Apparel is clean and flight, being only a Holland Shift and Petticoat, which is very full and finely wrought with the purple Thread which they dye themfelves. The Men

Men wear Drawers, and paint their Bodies, and fometimes one Side of their Faces red. They are generally very exact and nice in their Houfes, and Manner of Eating, nor will they drink after each other in the fame Cup or Calabash, or use one twice themfelves without washing, practifing many other Ceremonies with a more refin'd Air, than could be expected from the Natives on this Side the Globe. Now I was furprized, that a People of fuch Decorum, and withal both quiet and cleanly in their Nature, could difpenfe with the Noife and Stench of fuch a Number of Hogs, feeding under the Rooms where they flept, having nothing between them but an open-work'd Floor laid with Bamboe Cane; but they told me, that they were obliged to take this Method to fright the Muskitoes from their Houses, who cannot endure the Noife nor Steam of Hogs, by which Means they were freed from that troublefome Infect.

DURING my Refidence at the Governor's Houfe, and at a Time when I lay dangeroufly ill of a Fever, came a Company of roving Indians into the Town, and plunder'd der'd it of much Riches. The Inhabitants being few in Number, and unprepared to receive an Enemy, were under a Neceffity of fubmitting to whatever was imposed on them; and after they had ravaged the Town as they thought fit, they committed one of the most outrageous Cruelties that could poffibly enter into the Heart of Man. There was but one Clergyman in the Town, who was a Spaniard, and of the Order of St. Francis; him they feized on, and put to Death in the following inhuman Manner. They first fcalped his Head, and then tore off the Skin, leaving the Skull bare; then they fixed the Skin on a Spear, and danced round it a confiderable Time; after which, they reared up a long Pole, one End of which they fastned in the Ground, and on the other they fluck his Body while he was yet alive, and then made their barbarous Mirth of his exquisite Tortures, scoffing at, and deriding his Function, and faying, That this was but a fmall Revenge for that Torrent of Indian Blood heretofore fpilt by the Spaniards. After they had glutted their Eyes with this lamentable Spectacle, they lighted up a great Fire round him, and

and kept dancing about it till the Body was confumed to Ashes. With the deplorable Cataftrophe of this unhappy Gentleman their Fury ceafed, and they attempted to put no other Perfon to Death ; but declared, that had they met with more Spaniards in the Town, they would have ferved them all in the fame Manner. After this, the Enemy, being in Number between two and three hundred (Men and Women) came to the Governor's Houfe, who was no better prepared to receive them, than the reft of the People; and when they had ranfack'd the greateft Part of it, and had taken out fuch Things as they liked beft, they at laft came into the Room where I lay fick, and the first Question they asked me was, what Countryman I was? I quickly made Anfwer that I was an Englishman, who had been taken by Spanish Pirates, and cruelly ufed by them, and that I was now waiting for an Opportunity to get home to my own Country. Then they affured me they would do me no Injury; but that, on the contrary, if I would put myfelf under their Protection, and go along with them, they would do me all the Service in their Power, and would likewife likewife furnish me with all Things necessary towards forwarding my Intentions of getting home, which I might do with greater Eafe and Expedition by their Means, than by any other Way I could propofe; for that they were Indians who inhabited on the North-Sea, where Veffels frequently arrived from Jamaica to trade with them; for that they had Knowledge of the English, and loved them very well, tho' they abhorred the Spaniards; and as they had never yet been conquered by them, they were determined utterly to defy them, and all their Adherents. They used many Arguments to intice me to go with them, faying, it was but fifteen Days Journey from thence to the Place where they inhabited. I excufed myfelf to them on Account of my prefent Weaknefs; and alledged, that were I in Health, they would find me far unfit to travel with them, for that the English were not comparable to the Indians in Activity of Body: But however, this was not altogether the Cafe; for I must have been more diftemper'd in Mind than I was in Body, had I affociated myfelf with a Band of Robbers and Murderers, who could be guilty of 240 The Diftreffes and Adventures of fo execrable a Deed as had been committed by them but a few Hours before; however, they were content with my Apology, and marched off with their Plunder, without the leaft Oppofition.

THESE People are called by the Spaniards Sancoodas, or Muskitoe Indians, on Account of their diminutive Stature, and they are really the fmalleft Size People I ever faw, fome of them not exceeding four Feet odd Inches in Height; but many of them are much fhorter, and yet they are every Way well proportion'd. They go naked from Head to Foot, both Men and Women. Their Skin is of a dark Brown, being marked all over, from the Shoulders to their Heels in Waves, with a Sort of blue Ink which never washes off. They have long black Hair hanging almost down to the Ground, and every Man has a Hole thro' his Nofe and Chin; that in the Nofe has a Porcupine's Quill flicking in it, and in the other they place the Tooth of fome wild Beaft. The Women have Holes in their Cheeks, wherein they flick Bunches of various colour'd Feathers to adorn themfelves, and when they

they have a String or two of Tigers Teeth hanging at their Ears, they are compleatly drefs'd. Thefe People talked with me in English, and fome of them could speak a little Spanish and French. They are all Heathens, and are as constant a Plague to the Spaniards as are the Indios Bravos.

WHEN the Governor of Chiriqui had a little recover'd from his Confternation, he refolved to fend Notice of what had happened to the Governor of Panama, and to require to have fome Forces fent him, in cafe the Town should be again furprized. He proposed to me, that if I was able and willing to go with the Indians he fhould fend on this Errand, he would give them Charge not to leave me till I came near Panama, and that he would order me as much Provisions as would ferve me to Pueblo Nuevo; and when I was pass'd the Mountains, which lie between that Town and Nata, then he faid I fhould come among Inhabitants every Night, that were a kind People, who would affift me in any Thing I should want. I gladly embraced this Of-R fer.

fer, and returned him Thanks for having me fo much in his Thoughts, refolving not to let fo fair an Opportunity flip, tho' I was not yet recover'd from my Illnefs. The Indians being ready to depart the next Morning, I fet out with them, having firft taken leave of this worthy Gentleman, who tho' I came to him forlorn, and without other Credential than that of my Neceffities, had treated me in his Houfe, more like a Friend than a Stranger.

IN five Days after our Departure from Chiriqui, we arrived at Pueblo Nuevo, when I could not help reflecting on the many Miferies and Misfortunes. I had undergone, fince my fetting out from Alberoy in the first Canoe, in Company with the Piragua from which we were feparated by Storm, as I have already related, this being the Place we were then bound to. The Piragua, I was informed, arrived here fafely with all the Passengers, who fet out for Panama fome Months before my coming to this Town. After I had applied to the Indian Alcald for Relief, which he willingly afforded me for the

the Time we staid here, which was but thort; I gave him an Account of the late Misfortunes at Chiriqui, fetting forth in what Manner that Town had been furprized and plunder'd, and by whom. At this News, both the Alcald and People were ftruck with great Fear, left the Muskitoe Indians should come upon them, and ferve them in the fame Manner, faying, they were lefs able to fuftain fuch Loffes, than the People of Chiriqui, inafmuch as they had greater Tribute imposed on them, and were liable to many other Inconveniencies, which those People are eased of. Every fingle Man of this Town is obliged to pay the King of Spain fix Pieces of Eight yearly; and every married Man twelve, or in Cafe of Non-payment to be fent to the Mines without Redemption. This heavy Imposition, with what they are bound to allow the Clergy, they account an infupportable Grievance, and were they not very induftrious, as well as ingenious, they could not perform fuch hard Tasks. Thefe People make a Sort of fine Matts, and Hammocks of Cane, and likewife curious Baskets of the R 2 fame:

244 The Distreffes and Adventures fame; all which they paint very beautifully, and carry to Panama, where they fell them at a low Rate to discharge their Tribute.

HAVING staid here one Night, the next Morning we fet out for a Town called Nata, between which and Pueblo Nuevo, are Mountains which we were obliged to pafs over; but as I had not yet recovered Strength fince my late Fit of Sickness at Chiriqui, this proved a very fatiguing and tirefome Journey, it being with the utmost Difficulty that I exerted myself to travel with the Indians, who, on the other hand, thought me very flow, and had fcarcely Patience to keep my Pace, which was much faster than fuited me at that Time; however, I made shift to keep up with them three Days, till we had paffed the Mountains, and then I told them, I would not be troublefome to them any longer, and as they were going upon Bufiness of Confequence, I defired they would make the best of their Way, and leave me to follow them at my Leifure. This, I knew, was a very agreeable of John Cockburn, &c. 245 ble Propofal, and would be readily accepted; accordingly they took me at my Word, and posted away as fast as they could.

SOON after the Indians left me, I came to a River, which I found I fhould not be able to crofs, for the Swiftnefs of the Stream; but feeing fome Indians on the other Side, I hollowed out to them, upon which they made Signs to me not to venture into the River, and immediately fent a Boy to fetch me over with two Mules, one of which he rode on himfelf, and the other I made ufe of; and though the Water was not above the Knees of the Mules, yet it was as much as they could do, to keep on their Legs.

UPON my Arrival on the other Side, the Men who had done this Courtefy made me a Prefent of fome fine Fruit, which both in Look and Tafte is very much like a Mulberry, but in Size far exceeding, for it is as large as a Melon. This the Indians call the King of Fruit, not only for its excellent Tafte and large Size; but alfo, if I may be allowed the Expression, on Account of its high R 3 Birth,

246 The Distresses and Adventures

Birth, and exalted Station in the World, for it grows on the Tops of very tall Trees, I believe, above two hundred Feet high, the Bodies of which are ftrait, and fmooth as Glafs. I underftood by thefe People, that I had now three Days Journey to Nata, and that I should come every Night to a House where I might have Shelter, which I accordingly did; and in the Day-time, when I met with any Indians they never failed to give me of fuch as they had, fo that my Nakednefs was now the greateft Grievance to me; for at this Time my Bark Jacket would cover but a little Part of me. The Indians every where among whom I came, knew by this Jacket, that I must have been among the Indians at War, because no other People in this Country wear fuch Cloathing; and they were all furprized, that the People they fo much dread to fall into the Hands of, should difmifs me with such a Gift. This Part of the Country is level, very pleafant and fruitful, being well watered.

AT

Ar the End of three Days I arrived at Nata, where I staid one Night, and found the Inhabitants, who are Indians, as much inclin'd to favour and affift me, as any other People I had hitherto met with ; but at the next Town I came to, which was New Panama, inhabited by Spaniards only, I met with very different Ufage. There I could get no Relief, but was upbraided for my Country and Religion, accufed of being no Christian, but a Heathen come to fpy out the Country; the People clamouring about, cry'd out, that in a little Time, they should have the English come upon them, and cut all their Throats, but that they doubted not when I came to Old Panama, the Governor would fecure me, and fend me to the Mines. Finding thefe People poffeffed of fuch Notions, and that they had therefore an implacable Hatred to the English, I did not think fit to remain in the Town that Night, tho' it was Evening when I entred it, but got away as faft as I could, and went on till I came to a Run of Water, by which I made a Fire, and staid all Night.

FROM this Time forward till my Arrival at Old Panama, I met only with Spanifs Inhabitants, who were of the fame Difpofitions, and returned me the fame Anfwers, when I craved their Affistance, as the People of New Panama; fo that from Nata to Old Panama, I had nothing to fupport on but Water; for which Reafon I was fo weaken'd, that I could fcareely crawl. Before I entred that Town I met some Indians. who, upon hearing fomething of my Story, told me, that if I did not apply to the Governor before I addreffed the Englift, Factory, it would be refented, and might turn very much to my Prejudice; wherefore they advifed me, above all Things, to go and throw myfelf at his Excellency's Feet, which, if I omitted, they affured me, would be reckoned a capital Crime. This Advice I refolved to put in Practice, and coming into the Town, I met a Negro Man, who, upon my inquiring for the Governor's Houfe, led me directly to it, where I found his Excellency's Coach waiting at the Door to receive him. I flaid till he came out, and before before he entred the Coach, he ftop'd to give me Opportunity to make my Supplication. After making my Reverence to his Excellency in an humble Manner, I informed him of my Country and Condition. He faid, he was now going to the English Factory, to take Leave of the Prefident Mr. Johnson, who was juft on his Return to England, and that I might follow him thither, where he would hear my Cafe in full. I faid, I fhould gladly obey his Commands, and accordingly made what Hafte I could after him.

BEING come to the Factory, I defir'd to have Admittance to the Prefident, and after I had waited fome time for an Anfwer, an English Gentleman was fent from the Board to examine me; who, when I had told him my Cafe, faid, that here had been four Englishmen fome time fince, who he believed were fome of my Company; their Names he faid, were John Holland, John Ballmain, Thomas Rounce, and Richard Banister, and that at their first coming hither the Governor committed them to Prison, but that they were quickly demanded by the Prefident, who

who had fent them to Porto-bel, in order to embark for England. I told him, thefe were my Fellow-Travellers, and likewife gave him an Account how I came to be feparated from them. After this, he return'd to the Board, and informed the Gentlemen of what he had learn'd from me. Then I was fent for up Stairs, where were fitting the late Prefident Mr. Johnson, who was now on leaving his Employment, the new Prefident Mr. Tinker, who was come to officiate in his Room, and likewife the Governor of Panama, before whom I gave a faithful Account of my unfortunate Travels; but when they heard how long I had been alone, and what I had undergone in general, they all agreed, that they had never heard fo moving a Story, which was real Matter of Fact, nor had ever feen fo pitiful an Object, faying, that nothing was more visible than that I had been near flarving to Death. Then Mr. Johnfon proposed, that if I was able to travel on a Mule, he would take me with him to Portobel, where one of the South-Sea Company's Snows, called the Princefs of Afturias, Capt. Blackburn Master, waited to carry him to Jamaica, Jamaica, from whence he fhould fail directly for England. I made Anfwer, that fince he was fo good as to admit me to travel with him, I would gladly accept the Offer, if it were at the Hazard of dying on the Road. But Mr. Tinker believing I was not capable to perform the Journey at this Time, out of Compassion, advised, that I should flay with him, faying, that proper Care should be taken of me, till I should recover Strength, and till fuch Time as he could with Conveniency fend me to England. I return'd this Gentleman my humble Thanks for his charitable and tender Difpofition towards me; but faid, that if I might be allowed my Choice, I would gladly go with Mr. Johnson; upon which Mr. Johnson order'd, that a Mule should be got ready for me, and the Governor of Panama gave me two Pieces of Eight, withing me better Succefs in the World than I had hitherto met with. Then Mr. Turner, who is Butler to the Factory, was called up, and ordered to take Care of me; and he difcharged himfelf to me in a friendly and civil Manner. The first Thing he offer'd me was a large Cup of Wine.

Wine, which no fooner came to my Head, but it over-power'd me; however, I drank of it but very cautioufly, for this was the first Wine or spirituous Liquor I had tasted fince we left our Ship.

THE Gentlemen of our English Factories abroad, very much contribute towards eftablishing our Nation's happy Character, as well as to give a true Sense of its Grandeur throughout the several Kingdoms and Countries where they are placed, as well on Account of their great Charities and Hospitalities, as for their magnificent Appearance and courteous Demeanor; and I hope it may not be amiss to fay, that in Splendor and popular Virtues they come near, if not equal most of our Nobility.

WHILE I was here, I took a View of the City of Panama, which ftands very pleafantly on a high Hill, clofe by the Sea, and is of great Extent, having feveral wellbuilt Churches and Convents in it. The Houfes are large and handfomely built of Timber: The Inhabitants numerous, and moft moft of them very rich. They drefs exceedingly fine, the Ladies wearing nothing but the moft coftly Goods that can be brought from England, having their Hair curioufly drefs'd and adorn'd with Diamonds, and other precious Stones. This Town abounds with Money, but all Things are exceffively dear, the leaft Coin that paffes here being half a Real of Plate, which is three Pence Half-penny Englifb Money. Here all the Plate-Fleets arrive from Peru and Lima, with immenfe Treafures, and from hence they are carried by Mules over the Mountains to Porto-bel, in order to be conveyed to Spain.

I HAD been at Panama three Days, when Mr. Johnfon order'd me to prepare for the Journey, which was no hard Task for me, who had nothing to take with me but my Nets and what they contained, and what that was I have already given an Account; fo the fame Day about Noon, we fet out of the Town, Mr. Johnfon being accompanied by great Numbers of Englifb and Spanifb Gentlemen, all mounted on fine Horfes richly

ly furnished, and attended by their Negroes in rich Liveries, who altogether made up a great Train, and a pompous Shew. When these Gentlemen had thus paid their Compliments for about two Leagues out of the Town, they took leave of Mr. Johnson with the ufual Ceremonies, and returned back. Then we rode on till 4 o' Clock the next Morning, before we could reach a Houfe, but were well guarded in Cafe of being attacked by the Indians at War, or wild Beafts. We had two fpare Mules, which carried Provisions only, here being fcarcely any to be had on this Road, and fix Negroes well armed, four of which were our Guides, to lead us over the Mountains, and crofs Rivers : Thefe every Night bore great Wax-Tapers in their Hands lighted to terrify the Beafts, befides their Arms. The other two and my felf were furnished with Piftols, and each of us with a Blunderbufs, fo that we had not much caufe to fear any Thing that should oppose us. The next Day we came to the great River of Chagre, where we alighted from our Mules, and went to dinner under fome Trees, and having refted here two Hours

Hours, we put up our Things, and croffed the River; after which, we came into a Wood, where we travelled about three Hours, before our Guides told us they had miftook the Way, but in going back again we met a Company of Indians who fet us right. Before we came up to these People. we had ftrangely alarmed ourfelves, fuppofing them to be a Body of the Indios Bravos, or Indians at War, but we were mistaken. After this, we afcended a very fleep Mountain, where it was impossible to keep on the Mules, without clinging fast round their Necks; fome Part of this Road is not above two Foot broad, having Precipices on each Side four or five hundred Feet deep; fo that, by the leaft Slip of a Mule's Foot, both itfelf and Rider must be dashed in Pieces. By Sun-fet we got to a Houfe, or Inn, where Travellers and Mules are entertained, there being feveral fuch Houfes on this Road, and the next Morning by Day-break we fet out, and came down to the River of Chagre again, through which we rode a confiderable Way over feveral great Rocks, tho' fometimes the Water came over the Mules Backs; from

from hence we ascended other Mountains, and after we had paffed them we came to the River again. Some of these Mountains have Roads up them about the Breadth of three Feet, paved with broad Stones, and this was a Task, (and furely a most laborious one it was) which the Spaniards imposed on the poor Indians, and which for the Grievousness of it, may be compared to what the Hebrews fuffer'd in their Egyptian Bondage. Being now on a clear Spot of Ground, we refreshed ourfelves and Mules again, and in the Evening came to another of these Houses of Entertainment, which are placed on this Road ten Leagues diftant from each other, which is thought a competent Journey for a Mule to travel in one Day: And indeed it is more than the Mules can well perform; for they never come this Way loaden with Plate, but feveral of them perish on the Road, this being the most tirefome and dangerous Road I had hitherto met with in the Country, the Mountains of Nicaragua excepted, which admit of no Comparison.

HAVING

HAVING thus travelled at the Rate of ten Leagues a Day, we arrived at Porto-bel, on the fourth Day after we fet out from Panama, and went directly to the English Factory there, where I received Orders from Mr. Johnson to go on board the Princels of Asturias, which arrived here from Jamaica, with a Cargo of Negroes for the English Factory. From hence they are fent to Panama, where they are fold to the Spaniards for two or three hundred Pieces of Eight a Head. Moft of these miserable People are fent, by the Spaniards who purchase them, to the Mines, from whence they never return. As foon as I got on board the Ship, I had the Pleafure to behold my Fellow-Travellers Rounce, Banister, Ballmain, and Holland, from whom I had been long parted. After we had congratulated each other on this happy Meeting, they protested they were strangely fhock'd when they first faw me, as well for the Alteration they perceived in my Looks, as for that they had been informed for certain at Panama, by the Spanish Gentleman Quintus Cataline, who arrived there in the S Piragua

258 The Diftreffes and Adventures Piragua, that I and Robert Barnwell, with the Indians that were with us, were all loft in the Gulf of Salines in a great Storm; and that taking this for Matter of Fact, they had fo reported it to the Factory; and that as they were thus prepoffels'd, they could think no otherwife than that fome Phantom had affumed my Shape, and was come to deceive them. After this, I gave them an Account of what had befall'n me fince our Parting, and then they began to inform me how hardly the Spaniards had dealt with them after they left Nicoya; but their Account I shall infert by itself, as related by Mr. Rounce, and shall only fay a few Words concerning Porto-bel, and fo conclude.

PORTO-BEL is a ftrong Place; has feveral Caftles and Fortifications, and a fine Harbour for Ships, but every Thing there is exceeding dear, as well as at Panama. On the third Day of our being here, Mr. Johnfon came on Board, when we weighed Anchor, and fet fail for Jamaica, where we arrived the latter End of January, and there being the the Lyon Man of War ready to carry him to England, he went on Board her, and at the fame time, we were difcharged from the Princefs of Afturias. 'The first of us that got a Passage to England was Richard Banister; as for John Ballmain and John Holland, they were defirous to stay at Jamaica, to make a further Trial of their Fortune. Mr. Rounce and I also staid on that Island about a Month, and then imbarked on Board a Ship called the Mercury, Prichard Masser, bound to Bristol, where we arrived in eight Weeks, in the Month of May 1732; Mr. Hutchins, one of the Gentlemen of the Factory at Panama, being a Passer

A fort ACCOUNT of what befel Mr. Rounce, and the other three in Company with him, after their Departure from Nicoya, to their Arrival at Porto bel, and of the U/age they met with there, as related by Mr. Rounce.

R. Rounce began his Story in the following Manner. The Alcald of Nicoya having provided us a Bark bound for Panama, Richard Banister, John Ballmain, John Holland, and myself, were ordered on Board, and we were fix Weeks on our Paffage thither. The Master of the Bark, who was a Spaniard, used us but very churlishly all all the Time; for as we were fick, and not able to work, he would therefore fcarcely allow us either Victuals or Drink; the moft we could get of him, being now and then a Bit of Jerked Beef, and half a Pint of Water a Man every twenty-four Hours, and this miferable Life we led till our Arrival at Panama, when he immediately deliver'd us up to the Garifon; where being taken to the Guard Room, we wrote a Letter to the Gentlemen of the English Factory, who immediately fent Mr. Turner, their Butler, and another Gentleman to us, with Plenty of Provisions. When thefe return'd and made our Cafe known to the Prefident Mr. Johnson, he again fent to let us know, that we should go with the first Mules that went to the Town of Chagre, and that he believed the Mules would fet out for that Town in three Days, and that there we should meet with a Sloop that would take us to Porto-bel, where we might embark for England. Accordingly, on the third Day, the Mules fet out, and we with them, and in three Days after, we came to the River of S 3 Chagre :

262 The Distresses and Adventures

Chagre; but when we entred the Town, we were feized on, and fent to Prifon, where we lay eleven Days, and had no Allowance but Fire and Water; however, we did not want Subfiftance, becaufe the Factory had furnished us with Provisions, apprehending, as we fuppofed, what Ufage we fhould meet with. During the Time of our Imprifonment, one Capt. Thomas, an English Gentleman, who is in the King of Spain's Service, came frequently to vifit us, and did us many friendly Offices, telling us, we were to go in the first Sloop that failed for Porto-bel. Accordingly, on the twelfth Day after our Confinement, we were admitted on Board a Sloop; and being arrived at Parto-bel, we were deliver'd up to the Garifon there, and immediately thrust into a Dungeon far worfe than our condemn'd Hold in Newgate, where we remained one Night, and the next Morn= ing were taken out, and fet in the Stocks for one Hour. Afterwards, we were carried among a Company of Negroes, and other Slaves, who were all fetter'd and chain'd as Criminals, with whom we were commanded to work at the Iron-Caftle, fo called on Account of its great Strength; but because we were not able to perform fuch hard Labour, as the carrying of great Stones to the Forfications, the Overfeer of the Bufinefs was pleafed to beat us fo cruelly one Day, that at last he broke a great Halbert over my left Arm; neverthelefs, we were forced to work hard all the Day, and indeed my Fellow-Travellers were obliged to do fo every Day after, during the whole Month we flaid here; but I being difabled by this ill Ufage, and falling fick upon it, the Captain of the Caffle took Compaffion on me, and excufed me from my Labour; and moreover fent for the Man, who had exercifed this Barbarity on us, and feverely reprimanded him, faying, we were White Men and Chriftians, and were not to be used as Criminals, or Slaves. After this, he had the good Nature to come and fee me bathed with Rum four times every Day. But here we had no Allowance, befides what we received from the English Factory, who supplied us with all Things necessary, but could not procure our Liberty. Richard, Banister wrote our Complaint to the Factory at

at Panama, and received for Anfwer, that as foon as their Snows arrived here, to take up their Lading for Jamaica, we should be released from our Thraldom, and be received on Board one of them, and that in the mean time, they could help us no otherwise, than by taking Order, that we should have a comfortable Support, and so recommended us to Patience. At the End of four Weeks after we received this Answer, the Snows arrived, and then we were demanded as Subjects of England, and straitways released, and fent on Board.

when wee came to the Cape Gape Bona Speransa. Bona Speransa, where our Generall wente on Shoare; and havinge manye of our Men ficke, hee caufed the Tents to bee pitched, and our ficke Men to bee brought on Shoare. The People of the Countrye brought us downe fome Sheepe and Cowes which wee bought of them, givinge for a Sheepe a little Peece of Braffe, and for a Cowe three Peeces, which Braffe may be vallewed at 2 s. the three Peeces.

THEIRE Sheepe have noe Woole on their Backs, but Haire verye large, beeinge reafonablye well flefhed, with exceedinge greate Tayles.

THEIRE Beeves are like ours, verye large of Bone, but leane for the moste Parte.

THE People of that Countrye are Negrofe, with woollye Pates, flat nofed, and verye ftraight of Bodye. The Men have but one Stone apeece, the other is cutt out when they bee younge.

THEY goe apparrelled with a Skinne about theire Shoulders, which reacheth downe to theire Wafte; they have the Skinne of a Ratte to hange before theire Privie Members, and another on theire Buttocks, or elfe all naked. Some of them weare Capps of Leather made close to theire Pates, and Shoefoles tyed to their Feete, much broader and longer then theire Feete.

THEIRE Armes, wherewith they fighte, are Launces verye fmall, with Heades artificially made. They have likewife Bowes and Arrowes, but of little, or noe Force. They are verye experte, in throweing theire Darts, for they would runne into the Sea by the Shore-fyde, and kill much Fifhe with flynginge of theire Darts, in a fmall Tyme, and come and fell us them for little Snippes of Braffe or Copper.

THEY weare aboute theire Neckes fatt Gutts of Sheepe or Oxen, which fmell unfaverilye, and, when they are hungrye, will eate them. They will eate any Garbage bothe

IN this Baye of Saldama lyeth a lowe Iland called Penguye, by the Name of the Aboundance of Penguins that are theron, which are Fowles without Wings, aboute the Bigneffe of a Goofe, they are good to eate, but fomewhat ranke.

THERE is allfoe in this Iland aboundance of Seales, whereof wee coughte fome.

IN fyne, the Inhabitants of the Place live like miferable People, as indeede they are.

THE 28th of June 1612, wee departed from the Baye of Saldama with profperous Wyndes, faylinge on in our Voyage untill the 13th Day of Auguste, when wee croffed the Equinoctiall Lyne; and the 30th Daye, wee fawe Snakes fwyminge in the Sea, bee_ inge

inge in the Height of eighteene and a halfe Degrees to the Norward of the Equinoctiall; and foe wee fayled on untill the fourth of September, when wee came within foure Leagues of the Barr of Suratt, where wee mett with the Ozeander, beeinge one of our Fleete, whoe was rydinge at an Anchoure there, havinge gotten a Pilott out of a Boate of the Countrye, and lefte one of our Carpenter's Mates in Hoftage for him, whoe (unwifelye carryinge fome Moneye aboute him) when the Moores were from the Shippe, they cutt his Throate, and tooke what hee had, as afterwards wee were certaynlye informed.

UPPON the 7th of the fame Moneth, wee arrived at the Barre Suratt. of Suratt in the East-Indeases, and the thirteenth Day, wee came to Suratt, and were kyndlye entertayned of the Governor, and the Chiefes of the Cittye.

THERE is an Order in this Cuntrye, that Strangers cominge to visite an Inhabitante (bee hee a Man of anye Fashion) doe prefente fente him with fomethinge or other, and not to come to him emptye-handed; infomuch, that our People which wee fente firste on Shore, having nothing but Money aboute them to give for Prefents, were fayne to prefente the Governor of the Cittye, and other chiefe Men, with each a Royall of Eight, which they kyndlye accepted, takinge yt for a greate Honour to bee prefented, though the Prefente bee but fmall.

HERE wee remayned trading untill the 29th of November, when the fame Daye, our Shippes lying in the Mouth of the River of Suratt, fower Portungale Gallionns, with a whole Fleete of Frigotts came in Sight of our two Shippes, or rather one A worthy Fight Shippe, and a Pynnace; and the Portungales Then our Generall (in the Dragon) prefentlye wayat Sea. ed Anchoure, and worthelye encouraged our Men not to feare them, nor the Greatneffe of theire Shippes or Fleete, but to fhew themfelves true Englishmen, and foe mett theire Admirall and Vize-Admirall, and shott not one Shoote till hee came betweenc tweene them, and then gave each of them a broad Syde and a brave Volleye of Shott, which made them give way, and come noe more neare her that Daye. The other Shippes were not as yett come uppe, and the Ozeander could not gett cleare of her Anchours, foe fhee fhott not one Shoote that Daye, but the Dragon fupplyed her Wante verye well, and it drawinge neare Night, they all came to Anchoure within Sight of each other; and the nexte Morninge wayed Anchours againe, and begann theire Fight, in which the Ozeander bravely redeemedthe Tyme fhee lofte the Daye before. The fyrye Dragon (bestiringe herfelfe) in fome three Howers hott Feight, drove three of the Gallions on the Sands, and then the Ozeander drawinge little Water daunced the Haye aboute them, and foe payed them that they durfte not shewe a Man on theire Deckes, killinge and fpoylinge their Men, and battered theire Shipps exceedinglye. In the Afternoone, the Flud beeinge come, the Gallionns, with the Helpe of the Friggots, were aflote agayne, and receaved a brave welcome of our Shippes, with whom they continued \mathbf{T}

continued Feight about foure Howers, but much to theire Difadvantage, and our greate Honour. It beeinge nowe Night, wee came to our Anchours, and theire rode that Night, and all the nexte Daye, without meddling each with other; and the Daye after, the Dragon drawinge much Water, and the Baye fhallowe, the Generall wente from thence, and rode on the other Syde of the Baye, at a Place called Mendofrobag; where all that Tyme Sardar Chaune, a great Nobleman of the Mogull's, with 2000 Horfes, was Guyferatt by the Mogull) greate Nobles of the Cuntrye, but nowe live by robbinge and fpoylinge poore Paffengers by the Waye. Of this Nobleman, was our Generall verye honourablye entertayned, and prefented with a gallante Horfe and Furniture, which Horfe our Generall afterwards prefented to the Governour of Goga, a Porte-Towne to the Weftward of Suratt.

and Friggots, havinge replenished theire Wants with Store of freshe Men, came thether to our Shippes, which made Sardar Chaune, allthough he had heard wee had put them to the worfte on the other Syde in our former Fighte, yet, feeinge theire greate, Odds, bothe in Bigneffe and Quantitye (through his Love to our Generall) was verye fearfull of the Vente of the Fighte, and counfelled our Generall to flye; which hee fmyling at, tould him, that (God willinge) hee should fee theire greate Number should not avayle them against him; and foe havinge all his Men aboard, wayed Anchoure, and with a brave Refolution fett on them, beatinge and fpoyling them in fuch Fashion, that theire whole Defence was in flyinge away, and in fower Howers Space wee drove them cleane out of our Sight, and retorned and anchored with perpetuall Honoure. SARDAR CHANN after the Rafinge of his Caffle, and takinge the Rebbells, repayringe to the greate Mogull, related to him at large the Difcourfe of this Fighte, which made the Kinge admire much, formerlye thinkinge there had bin noe Nation comparable to the Portungale by Sea.

THE 27th of December 1612, our Shippes retorninge againe, came to Suallye, havinge lofte in all the Fightes, with the four Portungales, only three Men, and those Saylors; and one Man lofte his Arme, fhott off with a greate Shott, not anye elfe of our Companye, either hurte or wounded (thanks bee to God).

BUT the Portungales on the contrarye (as were have ben fince certaynlye informed, by those that fawe moste of them buryed) had flayne 160 Men, fome reporte 300 and odd, but themselves confesse 160; but fure theire

theire Loffe was more then they will confeffe.

THE 13th of Januarye 1612, I (beeinge in Suratt) was fente for aboard by the Generall, where (by a Counfaile) I was entertayned, and bounde to the worfhippfull Companye of Marchaunts, and in Regard of my Languadge (which others of theire Factors wanted) I was appoynted to remayne in Suratt, as a Factor. And havinge entred into a Bonde of 400 l. for the Accomplifhment of my Service, I was this Day difpeeded from the Generall, and retorned to Suratt.

THEIS and manye other Things accomplifhed, wee, for the Cuntrye, were fet on Shore, and the 18th of Januarye 1612, the Shippe^s departed for England, the Gallionns never offering one Shott at them, havinge ridden manye Dayes in Sight of them.

BEEINGE at Suratt the 29thDay of Januarye, wee difpeeded Mr. Paule Caninge for Agra, havinge provided all Things neceffarye for T 3 his his Voyage to Contentment, but he had a tedious and hard Journey of yt, beeinge 70 Dayes on the Waye betweene Suratt and Agra, and underwente manye Troubles, beeinge fett on by the Ennemye on the Waye, whoe fhott him through the Bellye with an Arrowe, and likewife one of his Englishmen through the Arme, and killed, and hurte manye of his Pyonns; but, God bee thanked, hee lofte not any thinge, but before his Arrivall in Agra, hee was well cured of his Hurte. Soone after this, two of his Englishe fell out with him, and foe lefte him on the Waye retorninge to Suratt, one of them brought away his befte Horfe and Furniture which cofte 201. Soe Mr. Caninge profeeded on his Journey, onlye attended with two Musitians, and the 9th Day of Aprill arrived in Agra.

AND the nexte Day was called before the Kinge, to whom hee delivered the Kinge of England's Letters, and a Prefente, which was of noe greate Vallue; which made the Kinge aske him, if our Kinge fente him that Prefente; he anfwer'd, our Kinge fente him him the Letter, but the Marchaunts fente him that Prefente. The Kinge graced him, by givinge him a Cuppe of Wyne with his owne Hande, (as Mr. Caninge wrote to us) and further toulde him, that all his Requefts fhould bee graunted, willinge him to write home for all rich Novelties, wherin hee much delighted, and, in fyne, referred him, for Difpatch of his Busineffe, to Mochrobo Chaune, a greate Nobleman. Whoe objected, first, Some five or fixe Marchaunts to refide in Agra, and wee should have a Caftle builte for us at Mendofrobag. Secondlye, Hee alledged, if noe Marchaunts should bee in Agra, then another Generall might take theire Goods, as Sir Henry Middletons had don. Thirdlye, If for our Sakes, they should breake Peace with the Portungales, and then wee to have noe more Shippe come in three or fower Yeares, what Satisfaction wee could make them for Wrongs receaved by them from the Portungales. To all which, Mr. Caninge answer'd to contente, and Mochrobo Chaune imparted his Anfwere to the Kinge, whoe refted well contente. therewith. Soone after his cominge to Agra. T 4 one one of his Musitians dyed, which was the chiefest Prefente fent to the Kinge. Aboute the Buriall of him, Mr. Caninge had much Trouble with the Portungale Fathers, whoe would not fuffer him to bee buried in theire Church-yarde (a Place which the Kinge gave the Portungales for Buriall of Chryftians) yet at laste Mr. Caninge buried him there, but the Portungales tooke him upp againe, and buried him in the Heighway; which the Kinge hearing of, made them take him upp againe, and bury him in the former Place, threatninge them, not onlye to turne them out of his Kingdom, but allfoe theire dead Bodies, theire Countriemen, out of theire Graves.

PRESENTLYE after, Mr. Caninge wrote to us of the Daunger and Feare hee lived in, of beeinge poyfoned by the Jefuits; and therefore defired, that I Nich. Withington might come upp to him, as well to affifte him in his prefente Affares, as allfoe to followe our Suite at Courte, in cafe of his Mortalletye; wheruppon, it was concluded amongfte us at Suratt, by a Counfell, that I fhould fhould departe with all conveniente Speede for Agra. Presentlye after this,

there came a Pattamar with Or Footeposle. Letters from Agra, certifyinge us of the Death of Mr. Caninge; and allfoe, howe the Kinge had taken order, that all his Goods should bee kepte fafe, till fome of our Englishmen came thether to take Charge of them; wheruppon yt was ftill agreed, that I should profeede on my purposed Journey to Agra, but Exceptions was taken by one Thomas Kyrridge, whoe alledged, that Mr. Caninge beeinge dead the Place belonged to him. In fyne, hee was difpeeded for Agra; but before his Departure, it was concluded amongste us, that fome one of us fhould goe for England overlande from Mocha, with Letters to advife the worshippfull Companye of our profeedings. And nowe in Regard, that within fome eighte or ten Dayes, there was a Shippe of this Place bounde for Mocha in the redd Sea; in which Shippe, one goinge, might well in twoe Monethes Travell, bee in Allexandria in Turkye; fo that, by all Likelihood, hee might bee fooner in England, then then if hee fhould goe by the Way of Aleppo: In fyne, our Agente propounded this Journey to mee N. W. which I (feeinge the Neceffitye of fendinge one, and that none other would attempte the Journey) gave waye to undertake.

SOONE after wee fente for the Mafter of the Shippe, that was bounde for Mocha, and acquaynted him with our Intente, whoe tould us, that it was impossible for a Chrystian to paffe that Way, unleffe hee were circumfized noe Christian beeinge fuffred to come neare Mocha, where theire Prophett Mahomet was buried, by which Place I mufte of force passe, to goe to Allexandria. The like wee heard allfoe of divers others, which made us (but especiallye myself, not havinge a Defier to bee cutt) to give over our Determination; yet notwithstandinge, wee hyred a Fellowe, that underftoode the Arabian Tonge, and had formerlye ben that Way to carrye our Letters to Allexandria, by that Conveyance, whoe departed in the Shippe. And at his Arrivall in Mocha, hee hearinge Newes that all our Englishmen were imprifoned, imprisoned, and our Goods confiscated for the late Facte of Sir Henry Middleton, whoe not longe before had robbed divers in those Parts, hee therefore durfte not profecde, but retorned our Letters in the Shippe, which arrived at the Barre of Suratt the 13th of September 1613, and was taken by the Portungales Armado of Friggotts, notwithftandinge theire Paffe which they had of the Portungales. This Shippe was verye richlye laden, beeinge worth a hundred thowfand Pounde, yet not contented with the Shippe and Goods, but tooke allfoe 700 Perfons of all Sorts with them to Goa; which Deede of theires is nowe growne foe odious, that it is like to bee the utter undoing of the Portungales in their Parts, the Kinge takinge yt foe haynofly, that they fhould doe fuch a Thinge contrarye to theire Paffe; infomuch, that noe Portungale paffeth that Wave without a Suertye, neither can anye Portungale passe in or out.

NOT longe after, there came one to us, whoe had rune awaye from Sir Henry Middleton to the Partungales, and with them had continued

284 The Voyages and Travells of continued till his cominge to us, he informed us of the Eftate of the Portungales, which hee affirmed to bee verye weake, and at that Tyme had divers of theire Townes befeeged by the Decannes, and other Moores theire

Neighbours; infomuch, that they were fayne to fende out of theire Townes manye hundreds of poore labouring People, and others that dwelte amongste them for Wante of Victualls.

THERE came likewife unto us, one that had formerlye rune awaye from our Shippes to the Portungales, and agayne from them to us, and in his Waye paffinge through the Decannes Countrye, he was perfwaded by another Englifbman (that was turned Moore, and lived there) to turne Moore, which hee did, and was circumfized, the Kinge allowinge him 7 s. 6 d. per Daye, and his Diett, at the Kinge's own Table, but within eighte Dayes after his Circumfizion he dyed.

LYKEWISE another of our Companie called Robert Trullye, which was an Attendante to Mr. Caninge, whome hee lefte, and wente to Decanne to the Kinge thereof, car. ryinge ryinge along with him a Germayne for his Interpritor, that understoode the Language, and cominge there, offred bothe to turne Moores, which was kyndlye accepted by the Kinge; fo Trallye was circumfized, and had a newe Name given him, and greate Allowance given him by the Kinge, with whom hee continued. But they cominge to cutt the Germayne, founde, that hee had ben formerlye circumfized (as he was once in Persia) but thought nowe to have deceaved the Decanne, whoe fyndinge him allreddye a Moore would not give him Entertaynment; foe hee retorned to Agra, and gott himfelfe into the Service of a Frenchman, and is turned Chryftian againe, goinge ufuallye to Maffe with his Mafter.

ANOTHER allfoe called Robert Claxton (whom wee had entertayned) hearinge reporte howe Trullye was made of in the Decanns Courte, lefte us, and wente thether allfoe, and turned Moore, havinge verye good Allowance; yet (not contente therewith) after the Englishe Shippes came to Suratt, hee came thether, shewinge himfelfe verye pennytente pennytente for what hee had don, and carried himfelfe in fuch Manner that everye Man pittied him. At the lafte, hee gott into his Hands fome fortye and odd Pounds, under Pretence of helpinge them to buye Commodyties, and then gave them the Slippe, and retorned from whence hee came, and there remaynes still for ought wee knowe. So there is with the Kinge of Decanne fower Englishermen which are turned Moores, and divers Portungales allfoe.

A BOUTE the 12th of October 1613, Mr. Aldworth, our Agente, myfelfe, and Mr. Aldworth's Man, and a Germayne, began our Journey for Amadavar; and travellinge alonge the Cuntrye, the 18th Daye, wee came to a prittie Village called Sarron, and lodged in the Governor's Yarde, where wee were fafe from Theeves. In the Morninge wee beeinge reddye to departe, the Gover_ nor fente his Men to us to begge fomethinge of us, whoe were contente with 8 Pites, which is aboute 3 d. Englifhe.

AND

AND travellinge yet further on our Journey, wee came to a Cittye called Brothra, which is but a little Cittye, yet of fyne Buyldings, where wee bought fome Commodities for our Trading; and about ten Courfes from thence, wee came to a River called Waffeth, where wee founde Muffulph Chane, Governor of Brodra, (and a Friend to our Englishe) with his Armye, beeinge reddye to fighte with the Rasbooches, that laye on the other Syde of the River, to the Number of 2000 Horfes, and manye Foote. Wee vizitted him, and prefented him with Cloth, and towards Night, Peace was concluded betweene him and the Rebbells, the Cheife of them (beeinge the Captain, and of the Rafe of the ould Kinges of Suratt) came over the River to vizitt the Governor; but before hee came, hee fente over his whole Armye, whoe put themfelves in Battell Array, for feare of anye Trecherye. For the Yeare before, the Brother of this Rebbell, cominge in the fame Manner to visite Mussuph Chane, whoe caused his Throate to bee cutt, and after, flewe manye of 288 The Voyages and Travells of of his Souldiers. Soe this Rebbell to prevente the like, fente over his whole Armye firste, and then came armed himselfe, beeinge compassed with fome fortye of his chiefest Souldiers all armed compleate, and foe prefented himfelfe before Muffulph Chane, givinge him a white Bowe, witneffinge (as wee conceaved) his Innocencye, and foe (kiffinge the Hande of the Governor) prefentlye departed. Muffulph Chane likewife the fame Night, wente to Brodra, and lefte us twentie of his Horsemen to accompanye us on our Waye, and allfoe lente us one of his Ellephants to transporte our Goods over the River, the Water beeinge heighe.

THE twenty-fecond Daye wee came to Amadavar, which is the cheifeft Cittye of Guyfferatt, and is verye neare as bigge as London, walled rounde with a verye ftronge Wall, fcituate in the Playne by the River-fyde. Here are Marchaunts of all Places refydinge, as well Chryftians as Moores and Gentills. The Commodities of this Place are Cloth of Gould, Silver, Tiffue, Vellvets, (but not comparable to to ours) Taffetafe, and other Stuffes, and divers Druggs, with other Commodities. Here wee tooke a Howfe to hier, in a Place where divers Armenian Marchaunts lye, and other Chryftians. The nexte Dave, wee vizited Abdolla Chan, Governor of this Place, (a Nobleman of 5000 Horfe Paye) and prefented him with a Vefte of Cloth, and other Trifles of and a half. fmall Vallue, but hee expected greater Matters, which wantinge, hee prefentlye difinified us without any Grace.

SHORTELYE after, our Agente sente mee to Cambaya, givinge mee 200 Rupeias, everye Rupie containinge 2s. 6d. to buye of all Sorts of Commodities, which I should fynde there fitt for our tradinge, and to informe myfelfe of the Place, which I thanke God I did, though with greate Daunger of Robbinge.

AND the 30th Daye, havinge beflowed my 200 Rupeias in fuch Commodities, as I founde for our Turne, in the Afternoone, beeinge reddye to departe, the Governor U fente fente for mee, and fhewed mee our King's Letter of England, which General Befte brought; tellinge mee, it was fente him downe from the Kinge to have it tranflated, and intreated mee to doe yt; but I excufed myfelfe, urginge the Neceffitie of my prefente Departure, and withall tould him, that yt was a Matter of more Importance, then for mee to doe yt alone, without the Knowledge of our Agente, and defired him to fende yt to Amadavar to our Agente, and hee (without doubte) would tranflate yt, which the Governor did, foe accordinglye it was tranflated.

HAVINGE well overcome our Bufineffe, and but little to doe, wee rode serkeffe. to Serkeffe, fome three Courfes from Amadavar, which is the cheife Place where they make theire flatte Indico, and there wee fpente twoe or three Dayes in feeinge the makinge therof.

IN this Towne are the Sepulchers of the Kings of Guyseratt, a verye dellicate Churche, and fayer Toumbes, which are kepte verye comelye, comelye, whither there is much reforteinge from all Parts of the Kingdome to vizitt theis Toumbes.

ALLSOF, aboute a Myle and a halfe off, there is a verye fayer and pleafante Garden of a Myle aboute, which compaffeth a verye fayer and statelye Howfe, feated dellicately by the River-fide, which Howfe Chou Chou, now the cheifefte Nobleman of the Mogull's, builte in Memoriall of the greate Victorye, which hee gott of the laste Kinge of Guyseratt, takinge him Prifoner, and likewife brought all his whole Kingdome in Subjection of the Greate Mogull, as yt ftill continueth. In Memoriall wherof, the Battell beeinge fought in this Place, hee builte this Howfe and planted the Orchard, rayfinge the heigh Wall rounde aboute yt; noe Man dwelleth in this Howfe, onlye a fewe poore Men that are hyred to keepe the Orchard cleane. Wee lodged in yt one Night, and fente for fixe Fishermen. that in leffe then halfe an Hower, tooke more Fishe then all our Companye could eate, and foone after retorned to Amadavar agayne.

HERE

HERE in Amadavar, is a Jesuite remayninge to converte Heathens to Chryftiaintie, though hee hath little Proffit therebye hetherto, yet still resteth in his Vocation; hee tould us, that they were a People abfolutelye predeftinated for Hell. Hee beeinge a Frenchman was verye open to our Agente in all Matters, and likewife made knowne unto him his owne poore Effate, proteftinge hee had nothinge to eate, by reafon of the Imbarquement of the Portungales, and theire Goodes; and, in fyne, intreated our Agente to lende him fome Money, or give him fome for God's Sake. Our Agente, feeinge the Povertye of the poore Man, gave him tenn Rupeias, viz. 25 s. Sterlinge; for the which afterwards hee wrote to him a thankful Letter, but withall defired him to burne yt, whereby I note his Pride of Harte to bee willinge to receave a good Turne, but not openlye to acknowledge that hee had neede of yt.

THE 12th of December, wee had certayne Intelligence by divers, that there were English English Shipps arrived in Synda at Eowrybander. Whereuppon yt was thought fitt by our Agente (myfelfe thereto confentinge) that I should inftantlye take my Journey thether to them, to informe them of our fettled Factorye, and to advise them of other Things conveniente for our and theire Tradinge. Whereuppon, I prepared all Things neceffarye, and the nexte Daye departed on my Journey; and the firste Night, I fell acquainted with certayne Marchaunts bounde for Synda Voyage by Nich. Withington. Synda, of which Acquayntance wee were all well pleafed, and glad keepinge Companye together, till yt pleafed God to parte us by Death.

KEEPINGE on our Waye the 15th of December 1613, wee came to a Village called Callwalla. Callwalla Villa.

This Towne, the King's Father (ould Accabaa) after the Conqueste of Guyseratt, cominge thether, gave to a Company of Women, and theire Posteritie for ever, uppon Condition to teache, and bringe U 3 upp

upp theire Children in theire owne Profeffion, which is dauncinge, &c. At our beeinge here, the Women of the Towne came into our Caravan and daunced, everye Man givinge them fomethinge; and afterwards, they asked openlye, whoe wants a Bedfellow? foe fhameleffe they were. Wee departed from thence the nexte Day, and the 19th Day wee came to Bollodo, a Forte kepte by Newlocke Abram (a brave Souldier) for the Mogull, whoe was that Day retorned from Battell, bringinge home with him 169 Heads of the Coolies, a theevifh Cafte of Moutteners, that live by robbinge and fpoylinge poore Paffengers on the Heighwaye.

WEE still kepte on our Journey, and the 21st Daye wee came to Raddinpoore a bige Towne, havinge a Forte kepte in yt, and a Companye of brave Souldiers. Wee stayed here twoe Dayes to provide ourfelves of Provision for the defarte Journey, there beeinge nothinge to bee had on the Way, not foe much as freshe Water for our Cammells, nor anye other Victualls for them, or ourfelves. The 23d Day wee travelled, and at Night laye

laye in the Feilds; foe likewife did wee the 24th. And the 25th, wee likewife lodged in the Feilds by a Well of Water, but yt was foe falte that wee could not use yt. The 26th wee lay by another Well of as falte Water as the former; this Daye wee gave our Cammells Water, which wee brought with us from Raddinpoore, they not havinge dranke of three Dayes, which is usuall with them there in their Travell. Soe wee travelled the 27th Day, and laye in the Feilds as before, havinge nothinge but what wee brought with us. And the 28th Day, wee came to Negar Parker, a poore Towne, yet with good Store of Provision for Travellers. In the Deferte that wee had paffed, wee fawe greate Aboundance of wilde Affes, redd Deare, Foxes, and other wild Beafts. This Towne, (wherin wee flayed a Daye to refreshe ourselves, and then departed, payinge a Toule for our Cammells Ladinge) payeth a yearelye Tribute to the Mogull, all the refte betweene that and Juno, which is halfe a Day's Journey from Tutta, paye none, neither acknowledge any Kinge but them-U 4 felves,

WHEN an Armye of the MoguW's cometh againste them, they fyer theire Howses, and flye into the Mountayns (theire Howses beeinge made of Strawe and Morter, in the Fashion of Beehives, which are soone burnte, and soone upp agayne). They have a Cuftome to guard Passengers (when they have taken from them what they please, under Culour of Custome) till they be sourch of theire Territoryes, takinge it in sowle Difgrace to have anye other (but themselves) to robb anye Man within theire Command.

CONTINUINGE still our defarte Journey, without anye Supplye of freshe Water, or Victulls, till the 2d of Januarye, when wee came to a little Village called Burdiaws, seated on a Hill : Here wee payed Custome for our Goods stayinge there a Daye and better, manye of our Companye beeinge sicke with drinking of theire Water, which is brackish, and my owne Provision of Water beeinge spente, I was forced to drink this of theirs, theirs, but I mingled yt with Buttermilke, wherof there is good Store. Of this Water, as bad as yt was, wee laded our Cammelia for four Dayes Journey, theire beeinge none to bee had in all that Way.

CONTINUINGE still our miserable defart Journey, untill the 9th of Januarye, when wee departed from Gundayaw (a little Towne full of Robbers) and fetting forwards from thence about nine of the Clocke. wee were fett on by Theeves; but havinge fome warninge therof, wee fhifted as well as wee could, bringinge our Cammells rounde about us in a Ringe, and makinge them fitt downe (which they would doe with a commandinge Word) and foe were within them. as in a Forte plyinge our Bowes and Arrowes, yet not to hitt the Ennemyes, for foe our Guyde had given us Charge. I difcharged my Piftoll twice at them; at the lafte, through our Guyde's Perfwafions, they were contente to take of us Or Lareefe, which five Layers, and foe to lett are made of Silver, like a Poynt Tagg, us passe. Some 2 Howers worthe 12 d. per Peefe. after, wee were fett on agayne by manye more, and foe were driven to our former Shifts; and, in fyne, as the former did, foe did theife, wee givinge them the like as to the firste. Soe this Night wee came to Sarrunne, a greate Towne of the Rasbooches, with a Castle in yt, fome 14 Course from Tutta. Wee visited the Governor called Ragee Bowma, the eldest

Sonne of Sultan Bull Bull of the Or Rafe. Cafte of the Kings of Synda, untill Synda was conquered from his Predeceffors by the Perfians. This Sultan Bull Bull, was latelye taken Prifoner by the Mogull, whoe pulled out his Eyes; yet, not longe after hee efcaped thence, and came hether, livinge now uppon the Mountaynes, and hath given his Sonnes and Kyndred Charge to revenge the Loffe of his Eyfe, of all Paffengers they can light on belonginge to the Mogull (but this I heard not of till afterwards). Soe this Ragee entertayned us verye kyndlye, fayinge, hee was glad wee had escaped from them that would have troubled us, biddinge us take Heede, for though wee were but 14 Course from our Journeyes End, yet there was much Daunger on the Way, hee

hee was especially e kynde to mee, feeinge mee a White Man, and of a farr Cuntrye (as my Interpriter tould mee) and asked me manye Queftions of the State of my Countrye, takinge much delight to heare therof; and at my Companions Departure, willed mee to flay with him, makinge mee fuppe there, and giving mee much Wyne drinkinge bothe together in one Cupp till hee was allmoste stawed, and then fente mee to my Companye, and much Victualls with mee. Here wee remayned the nexte Daye, and towards Night I mett with Or Pedlar. a Baman, whoe came that Day from Tutta, whoe tould mee, that Sir Robert Sherley, with his Wief, and three or four English Women with feven or eight English Men, were in Tutta. 'This Baman came in Sir Robert's Companye from Eouryebander, in a Shippe which fett them on Shore at Tutta, and fo departed thence, there beeinge noe English Shippes, nor Factorye feated there. Hee tould mee, howe Sir Robert had ben much abused at Eoverybander, bothe by the Governor, and the Portungales, and howe the Portungales came on Shore in the Night, and fyred Sir Robert's Robert's House, hurtinge many of his Men: and likewife at his Arrivall at Tutta, three Dayes Journey from Eowrybander, Merfa Rusto, then Governor of Tutta (for the Mogull) used him verye unkyndlye, and tooke from him Jewells and what elfe foever pleafed him, purpofinge to fende him upp to the Mogull. In this Effate hee lefte Sir Robert this lafte Night, when hee was at Sir Robert's House; hee advised mee to intreate the Governor of this Place, to lende us fome of his Souldiers to guard us to Tutta, which (in fyne) I did, and fente the Ragee for a Prefente 40 Lareis, which hee tooke kyndlye, promifinge to bringe us himfelfe, with 50 Horfemen, to the Gates of Tutta, and withall would make mee believe, that yt was for my Sake that hee wente himfelfe, which made my Companions thinke themfelves happie in my Companye, and were more merrye then ever I fawe them hefore.

THE 11th Daye in the Afternoone, wee laded our Cammells (the Ragee with his Companye beeinge reddye to depart from Surrun)

Surran) and that Night rode five Courfes, and refted by a Riverfyde. The Ragee fente for Fifher-men, whoe tooke more in halfe an Hower then all the Companye could eate. Wee fupped that Night with the Ragee, hee telling us, that by nine of the Clocke in the Morninge, hee would deliver us within the Gates of Tutta, which made us all verye merrye.

AT two of the Clocke in the Morninge, hee bad us lade our Cammells, and then ledd us alonge by the River-fyde, aboute a Myle and halfe, fayinge, the River was too deepe for our Cammells to paffe, and then ledd us a cleane contrary Way as wee perceaved, which made us greatelye feare his Intente. And aboute breakinge of Day, wee came into a thicke Valley of Wood invironed about with Hills (a Place moste fitt for our bloudye Guyde to acte his pretended Tragedye) and beeinge in the Middeft of the Thickett hee bad us unlade our Cammells, for he would fee wherewithall they were laden; which beeing done, hee caufed us all all to bee bounde, and our Weapons to bee taken from us. Then opened the Fardells and founde greate Store of Cloth of Gould, Silver, and Tiffue, and other Commodities; which cofte the Marchaunts (my Companions) in Amadavar twentye thousand Rupiase, each Rupia beeinge 2 s. 6 d. as they had formerly tould mee. The Ragee feeinge this Bootye foe rich, concluded to kill the Marchaunts, and all their Servants ; and his Companye would have had him kill mee and my Men allfoe, alledging, as good fave all as fome; but by no Meanes hee woule thereto confente, telling them, I was of a verye farr Countrye, and would doe them noe Hurte, wantinge Language; in fyne, hee promised his Companye, that I should not goe for Tutta to bewray this Facte of theirs there, but hee would fende mee back againe to Aniadavar from whence I came; fo caufed my four Men prefentlye to bee unbounde. making me fitt clofe by himfelfe, and fuddaynlye caufed his Men to hange the three Marchaunts, and theire five Men, tyinge theire Cammells Ropes about theire Neckes, and with a fhorte Trunchion twifted the Ropes

Ropes untill they were ftrangled, and then ftripped them naked, and made a greate Hole in the Earth, and threwe them in all together. Which done hee tooke from mee my Horfe, and gave mee twoe of my dead Companions Horfes; hee tooke from mee likewife eighty Rupias of the Companies Moneyes, and foe fente mee and my Men, with four of his Horfemen, to a Brother's of his, which dwelte fome twentye

Or 30 Myles. Courses off the Place, upp to the Mountaynes, and foe aboute Midday difpeeded mee from him. Beeinge nowe on the Way towards his Brother, a newe Feare fell on mee, for that my Companions tould mee, that the four Horfemen, that wente with mee, had order to kill us all when wee were fome twoe or three Courfes off; wheruppon they wept extreamlye, and asked one another Forgiveneffe, making themfelves reddye to dye; and the Countenance of my Guydes prefaged little leffe, not once fpeaking to mee. Soe with a wofull Harte, God knows, I rode till an Hower within Night, at which Tyme wee came to a little Village on the Topp of a verye heigh Hill, belonginge to the Ragee, where 304 The Voyages and Travells of where I laye that Night, beeinge kyndlye welcomed by my Guydes, giving mee and my Men and Horfes Vicles enough.

THE nexte Day beeinge the 14th of Fanuarye 1613, wee travelled all Day longe without any Baytinge, over terrible heigh Hilles and Rocks, and late at Night came to the Ragee's Brother's Howfe, to whom I was delivered, and Order given him by my Guyde to keepe mee, till hee heard farther Newes from the Ragee. This Man used mee kyndlye, and gave mee a large Place in his Howfe to lye in, and roome for my Horfes. The nexte Morninge, the four Horfemen that brought mee thether retorned to their Mafter, leavinge mee in this Place, where I continued 22 Dayes, beeinge never fuffred to ftir out of Dores, nor none of my Men, neither anye to come at us, but those that brought us Victuals twice a Daye which wee never wanted.

Notwithstandinge I still feared I should never get thence with Life, but yt pleasedGod, the 7th Day of Februarye, Order came came from the Ragee to his Brother to fende mee to Parker, and there deliver mee to the Governor, which was likewife of theire Kyndred, and hee fhould fende mee to Paddingpore. This Newes the Ragee's Brother tould me, and faide, that the nexte Daye I should goe, and hee would fende three of his Horfemen with mee two Dayes Journey; and there hee had another Brother, that fhould bringe mee to Parker. Soe the eight Day wee departed with our Guydes; and that Night rode fixteene Courfe to a Vill ge called Nondogue, where wee were well entertayned of our Guydes, and lodged there that Night. The ninth wee rode twentye Courfe; but were till Midnight before wee gott thether, and then came to the Howfe of him that I was confyned to bee delivered unto, and the nexte Daye the Men that brought mee thether, retorned. This Ragee (for all the Sonnes of the Sultan are called Ragees, or Commaunders) promised me (within two Dayes) to goe with mee himfelfe to Parker, haveinge (as hee faid) Bufineffe there. But hee kepte mee feven Dayes, yet used mee kyndlye, and afterwards fente mee away with five of his Souldiers to accompanye Х mee.

306 The Voyages and Travells of mee, not goinge himfelfe. With theis I was ledd four terrible Dayes Journeye, which allmoft killed mee, and my poore Men and Horfes. At the four Dayes End they delivered mee to an other Ragee, (of the Kyndred of the firste of Sarrane) and hee kepte mee five Dayes with him, not lettinge mee departe, nor fuffringe one of his Men to goe with mee. Theis Delayes made mee even wearye of my Life. At the laste (through my Importunitie) hee fente mee away the twentye-feventh Day, and fix of his Souldiers to accompanye mee, who carried mee that Night five Courses to an

or a little Village. Aldeam, and there gave mee noe Victualls, (as formerly I had) foe that I was fayne to fende my Men into the Village to begge, who brought mee a little Rice fodd, and fome Cammells Milke, which (I eatinge) made mee extreame ficke that Night; but for my Horfes they could gett nothinge, fave only a little Stubble and Graffe, which they gott in the Fields, which made them fcarce able to travell. This Night theis fix Rogues, feeinge I had verye good Apparrell of the Countrye Fashion, and a Quilte of Efecte, with manye other Things of

of Worthe, determined with themfelves to ftrippe mee of all, which they did, leavinge neither mee nor my Men any Thinge, fave onlye our Breeches; which done, they lefte us with our Horses, which were not worth the Taking. This Miferye wente nearer my Harte then all the former, beeinge nowe ftripped of all, and havinge nowe two third Parts of my Way to goe to Amadabar, not knowinge one Foote of the Way, and the Wether could, which made mee allmoste wearye of my Life, and my Mens Unhartineffe made me fuller of Greefe. Yet comfortinge my felfe and Men the befte I could, the firste of March, 1613, I wente on without a Guyde, not knowinge one Foote of the Way, but onlye by Geffe, and travelled all Day longe, and towards Night came to two or three Houfes of poore Cammel Mens, that kepte Cammells in the Mountaynes, to whom wee tould the Mifhapp, which wee had receaved by our Guydes thus leaving us. The poor People made much of us, givinge us fuch Victualls as they had, and one of them promifed to leade us into the Way that goes to Parker, from thence fome two Dayes Journey. In the Morninge hee wente with us fome three Courfes, puttinge us in the heigh Way, and fo lefte us: But wee (miffinge our Way) made four Dayes Journey to Parker; my Horfe tyringe, I was fayne to goe one Foote; and beeinge a bad Footeman, travelled verye foftlye, and everye Night wee came to a little Village, and begged for our Victualls, fyndinge all the Inhabitants charitable People; fo the fixth Day at Night we came to Parker, miferablye wearye and hungrye. I fente two of my Men to proove what they could doe for mee with begging, but they brought me nothing, fo I byded that Night; and the nexte Morninge I fente one of my Horfes to fell, but noe Man would give above four or shillings. Mamoda's for him; yet I fhould have been forced to have fould him for that; but by greate Chaunce I mett with a Baman Marchaunte of Ama-

207

or redlar. davar, whom I had formerlye knowen, whoe wondred to fee mee in that Cafe, and after manye kynde Salutations, offred mee what Money I would have, not fuffringe mee to fell my Horfe. Thus it pleafed God to fende mee Releefe, when I was in greate Neceffitie, not knowinge what to doe to gett Provision for my Journey over the Defarte to Amadavar, whither of Force I muste have gone: But it pleased God to fende mee this Succour; hee furnished mee and my Men with Clothes and Victualls sufficient to ferve us in the Deferte, and gave me nine Mamoda's in my 9 shillings. Purfe, payinge all my Expences, whilefte I flayed heare, which was four Dayes : And then havinge good Companye, which wente to Padingpore, I wente alonge with them. The honeft Baman commended mee unto them, and brought mee one Courfe on my Way, and then retorned to Parker, where hee had Busineffe for ten Dayes, (as hee faid.) Nothinge worth notinge paffed in our Way over the Defart, onlyc the fuperstitious Customs of the People, which I will herafter expresse. Wee were fix Dayes betweene Parker and Paddingpore; and the nineteenth of March I came to Paddingpore, and there fell exceedinge ficke, and remayn_ ed foe fix Dayes, liker to dye then live: And the twenty-fixth of March, 1614, beeinge fomewhat amended, and good Companye reddye to departe for Amadavar, I ftrayned Curtefie with my Sickneffe, and departed X 3 with with them, pawninge fome of my Clothes to one of the Companye for five Mamoda's, my Monye formerlye borrowed beeinge fpente in my Sickneffe. And after feven Dayes Travell I arived in Amadavar, (the Lord bee prayfed) beeinge 111 Dayes fince my Departure firste from thence into Synda. I founde noe Englishemen heare, onlye a Letter, which our Agente lefte with an Armenian for mee, advisinge mee of manye Things. So I stayed heare two Dayes, and provided my felfe of Apparrell, and Money, and a Horse.

SOE the fifth of Aprill, 1614, I departed from Amadavar (Brodra Way) to Suratt; and the feventh Day I came to Cambaya, where I fell ficke againe, and foe continued five Dayes very ill: And beeinge fomewhat recovered, and able to travell, the twelfth Day of Aprill I lefte Cambaya, and paffed the large River that Night; which River is about feven Courfe broad, verye dangerous to paffe, and yearlye fwalloweth upp manye Hundreths. From thence I travelled untill the eighteenth of Aprill, when (God be prayfed) I came to Suratt. I WILL omitt here the Difcription of the Cuntrye of Synda, and onlye touche the Inhabitants, and theire Cuffomes, of that Cuntrye.

OF theis Manner of burninge I have feen manye : The firste that ever I faw, was in Surratt, with our Agente, and the refte of our Englishe; it was very elamentable. The Woman which was burnte, was not above ten Yeares of Age, and had never layen with her Husband. But this yt was : Hee beeinge a Souldier, and goinge uppon Service, was flayne in the Action, and there burned; but his Clothes and Turbante were brought home with Newes of his Death ; wheruppon his Wife would needes bee burnte, and foe made Preparations for it; and beeinge reddye to facrefife her felfe with her Husband's Clothes, which fhe had with her, Order came from the Governor, that fhee should not dye, in regard fhe had never layen with her Hufband; which Newes fhe took wonderfull paffionately, defiringe them to fett Fyer on the Wood prefentlye, fayinge her Husband was a great Waye before her; but they durite not burne her, till her Frends wente to the Governor, and intreated him, givinge him a Prefente for the fame; which when they obteyned, teyned, they retorned, and (with greate love to her, as fhe feemed) burnte her to Afhes with her Husband's Clothes, and then cafte the Ashes into the River. This was the firste that ever I fawe; at the Sight wherof our Agente was foe greeved, and amazed at the undaunted Refolution of the younge Woman, that hee faid hee would never fee more burnte in that Fashion, while hee lived. The Kyndred of the Husband that dies, never force the Wife to burne her felfe, but her owne Kyndred; houldinge it a greate Difgrace to theire Familie, if shee should denye to bee burned, which fome have done, but verye fewe : And if they will not burne, (yt beeinge in theire Choyce) then fhee muste shave her Hayer, and breake her Jewells, and is not fuffred, to eate, drinke, or keepe Companye with anye Bodye, and foe liveth in this Cafe, miferablye, till her Death : Nowe, if any one of them purpose to burne, and (after Ceremonies done) bee brought to the Fyer, and there feelinge the fcorchinge Heate. leape out of the Fyer, her Father and Mother will take her and bynde her, and throwe her into the Fyer, and burne her per force; but fuch

FOR the refte of the Ceremonies, theire Washinge, Honoringe of Stocks, Stones, and Cowes, with a hundred other superstitious Ceremonies, too large to reherce, I will here omitt: And thus much for the Rasbooches and Bamans.

Now E for the Boloches of Synda, inhabitinge nere the River, they are Moores of the Religeon of Mahomett, (as the Greate Mogull and King of Decan are.) Theis are a People that deale much in Cammells; and in those Parts moste of them are Robbers on the heigh Way, and allfoe on the River, murdringe fuch as they robbe. Aboute the Tyme that I was in Synda, the Boloches tooke a Boate, wherin were feven Itallians, and one Portungale Fryer, which fought with them, and were flayne everye Man, only the Portungale escaped alive, whoe beeinge verye fatt, they ripped upp his Bellye, and fearched whether there were anye Pedarcea, or Fewells. I HAD allmoste forgotte the Custome of the Baman Marriage. The Manner and Custom of the Baman Marriages.

THEY marrye their Chilldren verye younge, about the Age of three Yeares and under; and fome tymes they make Promife to one an other, that theire Children shall marrye together, before they bee borne; as in Example : If two Neighbours Wives bee with Childe, they make a Bargayne, that if one bringe forthe a Sonne, and the other a Daughter, they shall marrye together. They may not marrye but one of theire owne Cafte and Religeon, and they muste bee likewife of one Occupation or Trade, as the Sonne of a Baker shall marrye a Baker's Daughter. provided they bee bothe of one Cafte and Religeon; and when theire Chilldren are three or four Yeares ould, they make a greate Feaste, and fett the two Children that are to bee married, upon two Horfes, with a Man before eache of them, for feare of fallinge, havinge they come home and feaste, and in the same manner continue feaftinge certayne Dayes, more or leffe, accordinge to the Welthe of the Parents : And when the Children come to bee ten Yeares ould, they lye together. The Reafon whye they marrye them foe younge, they fay, is in regard they would not leave their Children wivelefs : If yt fhould pleafe God to take the Parents awaye of either of the Children, yet (fay they) they have other Parents to ayde them, till they come to Yeares of Difcretion. yt hath ben an ould Cuftome, Husbands dead Bo- and longe fince ordeyned by a certayne Kinge of theires, becaufe caufe hee had manye of his Nobles and Souldiers poyfoned (as was fuppofed) by theire Wives. Hee therefore ordeyned, that when anye Husband dyed, his Wife fhould bee burned with his Corpes; and if hee had more Wives then one, as manye as hee had, fhould all burne together. But then they were forced unto yt; but nowe they have gotte fuch a Cuftome of yt, that they doe yt mofte willinglye. As concerninge theire Preifts, which they call Bramans, they keepe theire Pagods, and have Allmes or Churches. or Tythes of theire Parifhionors, beeinge efteemed marvaylous holye. They are married as the refte are, and are of Occupations, and followe theire Bufineffe clofe. They are for the mofte parte verye good Workemen, and apte to learne to make anye Thinge that they fee the Patterne of before them. They eate but once a Day, and before and after Meate washe all theire Bodie; allfoe, if they make Water, or goe to Stoole, they carrye Water with them, to washe when they have done.

BEEINGE nowe at Suratt, our Agente havinge Occasion to buye some rounde Indicoe, coe, which was to bee had in Agra, which is about 40 Dayes Journey from Suratt, which Journey (in fyne) our Agente propounded to mee, N. W. which I undertooke and (I thanke God) performed, although I paffed through manye Perills, but efpeciallye of Drowninge, it beeinge in Winter, wherin, for the Space of 4 Monethes, or there abouts, yt continuallye rayneth. The 7th of June, 1614, I came to the Cittye of Agra, havinge ben 37 Dayes on my Journey from Suratt thether, which is, as neare as I could gueffe, 1010 English Miles, which I was fayne to travell Daye and Night.

THE 9th of June, 1614, I visited the Jefuites which remayned in Agra, whoe have a verye fayer Church buylte them by the Kinge, and a Howse allfoe; the Kinge alloweth the cheifeste of them 7 Rupeias a Daye, and the reste three Rupeias a Daye.

They have Licence to turne as manye to Chriftiaintie, as they can; and they have allreddy converted manye; but (alas!) it is for Money's fake; for the Jefuites give them 3 d. aDaye: And when the Jefuites (thro' the Facte of the Portungalls) were debarred of

of theire Paye from the Kinge, having noe Moneye to paye theire newe Chriftians withall, they dayley came, and offered the Jefuitts theire Beads agayne, tellinge them, they had ben longe without theire Paye, and therefore they would bee no longer Chriftians. And, foone after this, (the Kinge feeinge the Portungales would not deliver the Goods which they tooke at Suratt back agayne) caufed the Church Doore to bee locked upp, and they have foe continued ever fince: So the poore Jesuits are fayne to make a Church of one of theire Chambers, wherein they fave Maffe twice a Daye. and preach everye Sundaye, firste in the Persian Tonge, that the Armenians and Moores may understand, and afterwards in Portungale, for the Portungales, Itallians and Greekes.

HAVINGE difpatched my Bufineffe which I came in Charge withall, I received a Letter from our Agent, givinge mee Notice of 4 Englifh Ships that were arrived in Suratt, under the Commande of General Nicholas Dawnton, which joyed mee much, and withall willed mee to provide as much Indicoe or 1000 l. as came to twenty thousand Mamodas, which I did, takinge it upp uppon my Credytt, he promiffinge mee that I should receave Money by Exchange within fower Dayes for the fame. So as foone as I could make it upp in Fardells, I hyred Camells and difpeeded the Indicoe for Suratt to our Agent; and two Days after the difpeedinge thereof I receaved other Letters from our Agent, wherein hee advised mee not to deale in any more Indicoes, for hee could make me upp noe Money: This News made me in a pittifull Cafe, becaufe I had mingled the Goods together, fo that I could not returne everye one his owne againe; yet I prefentlye tooke Horfe and fetched backe the Camels againe, feekinge to come to Compofition with my Creditors, and my Camell-Men, but it was a Laboure far greater then Hercules's; for they would heare noe Reafon, but came cryinge and yawlinge for theyre Money (which I had not to give them). They put mee to foe much Trouble and Greife that made mee almost oute of my Witts. But at laste, the Governor feeinge how I had ben deceaved in the Expectation of Money promifed, hearinge fome good good Excufe which I made for my Moneys not cominge, (in fyne) forced the Marchaunts to take theire Goods agayne, and foe parte them amongste them, accordinge to the Quantitie I had bought of eache, and made the Camelmen pay backe the Moneye receaved, favinge onlye the Earnefte I gave them. So this kynde Governor ridd mee of a World of Trouble, which had like to have killed mee, for (I protefte) I fcarce flepte in 10 or 12 Dayes and Nights, neither eat anye thinge fcarce : Soe deeplye was this Greife rooted in my Harte, this beeinge my firste Imployments, and in these Parts, in foe shorte a Tyme to have fuch Creditt to take upp foe much Goods on my bare Worde, and then to break yt, and foe confequentlye my Creditt, that I was ashamed to goe oute of Doores; but yt was God's Pleafure thus to punish mee for my Synnes, and foe I take yt. But fure I will hereafter beware howe I trufte to Letters of Advice while I live, havinge escaped this Error.

HERE I continued ficke a long tyme, beeinge much diftempered with the Greife formerlye receaved, which diftempature kepte Y 2 mee 324 The Voyages and Travells of mee for the Space of 3 Monethes; at the length I was fent for to Agimere, where (God bee thanked) I recovered.

THE General departed the 2d of March, 1614, leaving William Edwards Cheif Marchaunte, who tooke uppon him the State and Title of an Ambaffador, as I have hereafter fet down. The General departinge with his 4 Shipps from Sualley had a greate Feight with the Portungalls, they cominge againfte them with 10 Gallions, 2 Gallies, and 60 Friggotts; in which Feight the General fyred 3 of theire greate Shipps, and flew a greate Number of theire Men, himfelfe receavinge little or noe Damage in the Feight, (the Lord bee prayfed).

IT was determyned by Mr. Edwards, Cheif Marchaunte for the Englishe in those Parts, and not Ambassfador as we formerlye fupposed, to fende upp to Agra one Robert Younge, and myself N.W. to dispatche some Bussinesse. Soe the 28th of Julye, 1615, wee arrived in Agra, beeinge in the Middesse of Wynter.

Between

BETWEEN Adgemere and Agra, at everye ten Courfes, which is an ordinarye Dayes Journeye, there is a Serralia (or Place of Lodging) boothe for Man and Horfe, and Hoftesses to dreffe our Victuals if we please, paying a Matter of 3 d. both for Horfe and Meate dreffinge. Betweene thefe Places, (which is effeemed to be 120 Courfes) at everye Courfe End there is a greate Pillar erected; and at everye 10 Courfe End a fayer Howfe, built by the Kinge's Father, ould Accabar, when hee went in Pilgrimage from Agra to Adgemere on Foote, fayinge his Prayers at everye Courfe End, where hee caused the forefaid Pillars to bee erected. And where hee layes till all Night, there hee caufed the aforefaid Howfes to bee builte. They onlye fervinge for the Kinge and his Women, none ellfe ever lodginge or dwellinge in them.

THIS Kinge which nowe raignes, lyes in Adgemere, upon fome occasion of Warr which he hath against the Ranna or Rasboatcha, inhabitinge in the Mountaynes, whom this Kinge's Father, nor Y 3 this 326 The Voyages and Travells of this Kinge could ever bringe to Subjection. But nowe, by the Kinge's lyinge foe neare him, and continually (for two Yeares Space) plyinge him with a World of Souldiers, hee at lafte fente his Sonne to do Homage to the Kinge, and foe a Peace was concluded between the Kinge and Ranna.

As concerninge the Greatneffe of this Kinge, the Greate Mogul, his State is foe greate in Comparison of most Christian Kinges, that the Report would bee almoste incredible, therefore I will omitt yt with Admiration, and referre the Reporte therof to the (would-bee) Ambassador Edwards. Nor will I speak at large of his greate Justice, fittinge 3 tymes a Day therin him-be wronged, and cannot have Justice of his Nobles, they may repaire, and ringinge the Bell, he looketh out, caufinge them to bee brought before him, and examineth the Matter; and if hee fynde that the poore Man bee wronged in Justice (be hee the greatest Noble-Nobleman about him) he prefentlye takes away all his Meanes, puttinge him either into Prison perpetually, or cutts his Throate. In fyne, his Greatness is fuch, that I rather admire at yt than prefume to write of yt. But I will retorne to the Accidents in my owne Occafions. Havinge difpatched all my owne Affaires, and nowe at Leafure, I rode to the River of Ganges, the famous Riverof that Countrye, and from Agra is two Dayes Tourney. Here I flayed two Dayes, and observed divers Customes and Ceremonies of the Cafte of Banyam, the River-fide being full of Pagods kept by Bramans, the Or Priefts. Relation wherof would bee too tedious to reporte heare.

THE Water of this River Ganges is carried manye hundred Myles from thence by the Banyans, and, as they affirme, it will never flinke though kepte never fo longe, neyther will anye Wormes or Vermine breede therin. Alfoe by Agra runeth a verye large and deepe River called Gemmynys.

THIS Agra is noe Cittye but a Towne, yet the biggeft that ever I faw. The fairefte thing in yt is the Caftle, wherin the Kinge (when hee is in Agra) keepeth his Court. The Wall of this Caftle is fome 2 Courfes in Compase, and the fayrest and heigheste that ever I fawe, and within well replenished with Ordinants; one of the which beeinge of Braffe, is far bigger then ever I fawe anye in England. The reft of this Towne (excepte fome Noblemens Howfes which are verye fayer, and for the moste parte feated by the River-fyde) is very ruinous. The auncient Seate of the Kings of this Countrye, where they keepe theire Courts, was in Fettepoore, 12 Courfes from Agra, and is a verye ftronge Cittye, fituate uppon a mayne Quarrye of Rocke. But fince the Caftle of Agra was builte, this Cittye hath gone much to decaye, and is nowe verye ruynous. Between Fettipoore and Agra is the Sepulcher of this King's Father, which is a wonderful rich and curious Buildinge, and to my Judgment the fairefte that ever I fawe in Christendome, or elsewhere. And yet the Churche of Fettipoore cometh verye neare yt, and is likewife builte by Geometrie. BEEINGE

BEEINGE nowe in Agra there came to mee Mr. Rogers, a Preacher, Thomas Mitford, Phillip Baker, and Charles Clarke, and brought mee Newes of the Arrival of 4 Engli/b Shipps at Suratt, under the Commande of Captayne William Keelinge, and withall tould mee they were fente upp to apprehende mee by Order from Mr. Edwards, whoe heard that I had much Goods of my owne in the Howfe, and he not knowinge howe I came by them, and therefore caufed mee to bee taken and put in Irons, and withall gave Order I should bee fente foe unto him to Agimere. This was a ftrange Alteration to mee, and a Wonder that this Thunder-clapp fhould fall fo fuddenlye and noe Lightninge before. For my owne Parte I tould them yt were a greate Follye in mee if I could not give fufficient Reafons howe I came by my Goods. I tould them I had four Fardells of Indico, two Chefts of Semiames, Cheetes, and fuch like, and they might well bee affured that if I had not come honeftlye by them, but by Knaverye deceaved the Companye, I fhoud doubtleffe have had foe much Cunninge in mee as to have bought fome Dyamonds, Rubyes, or fuch like, or elfe have kept the Monye wherewith I bought them, and have turned it into Commodities which would have been eafilye carried, and clofe from the Eye of the World, where on the contrarye I had boughte nothinge but fuch things as could not poffibly bee carryed, but must bee knowne, beeinge the Goods I mentioned before. Such was my playne and open Dealinge, not caringe whoe knew therof. But they made flight of what I fayde to them; whereuppon I made it knowne unto them of whom I had taken upp my Goods, fome I took uppon my owne Creditt, to be payed at 24 Monethes; others I bought for reddye Money, which I borrowed uppon my owne Bonde, to be payed at the fame 'Tyme. I willed that my Creditors might bee fente for, and that they might justifye the Truthe; but they tould mee, they muste followe the ftricke Order of Mr. Edwards, which was to fend mee downe in Irons, and to take all the Goods, bothe of the Companyes and my owne, into theire Poffeffions. Soe the nexte Daye in the Morninge Mr. Rogers and Phillipp Baker tooke Charge of mee, and with my Trons

Irons on my Heels, waighinge 20 Pound Waight, they brought mee to Agimere, which was 10 Dayes Journey. But Mr. Rogers verye kyndlye fome 3 Courfes before I came to Agimere, tooke off my Irons to prevente mee of open Shame before my Countrymen, and fo brought mee to Mr. Edwards, whoe gave him little Thanks for that Kyndneffe hee fhowed to mee.

AT my cominge to Mr. Edwards, (our would-bee Ambaffador) his Honour entered into a stricte Examination of mee howe I came by my Goods which I had in Agra. But I protefte kee proceeded foe foolifhlye, and with fuch apyfhe Queftions, accordinge to his common Jefture, and well-marked Shamefullneffe in his Carriage, that I did a!mofte fcorne to anfwer him. But havinge more Respecte to the Place hee was in then to his unworthy Perfon, I tould him trulye howe and in what manner I came by the Goods, and withall charged him with the Abuse he had offred, not onlye to mee, but confequentlye to our whole Nation, confideringe the Fashon I had carried myself in in Agra, soe disgracefullye puttinge me in Chaines.

Chaines, his made Factor in Agra divulginge abroad that I was behynde-hand in Accompte forty thousand Rupeias, (or Half-Crowns) with manye other difgracefull Speeches of mee. To which Edwards fwore he never gave them Order to putt Irons on mee, with fome other Excufes; but his Mynde was not according to his Words to me, for within 10 Dayes after, uppon flight Occation quarrellinge with me, falfelye charged mee too bee drunke, as glad of the leafte Occation, and came with his Pions (or hired Servants) into my Chamber, and there on a fuddayne bounde mee, and putt a fayer Payre of Boults on my Leggs. fwearing hee would fende mee downe to the General William Keelinge to Suratt in that Fashion. The cheifest Cause of his foe bafe Ufage of me, was in regard I went with Mr. Rogers, our Preacher, to visit Mochrobochane, (a great Nobleman) I beeinge Mr. Rogers his Interpriter for that tyme; Mr. Rogers only e purpofinge to take his Leave of him. But Mochrobochane heringe that hee would departe for England, tould Mr. Rogers, hee muste needes fee the Kinge before hee wente, and willed him to come the nexte Morn-

Morninge, and hee would prefente him before the Kinge. Mr. Rogers allfo vifited the Prince Sultan Cufferow, whole receaved him verye gratiouflye, givinge him a Letter to the Governor of Suratt for his good Entertainment there, which Letter floode us in good flead in Suratt.

NOWE Mr. Edwards hearinge howe Mr. Rogers had been entertayned by the Prince, and allfoe had agreed (at Mochorobochane's Motion) to goe with him to the Kinge, he ftormed extremelye, and fell into filthy uncivill Tearmes with Mr. Rogers the Preacher, and caufed him to bee kepte Prifoner by his Pions in his Chamber, not fufferinge him to flire out of Doores to the Kinge, which was, especially by the Jefuytts, laughed at, to fee how bafelye wee efteemed our Countrymen; and taken Notice of by the Moores and Christians, much to his Hindrance; for it was thought, the Kinge being foe bountifull to all Strangers, would have given our Preacher fome good Reward ; which Mr. Edwards fearinge, and in Regard himselfe was soone to departe from hence, hee thought the King's Bountye would \mathbf{z} would bee leffe to him, not beeinge contente with all the former Giftes, which amounteth in my Knowledge to the Some of 6000 Rupeias, which is 700 l. Englifb, and odd. Soe the Carravan cominge from Agra wee departed from Adgemere towards Suratt, viz. Mr. Rogers, Preacher, and others, and myfelfe, N. W. in Chaynes.

AND nowe I cannot but fomewhat touch the Businesse and the Carriage of our (would-bee) Ambaffador, Mr. Edwards, whoe cominge into the Easte-Indeas tooke the Title and State of an Ambaffador uppon him. And havinge the Kinge of England's Letter delivered him by General Downton to deliver to the Greate Mogull, did open the fame, addinge and diminishinge what feemed beste for his owne Purpose and Commoditie, either to or from yt, and foe prefented his Tranflation to the Great Mogull, with the Prefent fente him by the Marchaunts, and the Kinge bestowed on him 3000 Rupeias (or Half-Crownes) for Horfe-meate. After this hee continued in Adgemere, and fometymes went to the Court, where behavinge himfelfe not as befeeminge an Ambaffador, efpeciallye fente fente from foe worthye and greate a Prince as the Kinge of England. Beeinge indeede but a mecannycal Fellowe, and imployed by the Companye into thofe Parts, was kicked and fpurned by the King's Porters out of the Courte-Gates, to the unrecoverable Difgrace of our Kinge and Nation, hee never fpeakinge to the Kinge for Redreffe, but carryinge thofe greate Difhonours like a good Affe, makinge himfelfe and our Nation a Laughing Stock to all People in general, to the greate Rejoycinge of the Portungales, whoe openlye divulged the Difgrace of the Englifb Ambaffador receaved, by Letters throughout all the Countrye.

A FT ER this our honourleffe Ambaffador, William Edwards, petitioned to the Great Mogull to obtayne Licence from him to inflicte Juftice uppon all Englishmen (Malefactors) in his Dominions, by Execution to Death, or other bodilye Punishmente, according to our English Lawes, which the Mogull denyed him : And uppon this a Quarrell arrose betweene him and the Companye of English Factors lyinge in Agimere, so that the faid Edwards was by one Tho-

AND after the Shipps Arrival at Suratt. which brought over an Ambaffador trulye fente frome the Kinge of England, as we then heard yt reported, which was Sir Thomas Roe, Edwards nowe fearinge the Difgrace of his Knaverye would light uppon him, and beeinge asked what the Ambaffador was which was arrived at Suratt, made Anfwer, That he was a Man fubdare, which is a Common Souldier of fower Horfe Paye, and of no Reputation. Theis and manye more I could fett downe but for Brevetye Sake. And if hee should denye the leaste Tittle I have heare written, I will bringe good Proofes to mayntayne yt, not onlye before our worthye Imployers, but also before the King's Majefty and Counfell.

I OMITT his Determination of Cozenninge the Companye, with his Factor Yonge, in Agra. But when Occation shall be offred I will likewise bringe sufficient Prooffe of that, but till then this shall suffice.

Bur

BUT I hope the Companye will take Warninge howe they imploy fuch mechannick Fellowes about fuch Bufineffe. And I likewife hope that Sir Thomas Roe, nowe Ambaffador, by his worthye Carriage will redeeme the greate Difhonour that Edwards hath raifed to our Kinge and Nation by his ill Carriage, and teftifye the fame by fome Relations.

But nowe to returne to my owne Wrongs. Beeinge nowe difpeeded in Chaynes from Agimere towards Suratt, which I paffed thro' with exceedinge Payne, (havinge never been ufed to fuch hard Garteringe) it beeinge a thousand and tenne Miles from Agra (where I was first chayned) to Suratt, where (I thanke our General) they were taken off.

THE People of the Countrye that knewe mee, (and indeede for the beste forte of them respected mee) manye of them followed mee downe the Countrye, wonderinge what I had done that they should use mee in that manner; and if they had knowne the Z Cause

Caufe to be noe otherwife then yt was, they would not not have fuffered mee to have been foe ufed; for fome of them offred me, that if I would at any tyme (when they offred me Wronge) but hould upp my Fingar, or fende the leaste Boye to them, they would deliver me from them, and (yt may bee) have cutte the Throats of them all. But knowinge myfelfe to bee foe free from deceavinge the Companye, and allfoe to regayne the Goods which Edwards had taken from mee, I came with them most willinglye, hopinge to purge myfelfe of theire Accufations. But in fyne, I was brought aboard the Shippe to our General, whoe promifed that when Edwards came downe I should have free Speeche to cleare myfelfe, which as yet I could never have. So my Accompts were audited, and I cleared, not to owe the Companye anye thinge, and foe was difpeeded for England. And at my Arrival at Lyon-Key in London, I was entertayned by fome of the Companye, with whom I went prefentlye to Sir Thomas Smyth, of whom I hoped to have Redreffe of all my Wrongs, with Reflitution of my Goods and Wages, due unto me for the Tyme of my Service, of whom, z whom, inftead of kynde Ufage, and Thankes for all my Paynes taken for him and the Companye, I receaved most ungratefull Difgrace and vilde Ufage, which I founde to growe through the false Suggestions of Mr. Edwards, who, beeinge set on Shore at Dover, was at home longe before mee.

THE fourth of October 1616, which was 4 Days before my Arrival, the Companye, by falfe and frivolous Suggestions, had procured a Writt of Ne exeat Regnum againste mee; wheruppon, (after fome Conference with Sir Thomas Smyth) I was in his owne Howfe arrefted and carried to the Compter of . London, where I remayned 36 Dayes, the Companye not allowinge one Pennye to releeve mee, nor fo much as Clothes to my Backe, but demaunded fix and thirtye thowfand Pounde Bayle of mee, which (God knowes) I was farr unable to procure. I intreated a poore Brother of myne (whoe came 100 Myles to mee) to goe to Sir Thomas and the Companye, to knowe theire Reafons for my hard Ufage, but they would give none. I wrote a Letter to Sir Thomas, defyringe I might knowe my Faltes, and Z 2 that that I might answer to anye thinge which could bee objected againste mee. I likewife fente him my particular Accomptes howe I came by my Goods; to all which, and manye more Petitions and Letters which I fente to them, (the Coppies wherof I have herafter caused to bee fett downe) I could never yet receave any Anfwere, onlye this; That I had done the Companye much Hurte, not showinge anye Particular wherin. At the End of 36 Dayes of my Imprifonment, it pleafed theire Worshipps, through much Interceffion of myfelfe and my poore Brother, (which is all the Friends I have in the World, and on whofe Charge I ftill remayne) to take his Bonde and another of my Friends in a Thowfand Poundes, that I should not goe nor fende out of the Kingdom without Licence, according to the Tenor of the Writte : Wheruppon (payinge my Charges) I was fett at Libertye, although I was in very poore and weake Effate, fcarce able to go without Helpe. But yt plefead God to fende me Frends, one whoe tooke me into his Howfe, where ever fince I have remayned, not knowinge howe to make him Satiffaction for the Trouble with mee in the Tyme \mathbf{z}

Tyme of my Sickneffe. The other was Doctor Eglisem, whoe takinge Pittye on mee, in Charitye hath cured mee of my great Malladye and Sickneffe, which grew on mee partlye through Greife which I tooke at theire ungratefull Oppreffion and Wronge, and partlye through my loathfome Imprifonment. But I hope God, whoe hath preferved mee in the greater, will likewife deliver mee from the leffe. And I hope that our greate Kinge, of whom the World rings Fame, Grace and Juffice, will not fuffer the Dove to be oppreffed with the Greatness of the Eagle.

GOOD Sir, it is no Parte of my Thought to feeke Wages of Iniquitie, but the Good of my Kinge and Countrye. And as for myfelfe, if you pleafe to ufe mee, make mee the Subject of your Honour, by any Imployment, I will achieve the befte, for I am too fure, unworthye to ferve a Multitude, unlefs I bee concluded to one Head, havinge receaved my deadly Taxes from them, which never can quicken Lief in mee agayne.
